KLAMATH PAYS TRIBUTE TO THE NATION'S DEAD

Great Crowd Joins in Parade to Cemetery And Exercises Over Graves of Departed.

Decoration Day in Klamath Falls was patriotically observed by the citizens and the members of the various military organizations of all the wars yesterday under very favorable conditions.

The procession formed on Main street under the direction of Grand Marshal O. C. Applegate and his staff and at 9:30 o'clock, the parade moved down Main street and thence out towards the cemetery. At the bridge, the ritualistic ceremonies in honor of the departed naval heroes were faithfully carried out and at the entrance to the cemetery, the column reversed and permitted the members of the G. A. R. to enter the grounds first.

Mayor Wiley addressed the assembled saying in part:

"While there is but a remnant of the Union veterans of the Civil war here assembled, the spiritual presence of those who have gone beyond, as exemplified by this little monument here erected to their memory, makes an appeal to our imagination stronger than if they were here in the flesh, because of the deathless, patriotic services they rendered unto our country. Like Brutus, who dies with the name of Caesar upon his lips, we can say: 'Veterans of the Union Army, thou art still mighty.' You were the champions of humanity, and the unrivaled of shackles upon these republican lands of ours. You taught us a new lesson of fealty to the constitution bequeathed to us by our fathers. By the side of the graves all differences have long been forgotten, and today both the North and the South join in the observance of this sad national festival Americans are brave enough and strong enough to stand by this country's true history.

"Today 105,000,000 of grateful citizens bow in reverence to the memory of their soldier dead, and consecrate anew their allegiance to our country. (A loving tribute was here made to the soldier dead of the Indian, Spanish-American and World wars.)

"It seems only yesterday we again heard the tolling of Liberty bell, when America again took arms and commenced marching, because our institutions were threatened by Germany. We do not want to go to war. We were taunted beyond endurance. When however Germany told us she would blow us up with her submarines if we crossed certain imaginary lines on the high seas, and she did torpedo American vessels with American (Continued to Page 4)

Trial Is Underway In the Circuit Court

Sutton and John Enders, the complaint of T. R. Marquart and K. N. Wood against Roy G. Patch alleged to have converted and sold an Overland car, was heard in the circuit court this forenoon.

Examination of witnesses occupied the best part of the afternoon.

The verdict is expected late today.

The next case on the docket is the case of State against Arthur Staar, charged with burglary, which will begin immediately at the conclusion of the Patch case.

BENEFIT FOR IRELAND'S NEED

Plans are under way for a big benefit entertainment to be given at the Mondale theatre Friday and Saturday evenings, with a matinee Saturday afternoon, the proceeds from which will go to the fund for the relief of sufferers in Ireland. The affair is given under the auspices of the American Association for the Recognition of the Irish Republic, a branch of which was organized here recently. In a statement issued today by H. M. Manning, president of the association, he says:

"This entertainment is going to be unusual from many points. In the first place, there will be no collection taken up or solicitation of any kind whatever. When those attending buy a ticket, their expenditure stops there. In the second place we are going to give a two dollar show for fifty cents. It will be an entertainment that those attending will enjoy from the start to the finish. There will be a picture filled with all of the traditions, love, wit and the wee bit of sorrow that leads such sweetness to the Emerald Isle and all that comes from it. In addition there will be musical program participated in by the musical artists of the city. These have gladly given their services, for out of the fullness of their hearts they are answering to the far off cry of a suffering people—our people, our flesh and blood and kin, who in this hour of need are turning with piteous appeal to the English-speaking world for that succor that I know is not to be denied them. These artists are giving their time and their talent gladly and freely. The program will be one equal to their whole-hearted generosity and the worthiness of the cause for which it is given and I promise the people of this city an entertainment that has never been surpassed and very seldom equaled in this city."

"Today 105,000,000 of grateful citizens bow in reverence to the memory of their soldier dead, and consecrate anew their allegiance to our country. (A loving tribute was here made to the soldier dead of the Indian, Spanish-American and World wars.)

MEET TONIGHT TO COMPLETE FOURTH PLANS

Tonight at 7:45 o'clock, in the Chamber of Commerce rooms, the promoters and interested citizens of this city will gather to perfect and put into operation the initial plans for the Fourth of July celebration to be held in this city.

Saturday morning, the soliciting committees selected to interview the business men and citizens for either money or merchandise were active in all parts of this city and at noon that day, stated that there were but two business men in places north of Main street, who had failed to participate in the proposition.

This morning, the committee selected to interview the merchants on the south side of Main street, began their work early and canvassed nearly all the business houses, mills and banking institutions. Just how much was secured was not made public, but it was satisfactory, according to one member of the committee.

The purpose of the meeting tonight will be to lay before the citizens the exact amount of money obtained; the merchandise and prizes to be awarded for athletic or other contests; the determination of the class of entertainment to be offered, and the question as to the preliminary organization of an association to carry on work of this nature in the future.

There is a well defined opinion among most of the promoters of this Fourth of July celebration that Klamath Falls has many natural scenic advantages which should be made known all over the country, and the many features of this section would best be exploited through the means of a rodeo which would out rival the ones at the Cheyenne, Wyoming, and Pendleton, Oregon. Should the finances be great enough at this date, the money would be spent in a way that would, in the end, result in permanent benefits. This feature will be taken up tonight for a decision.

Chairman Fred. Houston stated that he wants the committees to be present at the meeting early so that their reports can be made and the business session opened at once. Also as this celebration is not a business men's proposition, the rank and file of the citizens of this city are invited to attend and participate. Mr. Houston urges a large attendance at 7:45 o'clock sharp in the Chamber of Commerce rooms.

BUSINESS WOMEN TO MEET

Every business woman is urged to attend the special meeting of the Klamath Falls Business Women's club tonight at the Chamber of Commerce at 7:30 o'clock.

HERALD WILL COVER BIG FIGHT

Who's going to win the big fight? In restaurants and hotel lobbies, pool rooms and parlors, business offices and banks, on street cars and Pullmans, everywhere you go, this question is the topic of discussion.

We venture to say that 500 fans in Klamath Falls are keenly interested in the outcome of the Dempsey-Carpenter fight. A thousand more are interested in more or less milder degree. And every newspaper reader is interested to some extent.

Realizing this interest in the Jersey event of July 2 The Herald, through the Newspaper Enterprise Association, has arranged to cover the fight thoroughly.

Fight fans will find interesting reading from the pens and typewriters of a score of special writers—experts like Hal Cochran, Johnny Kilbane, feather-weight champion, and Max Balzhazar.

Their serious discussions will be enlivened by Bertton Braley poems, humor from the pen of Jack Raper and the feminine views of Alice Robe.

That's just a sample. Watch the sporting pages of The Herald from now until July 2 for the rest of the names and all the dope about the big battle.

NEW OIL CO. TO DRILL AT ONCE

Another oil company has completed organization and is ready to get down to active operations in the formation of the Yonna Valley Oil and Gas company, which held its organization meeting Saturday evening.

The following directors were elected: A. L. Michael, Charles Flackus, J. L. Sparrertorn, Dan Driscoll, W. S. Wiley, Thomas Patterson, Ross Sutton and R. H. Bunnell.

The officers are Ross Sutton, president; A. L. Michael, first vice president; R. H. Bunnell, second vice president; W. S. Wiley, secretary, and Charles Flackus, treasurer. The corporation is capitalized for $500,000.

The company now has under lease some 25,000 acres, extending from Sprague river to Malin, including land in Yonna Valley, Langell Valley, Meadow Lake, Swan Lake, Klamath Basin and other places. Some of the land is within two miles of Klamath Falls.

This immense territory will be gone over by an expert geologist, and upon his judgment will depend the location of the first well.

Mr. Sutton said yesterday that workmen were getting out timbers for the derrick, and that the contracts called for beginning of drilling within 60 days. The company owns a rig that has been used in boring water wells, and this will be used on the oil well, at least for the start. It is adequate to bore to a 3,000 foot depth, said Mr. Sutton.

The new company is a mutual corporation. All of the share holders are land owners and hold shares in proportion to the acreage leased to the company. All will share proportionately in the profits of the venture.

The drilling will be in charge of George Hartley, who besides a year and a half's experience in the oil fields, has had a lifetime of water well drilling experience in this county, and is familiar with local formations down to a thousand feet—a valuable asset in starting the well.

Loan and Bonus Act Is Topic for Forum

The soldier loan measure, which is to be voted upon June 7th, will be the topic of discussion at tomorrow's Chamber of Commerce forum meeting. The American Legion has been asked to furnish at least one speaker to explain the measure.

The forum is in charge of W. O. Smith, and W. W. McNealey will preside.

COLUMBIA CUTS DIKE; BIG AREA IS UNDER WATER

Half a Million Dollars Worth of Crops Destroyed by Floods; Settlers Make Escape.

WOODLAND, Wash., May 31.—Flood waters from the Columbia river, which broke through 75 feet of dike six miles north of Woodland at 7 o'clock last night, are spreading today, after flooding nearly 5,000 acres to a depth of eight to ten feet.

There was no loss of life, as warning had been given to all residents of the flooded districts to be prepared for the break.

The damage is chiefly to crops of wheat, oats and potatoes, and is estimated at from $300,000 to $500,000.

At 5 o'clock this morning the water broke through the culvert on the Northern Pacific railroad, causing a still further spread of inundation. About 100 cattle are still to be rescued. Many hundreds were driven from the flood zone.

Grant Burke, son of James Burke, pioneer rancher, narrowly escaped death, when the pump house on the dike washed away while he was within it.

The waters continued spreading throughout the morning over the lowlands north of here but high intervening ground saved the city of Woodland from danger.

Water continued to pour through the Burris Creek culvert, which had been blocked with sand bags by Woodland men last night.

The mournful lowing of the marooned cattle can be heard over the watery wastes and boats are being used to get those that are still alive away from the flooded pastures.

EXTEND TIME TO REFUND FREIGHT OVER CHARGES

Under a recent order of James James C. Davis, director general of railroads, the former order, fixing March 1st as the last date for filing claims for freight overcharges incurred under federal control of the railroads, has been set aside, and September 1, 1921, set aside as the final date.

This means an opportunity for Klamath Falls shippers to present demands for refunds aggregating thousands of dollars. When the former order was issued M. A. Callaghan, traffic manager, had just taken the local position. He unearthed many claims, but stopped that phase of his work when the time limit was set at March 1st.

Now that the time has been extended there is no doubt that local shippers will demand the refunds that are coming to them.

Claims for overcharges, made prior to March 1, 1921, may be presented, either to the carrier direct or the interstate commerce commission. If valid they will be paid by the carrier, but if dispute arises the settlement will be referred to the interstate commerce commission.
