Are the people of Burns ready to take up matters with the railroad on anything definite? Better get together with the Push Club.

The Oregon State Fair will soon be on. Those who have attended found it a wonderful educator, so to speak, when they have gone to the Fair seeking light.

Link Hutton is in the city on land business. Homestead and desert land locations. See J. C. Turney.

According to newspaper dispatches, which seem authentic, Mr. Harriman is not only afraid of J. J. Hill competing for the Central Oregon country, but the Goulds are the most formidable for he has at this particular time.

Don't be surprised if the road should start building from Vale in a very short time, as it looks like Mr. Gould is going to force the Harriman people to dig or get left.

RAILROAD ENGINEERS RETURN.

C. J. Miller, the railroad engineer in charge of one of the field crews of the Oregon & Eastern, has returned from the Cascades with 15 men and will at once begin work on Silver creek, coming this way across Sagehen.

This would indicate that the railroad people have practically decided on the Sagehen route and owing to the swampy nature of the section below this city makes the prospects for the main line of the road to come this way even brighter than before.

The following appeared in Tuesday's Oregonian together with other supreme court decision. William D. Huffman, appellant, vs. Fannie E. Huffman, respondent, Harney county, George E. Davis, Judge, reversed opinion by Justice Moore.

J. E. RAGON DEAD.

At the home of his daughter Mrs. Ada Cawfield, in North Roseburg, Aug. 12, 1906, Mr. J. E. Ragon, aged 79 years, one month and three days.

Deceased had been suffering for some time with the infirmities of advanced age. A fracture of his leg about three months ago added a complication from which he could not recover.

Mr. Ragon was a native of East Tennessee and lived for a number of years with his family in Arkansas before coming to Oregon in 1870. Since that date he resided in Roseburg most of the time, except a few years spent in Harney county.

The funeral was held from the residence at 2 p. m. Sunday, with brief services conducted by Rev. H. C. Allen. Interment followed in the Masonic cemetery, where the Masonic services were rendered.—Roseburg Review.

Sumpter Valley People Visit Canyon. David Eccles, president of the Sumpter Valley railroad, and J. A. West, chief engineer for the same road, are making a tour over Grant county this week.

Mr. Eccles' trip to Grant county at this time is for the purpose of making a thorough examination of the country with the view of extending his railroad line from its present terminus at Austin into the John Day valley.

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Cozad have returned to their home at Canyon City.

Roy Banyard and wife J. O. Banyard and Roscoe Goodlow are in the city today on land business.

Lawrence Sweek has sold 1400 yearlings for $3.25 per head. Cochran & Long and J. J. Sumas are to receive 2.75 for their lambs, which they have contracted to Geo. Coner.—Monument Enterprise.

City Marshal Thomas, Claud Brown and another young man have gone to the mountains to rusticate.

The carpenter work on the addition to the high school building has been completed and the new room will be in readiness for the opening of school Sept. 10.

The influx of people from the outside to secure government land has made some of our home people realize that land is valuable with the result that many are making entries.
