BRIEF LOCAL MATTERS.

A family from Arlington are camping here.
 George Prather returned Tuesday from a brief visit to Portland.
 Quite a number of campers from The Dalles are located on Neil creek.
 Rev. O. D. Taylor, of The Dalles, was down Tuesday and went out to the falls.
 Mr. William Herniman and wife went to Portland Sunday returning Tuesday.
 Mr. S. F. Blythe returned to Portland Monday to take his place in the World office again.
 Mr. Fowler has moved his family here from The Dalles and will remain and abide with us.

We are informed that Newell & Willis will soon make a daily out of the World and will take full dispatches.

C. R. Bone has a nice cottage containing four rooms for rent. A good well of excellent water on the premises.

A. W. Pealer this week sold an 80-acre tract, pretty well back in the hills, to A. B. Jones, of Montana, for $600.

Hon. E. L. Smith is visiting the A. O. U. W. lodges of Eastern Oregon, he being the Grand Master Workman.

Joe Wilson was up at Lages yesterday laying off a cemetery. It is on Virgil Winchel's place near Pine Grove school-house.

Mr. W. R. Winans will commence the erection of a two-story hotel at the forks of the river at once. The sight is a delightful one.

During the week Mr. R. Rand sold twenty acres of land situated about a mile and a half from town to a lady from East Portland, for the sum of $600.

Mr. L. D. Potter who has been at Heppner putting up a handsome residence for Mr. Frank McFarland, completed the work and arrived home last Saturday.

Lyman Smith has twelve acres of wheat which will average from forty to fifty bushels to the acre, and there are thousands of acres of just such land as produces it.

Mr. Saulsby is cutting his wheat and left with us a bundle which is an average of the field. The heads are well filled out and the stalks will average five feet in length.

There will be a basket sociable at Lages school house tonight. No doubt a large crowd will be present, and that they will have a good time is a foregone conclusion.

Bridge 117 about a mile and a half below town caught fire Wednesday night and burned enough to delay the east bound passenger from midnight until 6 o'clock in the morning.

Mr. Frick and wife of Arlington have been enjoying the cool breezes of the Columbia canyon at Bonneville for a week or so. They passed through here on their way home Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Prune, of Red Bluff, California, arrived here last Saturday and are visiting D. G. Hill, Mrs. Prune's brother-in-law. They will probably locate here permanently.

The Cascade ball club sent our club a challenge Tuesday, to play a game at that point tomorrow for $35. Our boys are blooded enough, but do not care to play for money especially on Sunday.

Jack McLaren, one of the drivers for the stage company, saw two fine deer in the road while on his way in Wednesday, one of them about half a mile this side of the hotel and the other farther down the river.

Captain J. H. Dukes has a field of 7 acres of wheat about six miles south of town which the most conservative estimates place at forty bushels to the acre, and it will probably thresh fifty. The grain is grown on the uplands the ground being such as most of the valley consists of.

W. R. Winans has let a contract to the Winans brothers for the erection of a fine two story hotel at Union Falls, ten miles south of here. The location is a splendid one, being in the center of the best fishing grounds. Fifteen mechanics will be put to work, and it is expected the building will be completed by July 10th.

Chris Dethman sold forty acres of nice land to Mr. Cox, of Kansas, last week. We did not learn the price.

There was a big fire in the mountains a few miles east of Mosier Wednesday afternoon. It started from a spark from an engine.

W. R. Winans and others are building a bridge across the canyon a mile and a half this side of Union falls. It is badly needed and will be properly appreciated.

Mr. J. H. Middleton and wife went to Salem, last Sunday, on business and pleasure bent. Some of the pleasure consisted in walking up from bridge 117 at midnight, Wednesday, that bridge, as usual, being on fire and delaying the train.

Mr. T. H. Button and A. J. and J. B. Rand were at Vancouver last week returning Saturday. The two former left Thursday morning for Lost lake and the west branch of Hood river to make further and more careful examination of timber lands.

A. Disbrow, George Crow and A. B. Jones of Montana started yesterday for Mt. Hood. From the glaciers they will go around the mountain to the Sandy, and down the stream on a prospecting trip for a week or more, and will return by the way of Lost lake.

Some time ago Ray & Rahn, who are engaged in fishing caught a seal, which soon became a great pet, following their boat wherever they went. Last Saturday they came here and the seal started with them but failed to show up, either getting lost or finding a mate on the trip.

Mrs. Anna Morton died at Portland Saturday the 15th inst. The body was brought here for interment last Sunday, and the funeral took place at the A. O. U. W. cemetery. Mrs. Morton was the wife of J. W. Morton, and daughter of Mrs. C. H. Hanes. The funeral was largely attended.

Mr. A. H. Tieman informs us that there will be a picnic on the 4th at the Stage Co.'s bridge. The drive from here is a beautiful one, just long enough to make it enjoyable and short enough to prevent one getting tired. An invitation is extended to everybody, and a pleasant time is assured.

The reason that the band did not meet the Cascade club at the train last Sunday, was that the body of Mrs. Anna Morton came up on the same train for burial at this place. The band, under the circumstances, know that their visitors, being made known of this fact, will have no other fault to find.

We are informed that the O. R. & N. employes at The Dalles have chartered the steamer Baker and will hold a basket picnic here July 4th. They will bring brass and ring bands with them and dancing will be one of the features of the occasion. We are unable to learn any of the particulars but will give them next week.

Joe Wilson was up at the Glacier hotel this week for the purpose of determining the fall in the line from the springs to the hotel. In the morning he discovered deer tracks around the building, the inquisitive animal perhaps taking notice as to when it was time to leave to avoid grazing the hotel larder. A brood of young grouse camped the same night in the shelter of the building.

Work on the Glacier hotel is being pushed as rapidly as possible. The logs are all in place and every available team is engaged in hauling lumber from Tucker's mill, and shingles and brick from here. If the building is not completed by July 1st it will be very nearly so, and it is thought the hotel will be furnished and ready to receive guests by the 10th at the very latest. The masons are at work on the chimneys and the roof is being put on as fast as the shingles arrive.

James Turner, one of the drivers for the Mt. Hood Stage Co., came down from the glaciers Friday. About six miles this side of the hotel, his horse shied and refused to go further. Turner urged him with whip and spur but it was no use. In trying to discover the cause of this seemingly obstreperous conduct, he found that the horse's action was justifiable, as a few yards in front of him hidden by some bushes, a big cinnamon bear was gnawing on his haunches gnawing a bone. The bear refused to move, paying no attention to Turner's yells, and he finally rode out through the brush, and came on to town leaving the big brown rascal in possession of the road.

C. Fritz and E. Scarstedt, of McMinnville, and E. Crosby, of Forest Grove, made a trip to the glaciers, Lost Lake and the country around the head of the Sandy last week, under the guidance of John Diver. They went out fully prepared for the trip and fared pretty badly. Their provisions gave out and they had nothing to eat for two days but a photograph of a cow, and their sleeping department consisted of the clothes they were helped out with the saddle blankets and their handkerchiefs. They went out for the purpose of getting photographic views, and claim to have some very fine ones, among them a view of Mt. Hood and its reflection in Lost lake. One of the gentlemen remarked to us, that it would be a long time before views are taken from the same points as many of theirs, because no one would intentionally go where they did.

The Baseball Game.

Last Sunday the Cascade base-ball club came up for a friendly contest on the diamond with the Hood River boys. After a spirited contest the Cascades had to lay down the bat and yield the victory to the Hood River club.

On the arrival of the Cascade nine the brass band which was to have met them was made conspicuous by its absence. The Hood River boys did not meet the Cascaders at the train as they should have done to give the strangers a hearty welcome. On the field there was too much wrangling and the boys must learn to play ball, leaving all disputes to the umpire and their captains. The Cascaders were in a measure handicapped by their catcher having to leave, also by the retirement of their right fielder. The batters of both nines were good and did good work.

Hood River's 1st base and center fielders did noble work. The 1st baseman of the Cascades plays the position well. The fielding of both nines need practice, which we presume in time will be perfected. Take it all together the Cascade nine are the best players, and some very costly errors lost the game for them, and we promise you the Hood River boys will have to look well to their laurels and practice hard if they intend to win the next time.

The scorers were very poor indeed, hardly worth mentioning. The umpire, although making some mistakes, did fairly well. The infallible umpire has not yet been born. It was a good game and well played.

The Wasco Taken Over.

The steamer Wasco was taken over the Cascades Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Captains Troupe and Coe made quite a thorough examination of the rapids before they started with her, as the water is very low. She went over all right, however, the only damage received being the lifting of her forward guards. She made the run to the Lower Cascades in twelve minutes. The following is a list of the crew and others who went over on her. Captains Troupe and Coe, S. D. Fisher, first mate; L. Clarke, second mate; Chas. Coats, engineer; Cash Luckey, fireman; Geo. Crowell, L. N. Blowers, J. E. Rand, Henry Luckey, George Mathias, Wm. Cooper, F. Daily and C. R. Bone. The Wasco was taken direct to Portland and was inspected. She will be taken to the Sound.

She Knew Him.

Editor GLACIER:
 In your first number I noticed some sayings you published of a bright little 4-year-old. Here's another one by the 4-year-old in our house:
 I was trying to teach her some questions out of the Bible one day, and, among other things, told her Adam was the first man. She had not shown much interest until then, when she looked up quickly and said "Adams, Dr. Adams, Oh yes, I know him! Did God make him first?"

Pickled Trees.

One of our old residents who is a strong believer in the efficacy of salt in the culinary department, considered it equally valuable when applied to arboriculture, consequently he irrigated several fine cherry and shade trees with a barrel of ancient beef brine. The result can hardly be regarded as a brilliant success in benefitting the trees, but they will make an excellent article of stove wood. Van philosophically remarked, "I have learned that now."
