

THE PERPETUAL WAR

There is always a fight going on in every human body between health and disease. On one side are poor food, bad air, over-work, worry, colds, accidents. On the other are sunshine, rest, cheerfulness and nourishment.

The reason Scott's Emulsion fights so powerfully for health is because it gives so much more nourishment than you can get in any other way. Get in the sunlight and try Scott's Emulsion.

PILES

I have suffered with piles for thirty-six years. One year ago last April I began taking Cascarets for constipation. In the course of a week I noticed the piles began to disappear and at the end of six weeks they did not trouble me at all. Cascarets are doing wonders for me. I am entirely cured and feel like a new man. George Kroyer, Napoleon, O.

"Bummer," the Mascot of Company D.

"Bummer," the mastiff dog belonging to T. T. Nelson, and the mascot of Company D, during its service in the Philippines, is dead. "Bummer" was one of the most noted dogs in the west, having captured six successive prizes from the Portland Kennel Club, as the leader in his class of dogs.

He was born in Walla Walla on March 17, 1885, and has been the property of Mr. Nelson all his life.

When Company D left Oregon for the Philippines, "Bummer" was sent with the Pendleton members of the company to be its mascot, and he made the entire trip, served through the different expeditions in the islands and returned home without a scratch. Second Lieutenant George A. Hartman, Jr., of the Second Oregon Volunteer Infantry, gave "Bummer" an honorable discharge on the return of the company to the Presidio after the war. The discharge also bears the signature of Colonel Owen Sumner, of the Second Oregon, and some of the notations are as follows:

Description: Two and a half feet in height, yellow eyes and hair, and by occupation an adventurer.

Wounds received in battle—The trumpet always wounded his feelings! Distinguished service—Always barked at the reveille.

Remarks—Absent without leave in San Francisco from May 13 to May 16, 1898. Absent without leave in Manila, P. I., from November 10 to December 21.

ROOSEVELT AT FAIR

IS DEEPLY IMPRESSED WITH ITS MAGNITUDE.

Takes in All the Principal Features in Rotation and According to a Program—President is Escorted by Cavalry for a Portion of the Time—Will Observe Sunday With the Other Members of His Party Accompanied by President Francis.

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 24.—For the second time within a little over a year the Mound City is entertaining the chief executive of the nation. President Roosevelt and his party arrived in the city early this morning over the Pennsylvania railroad, the special car in which they came being run directly into the exposition grounds.

President Roosevelt was profoundly impressed with the magnitude of the demonstration. He said as much in words and more in actions, for he made no effort to conceal his pleasure.

From the time the special bearing the distinguished guest was side-tracked close by the transportation building, until the presidential party left the exposition grounds late this afternoon, Mr. Roosevelt received a continual ovation.

President Francis and other representatives of the exposition were on hand to welcome the president as soon as the party had finished breakfast.

After greetings had been exchanged the distinguished visitors were taken in tow and a tour of the exposition grounds begun. The morning was devoted to a tour of the exhibit palaces of the northern tier, beginning with the transportation building and winding up at the government building, where special arrangements had been made for the reception of the president, in which federal troops participated. Luncheon was served at 1 o'clock in the west pavilion. After luncheon the buildings on the south tier were visited, including mines and metallurgy, education, electricity and machinery. An hour was spent on the plateau of states and the president also found time to visit the Stadium, where a football game was in progress between Haskell Indians and the team from the Carlisle Indian school.

During the greater part of the day the president was escorted about the grounds by a squad of cavalry. But all idea of keeping the delighted people at a distance was abandoned before the presidential party had gone far on their tour of inspection, and as the party proceeded along the various avenues and walks of the fair grounds the acclaiming multitude overran the lawns and good-naturedly elbowed for room in which to raise and wave flags and other emblems of a national nature.

The president will remain in St. Louis over Sunday, but at his request no program of any sort has been arranged for that day, as he desires to be permitted to rest. He will probably attend church in the morning with the members of his party. President Francis of the exposition, and Treasurer William H. Thompson, who is the president's host, will probably accompany him.

LIVESTOCK IN BRITAIN.

Sheep Continue to Decline in Numbers—Dairy Stock Increases.

The preliminary return circulated by the board of agriculture recorded that the number of horses in the United Kingdom in the year 1904 was 8000 in excess of the previous highest total in 1896, says the London Livestock Journal.

In the memorandum at the commencement of the newly issued and fuller agricultural returns, it is remarked that, compared with the previous year, the total shows an increase of 22,062, or 1.5 per cent, distributed over practically all counties, the increase being most noticeable among horses under 1 year old.

Cattle have increased by 152,734 during the year, representing 2.3 per cent. This is the largest increase in any year except 1892, but it is almost confined to England and Wales, all but six of the Scotch counties showing a decline in numbers. The principal increase is noticed in the counties of Kent, Devon, Sussex and Lincoln, in the order named. Norfolk, on the other hand, is 10,892 short of the previous year's total. Cows and heifers in calf and in milk amount to 2,678,689, or 98,742 more than in 1903, a number never before equaled. Sheep have continued to decline in numbers, the diminution amounting to 422,619 head, or 1.7 per cent of the total in 1903. Ewes kept for breeding have remained practically stationary, the increase south of the Tweed being almost counterbalanced by the decrease in Scotland. The chief increase is in Kent, where the number of ewes during 1904 amounts to half the total number. Pigs have increased by 375,082, or 6.5 per cent, which is attributed in several counties to the reduction in the outbreaks of swine fever.

Medical and sanitary experts and authorities resident in Cuba, declare there is not a case of yellow fever on the island.

MAIL CLERKS BONDED.

After December 1 Railway Clerks Must Give Bond of $1000.

An order has been issued by the postoffice department at Washington, which requires that all postal clerks in the railway mail service shall furnish bonds for the faithful performance of their duties. All clerks, it is stated, will be required to give either personal or corporate surety bonds in the sum of $1000 each before December 1.

The order says that "between such corporate surety companies as are qualified to act, the clerks may exercise their choice freely, the department recommending none over others." The corporate companies have submitted rates which range from 40 cents per annum to $2 per $1,000. Clerks have their choice of 14 corporate insurance companies.
