MICHIGAN AND HARVARD BATTLE EAGERLY AWAITED

Game Scheduled for Next Saturday Promises to be Replete With Surprises—Four Teams Undefeated.

The eyes of the football world will be turned toward the Harvard stadium at Cambridge this week. Next Saturday in that football arena the biggest intercollegiate gridiron battle of the year will be staged between the warriors wearing the crimson and fielding Yost's erratic Michiganans.

It has been supposed that by this time some definite line could be had on the relative strength of the Harvard and Michigan teams. But owing to injuries, which necessitated many substitutions, there is really no move to go on in trying to prophesy the result than there was at the beginning of the football season.

Michigan's defeat at the hands of Syracuse would indicate on its face that the Wolverines were weaker than usual. Yet it must be remembered that Huggitt, Yost's quarterback and most dependable player, was not in the game, and that in the third period, when the only punter of merit on the team had to retire, it was this which practically cost Yost the game, after the score had stood at 0-6 until the last period.

In the same way one might suppose that the Harvard team was far less schooled in football than her early games indicated. The Crimson was saved from defeat at the hands of Hollenback's Penn State eleven by the dropping of a punt, followed by an exceptionally clever 40-yard run. But here again there were many enforced substitutions. Brickley, Pennek, Hardwick, Mahan and Logan were not in the game. Neither of the first two mentioned was in the Michigan game, but more injuries followed, Mahan, Logan and Hardwick will be in the line-up next Saturday.

Harvard might have been beaten by Penn State, and still have been materially no weaker than she is today. Lamb, the star kicker of the Blue eleven, missed one field goal on Saturday by the narrowest possible margin. The ball struck the cross-bar. Had he put a little more power behind his kick, it would have cleared the bar and the Crimson would have suffered defeat, and her stock would have gone down far more than it has or should have done.

FOUR TEAMS UNBEATEN In this section four of the leading elevens are still unbeaten. They are Princeton, Harvard, Pittsburgh and the Army. Of these, three have won all of their games, Harvard having been tied by Penn State on Saturday, 13-13. Just how well Pittsburgh, Princeton and the Army have come through some hard battles is shown by the appended record to date:

- Princeton, 12; Rutgers, 0. Princeton, 10; Bucknell, 0. Princeton, 12; Syracuse, 7. Princeton, 16; Lafayette, 0. Princeton, 21; Georgetown, 12. Total: Princeton, 61; opponents, 12. Pittsburgh, 9; Cornell, 0. Pittsburgh, 21; Westminster, 10. Pittsburgh, 15; Navy, 0. Pittsburgh, 10; Johns, 3. Pittsburgh, 21; Georgetown, 0. Total: Pittsburgh, 74; opponents, 22. Army, 49; Stevens, 0. Army, 21; Colgate, 7. Army, 14; Holy Cross, 0. Total: Army, 97; opponents, 7.

Of these three, the Army has had a much easier time, because the teams she has played have not been as strong as the ones which have been defeated by Princeton, Pittsburgh and, in fact, outside of the Colgate game, the Army has had no opponents really worthy of the name. On the other hand Princeton's games with Bucknell, Syracuse, Lafayette and Dartmouth have been exceedingly hard affairs, as each of those teams has shown much offensive and defensive strength.

Pittsburgh's victories over the Navy, Indiana and Cornell prove conclusively that she is a power to be reckoned with in the pan. It is true that Pittsburgh has been scored on four of her five games, but only twice has her goal line been crossed.

Princeton's victory over Dartmouth was not unexpected, yet it would not have been a surprise to have seen the Blue Green team leave Palmer stadium with the Orange and Black's scalp. As it was, Princeton won the game through her ability to take advantage of her opponents' errors, rather than through her own ability on offense. To run up 16 points on a team which has the strength of the Dartmouth eleven shows ability somewhere along the line. Princeton has always been quite to seize an offered opportunity, as those who remember Sam White can testify. Hence, while her victory was well deserved, Princeton did not show up as well as the score would indicate. Dartmouth's faulty work assisting more than anything else.

Though Princeton has won a large majority of the games played against Dartmouth in the past, many times she has been very fortunate. For instance in 1911, the Tigers came away with a 3-0 victory. Those points were made on a fluke field goal, the ball striking the ground before bounding over the cross-bar. It was that play which caused the change in coaching, bringing a reputation of that undesired goal.

YALE LOSES HOPE Yale has lost hope of a perfect season, though she has by no means ceased to believe that her chances against Princeton and Harvard are good. When the Blue put up such a great battle against Notre Dame a week ago last Saturday, winning from the Westerners 23 to 4 it was generally believed that she would at least have a clean state when she met Princeton, November 14. But the "dope" was upset completely when Washington and Jefferson, coached by Bob Fotsell, lowered the colors of the New Haven boys.

In that contest, which Yale lost 13 to 7, both teams played the "red" stars. The result did not show the Yale men up to great disadvantage by any means. On the contrary, the splendid performance of W & J, indicated to Yale followers that there will probably not be another game this season in which the opposing eleven will show such varied attack, combined with such a powerful defense.

W & J, has been beaten but once this year. Harvard got a 1-0 decision over her on October 10. The record of Fotsell's team for the season shows that his men have scored 181 points to their opponents' 17.

The Cornell-Brown game was played true to form by both elevens. It has been the belief for some time that Brown was weak on the defense. There was no way to get a good idea of her strength, because until Saturday no opponent with a strong offense had been met.

At Sharp's men have developed a splendid attack, but they did not have to resort to any new football to get through the Brown defense.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 26.—No slake-up at Yale will follow the defeat of the eleven by Washington and Jefferson. Yale's overthrow is felt to have been at the hands of one of the strongest elevens in America, and the general feeling is that Washington and Jefferson clearly outplayed the home team.

Yale's ends have not played up to the standard and the tackle positions are unsettled. The coaches expect to rely upon Nick Carter and "Red" Brann for end rush work the remainder of the season, and believe that Higginbotham and "White" Wilson are capable of much better form than they have shown.

E. TRENKMANN HURT PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 26.—With one exception, the Princeton varsity came through the contest Saturday with practically no men on the injured list in spite of the grueling nature of the battle. "Eddie" Trenkmann, the big right guard, was this one exception. He sprained his instep badly and will be out of the game for a few days.

BROTHERS COACH OPPONENTS SELIN'S GROVE, Pa., Oct. 26.—Susquehanna football players are being making excuses for the decisive defeat at the hands of Bucknell at Lewisburg, and are loud in their praise of Bucknell's almost perfect teamwork and conduct on the field.

CRIMBIE DISAPPOINTED CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 26.—Although greatly disappointed in the work of the men against Penn State, the Harvard coaches found some consolation in the fact that some of the new men were injured. All hands came out of the game in good shape, with the exception of End Rush Soucy, and he, while he has a very bad knee, is not likely to be laid up, according to the coaches.

SHARPE TO BOLSTER DEFENSE ITHACA, N. Y., Oct. 26.—While the Cornell football team, which returned from New York, was warmly congratulated over its victory over Brown, the coaches found food for thought in their deliberations over the success of Brown with the forward pass in the last period of the game, and it is certain that considerable attention will be paid this week toward perfecting a better defense.

WHEN A FELLER NEEDS A FRIEND

WOMEN'S NATIONAL GOLF TOURNAMENT SLATED FOR WEST

St. Louis Country Club Will Probably Be Selected. National Amateur May Go to Pacific Coast.

Although the national open championship will probably be held in the East next year, it is almost a foregone conclusion that both the national amateur and the women's national will be held in the Central West. The chances are that St. Louis will be the scene of the women's event, for the Country Club of St. Louis was mentioned at the recent tournament held at Nassau and, according to reports, was considered favorably by the Eastern women. There has been some talk of holding the national amateur on the Pacific coast next summer, and, without a doubt, golf in that section would receive a tremendous boost if the classic should be held there.

Golf on the Pacific coast has advanced by leaps and bounds in the last few years. Not so very long ago practically the only courses in California were the ones owned by the resort hotel proprietors. At present there are two very good courses within half an hour of Market street in San Francisco. The course of the Presidio Golf Club occupies Government land adjacent to the Presidio of San Francisco, which is one of the largest military reservations in the country. There are several good courses in Oakland, just across the bay from San Francisco, the best of them being the Claremont course and the new one of the Sequoia Country Club. Further south the landscape is dotted with attractive clubhouses and pits and bunkers.

Overheard after a hotel tournament: "Had you make out George?" "Oh, not so bad," was the naive reply. "I was beaten in the semi-final round of the beaten four of the defeated eight of the thirteen."

In Chicago the various clubs held a tournament not very long ago for the caddies, and that day the boys were lords of all they could survey. They didn't survey very much, but certainly did get away with the cats. More of this sort of thing would be a wonderful good for the game, and the relation between caddy and player would not be an employer to hired, but would take on a man and boy status.

The Redan hole on the National Golf Links is an almost exact duplicate of the Redan on the North Berwick course. There are more ways of playing the Redan hole than any other short hole in existence. Under ordinary conditions an iron shot dead on the pin will hold the green, and assist a head wind a full-drive shot from a high tee will do the trick; but let there be the slightest trace of a pull or slice, and instead of the regular three-tee is likely to get seventh hole under double figures. The seventh hole at Merion is a Redan hole, although it differs from the North Berwick hole in that the entrance to the green is from the left. A beautiful short hole with the Redan principle will be found at the new Pine Valley course, but there the tee is higher than the hole.
