A BILL AND IT'S HISTORY.

Citizen Co. Dr.
Miss Doe,
To R. R. fare to New York and return	$5.75
" 3 days Hotel Bill	4.50
" 3 days Meals	3.25
" Car fare, etc.	.80
	$14.30

The Citizen, in discussing with a few friends the advantage of buying most things at home, took the ground that many people bought goods in New York city, paying more than the same goods could be bought for at home stores, and that if buyers would visit stores in their own towns, and ascertain what was for sale and at what prices, they would save money, and be as well if not better suited. To back up our belief we agreed to pay car fare and expenses (not to exceed $20) to New York city to an intelligent buyer, who would visit a few of the stores in Honesdale, examine goods carefully, obtain prices, and then honestly and fairly make the same examinations in a few stores in New York city. We named Wanamaker's, Simpson & Crawford and Altman's. It was agreed that the goods selected in Honesdale were to be suitable in style for any lady of ordinary means, and the comparison was to be made in New York on goods of like quality. The lady selected was strongly prejudiced in favor of New York goods. Her experience was a revelation, for she found that what would cost her $35 in Honesdale could not be duplicated in New York city for less than $38, which, added to the above bill made the New York purchase amount to $52.30. Moral. It pays to visit your home stores, see what they have, and almost invariably you can save money. This rule will apply to every department of trade.
