

THE CAMBRIA FREEMAN. THURSDAY, JUNE 13, 1867.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL.

COURT PROCEEDINGS.—We are indebted to our young friend J. C. Easley, Esq., for the following abstract of the principal business disposed of in the Court of Quarter Sessions last week:

Com'th vs. James E. Laverty.—Fornication and bastardy. Eliza Ann Baker, prosecutor. Continued till next term.

Com'th vs. John Ouders.—Larceny. Def't pleads guilty.

Com'th vs. Hiram Hayes.—Rape. This case came up on the 4th inst., a young lady who taught school and boarded at the house of the defendant in Richland township, during last winter, being the prosecutor. The importance of the case, the severity of the penalty, and the standing and character of defendant, combined to render the case one of more than usual interest, and called forth the best efforts of the able counsel on both sides—Messrs. Johnston and Pershing for the defendant, and District Attorney Barnes and Kephin for the Commonwealth. The case was ably tried and argued, and the jury, after a protracted absence of twenty-four hours, returned to the box with a verdict of not guilty.

Com'th vs. John M. Steel.—Larceny. Not guilty.

Com'th vs. Fergus A. Cannon.—Larceny. Not guilty.

Com'th vs. Eli Tarkett, James Burk, John Dwyer, James Shortbill, Wm. Snay and Cornelius Omm.—Fornication. Defendants found guilty in manner and form as indicated.

Com'th vs. Isaac W. Plummer, George D. Pringle, Henry Allenbaugh and Andrew Cullen.—Fornication. Not guilty.

Terence Delozier and wife vs. Silas Byrne and G. W. Lloyd.—Civil suit on note for $536. Jury find for plaintiffs against Silas Byrne but not against G. W. Lloyd.

DEATH OF ADJUTANT LITZINGER.—We are pained to hear of the death of Adj. Thomas D. Litzinger, which occurred at Tyrone on Sunday last. Mr. Litzinger was the eldest son by the second marriage of the late Charles Litzinger of Ebensburg. At the commencement of the rebellion young Litzinger, though but a boy, joined the Cambria Guards, afterwards known as Company A., 11th Penna. Reserves, in the capacity of drummer. In 1862 he voluntarily left the post of safety in the drummer corps and sought that of danger in the ranks; he was captured at Gaines' Mills and remained a prisoner three months. In January, 1863, he was made Sergeant Major, and in September, 1863, when Col. McCoy attained to his position as Major, young Litzinger was appointed Adjutant of the regiment. He remained in the service until the completion of his term, when he was honorably discharged. He was in every battle in which the gallant Reserves participated, excepting those occurring during his imprisonment, and bore the reputation of a brave and faithful soldier. His remains were brought to this place on Tuesday and interred in St. Patrick's Cemetery. May he rest in peace.

LIVELY TIMES.—The present week has so far been quite a lively one in our town, and promises still more of an exciting character. On Monday the show attracted a large concourse of people from the surrounding country, to say nothing of those drawn here by the Court now in session, and this (Thursday) afternoon we have the promise of a match game of base ball between the first and second teams of the Cambria Club of Ebensburg and the first nine of the Mountaineer Club of this place, on the grounds of the latter, and on Saturday a similar contest will take place between the first nine of the Mountaineer Club of Altoona and the first nine of the Club here. Who says that Ebensburg is a one horse town?

NORTONS.—According to our notion the greatest variety of notions that can be conceived of are just now comprised in the fine assortment of notions at the cheap clock, watch, jewelry and notion emporium of C. T. Roberts, on High street. If you have a notion to please yourself, wife, sweetheart, or little ones, there is the place to buy the very article to do it with. Call and see.

EBENSBERG CANNOT OF COURSE, lay claim to being the business, as it is the legal, centre of the county, but the way Jim Thompson is dealing out goods of every description is evidence sufficient, at least, that people here know where to get the best return for their money. Jim has just received an immense and beautiful assortment of new goods, and no one should fail to see them.

THE BABY ELEPHANT wasn't a "big thing" by any means, but the large and handsome invoice of new summer goods which Mills & Davis have just received at their store on High street is well worthy of that appellation. M. & D. sell cheap, and that accounts for the frequent additions they are compelled to make to their stock. Go and see what they have.

FIRE AT SUMMERHILL.—An unoccupied house and stable belonging to Mr. Samuel S. Paul, of Summerhill, this county, was destroyed by fire on Thursday night last. The fire is thought to have been the work of an incendiary, and the loss is estimated at about $500.

PROMOTE.—Col. R. A. McCoy has been promoted to the position of Chief Clerk in the Land Office at Harrisburg, made vacant by the death of T. K. Babcock, Esq.

LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.

JOHNSTOWN, JUNE 10, 1867.

Dear Freeman.—A horrible occurrence transpired here on Thursday last, resulting in the instant and violent death of a young man named Leopold Geiser. The full particulars of this heart-rending affair are as follows: Geiser and a man named John Brimmer were employed at the rolling mill in cutting old and imperfect rails into suitable lengths for puddling and re-rolling, at a machine known as "old shears." This machine is propelled by a small engine to which is attached a fly-wheel of about 10 feet in diameter, and is situated in the lower part of the right wing of the old mill. The wheel of which I have spoken is partly outside of the mill, and that portion of it is covered by a shed roof. Under this roof and close to this wheel the parties mentioned were standing on Thursday morning last, and, as several fellow workmen in their immediate vicinity afterwards testified, high words were passing between them, but as they were engaged in teasing and playing tricks upon each other the bystanders did not pay particular attention to them until they were horrified to see Brimmer push Geiser violently towards the fly-wheel, and in an instant of time he appeared on the opposite side of the wheel with his head almost severed from his body. It was a horrible but instantaneous death, as in falling his head projected through one of the arms of the wheel, and dragging him down through an aperture scarcely large enough for a man's body, he was cast up over the foundation upon which its axis turns, and thrown a distance of several feet into the mill proper. The body was conveyed to the residence of his cousin, in Conemaugh borough, a Coroner's inquest summoned, and after a patient investigation of the facts, including the sworn depositions of a number of witnesses, a verdict was given to the effect, that Leopold Geiser came to his death in the manner and by the means of John Brimmer as the instigator thereof. Upon the verdict of the Coroner's jury Brimmer was sent up on Friday to answer for the premeditated killing of Geiser. Leopold Geiser was only 19 years of age at the time of his sudden and tragic death, and had always borne an excellent character. John Brimmer, whether the innocent or premeditated cause of the victim's sudden and awful end it is not my province to say, is I understand, a native of France, and had been employed but a short time at the work spoken of. He is dark and swarthy in appearance, and has a bad countenance, and is apparently about 38 years of age. After pushing Geiser into the wheel he went to his dinner bucket, and ate his dinner as composedly as if nothing extraordinary had transpired. Quite a difference of opinion exists as to whether the act was a premeditated one, but it would be of course injudicious in your correspondent to make any comments at the present time.

A terrible accident occurred just below the depot on Saturday evening, by which a son of Mr. Hugh Williams of Millville, only four years of age, lost one of his limbs. The unfortunate little fellow had clambered up the steep embankment at the point indicated, and had caught hold of the strap of one of the cars of a freight train which had backed in on the siding to allow the accommodation to pass. After the passenger train had left the station the engineer of the freight train whistled to back out to the main track, and it is supposed the sudden jerk threw little Williams over his leg, crushing it from the foot to the knee. On the discovery of the accident the boy was carried to the house of his parents, several surgeons summoned, and it was found necessary to amputate the crushed limb just below the hip. It is doubtful whether young Williams, owing to his extreme youth, can recover, but this terrible accident should prove a sad warning to a certain class of boys who frequent the depot and amuse themselves by jumping on and off passing trains.

The body of Anthony Campbell, who so mysteriously disappeared early last fall, was recovered below Bolivar on Saturday last, and brought to town and interred by his friends the same night. It will be remembered that on the night of a pay-day, I think in September last, Campbell started from his house on Prospect Hill, taking with him about one hundred dollars to make a payment on his property. That was the last seen of him, and although a constant search has instituted for several weeks no clue to his disappearance could be found. The search was at length given up, and the impression prevailed that some person had murdered him for his money and had probably thrown his body into the river, which was much swollen at the time. His remains were identified by a peculiar belt he had worn, and by his clothing, and the absence of any trace of money would seem to justify the suspicions of his friends that he had been fully dealt with.

Two men who have passed the meridian of life, one of them indeed over 60 years of age, were, on Saturday last, arrested for pulling goods of various kinds from a store on Canal street. They will have a hearing to-day. One solitary drunk was confined from Saturday night until this morning in the beds oven.

About fifty members of the St. Joseph's (Catholic) Beneficial Society of this place left for Pittsburgh on Saturday, to take part in a convention of all the societies of this kind in the United States, for the purpose of perfecting a union of the various organizations, which is at present only partially the case. It will doubtless be one of the largest representations ever convened in the Iron city.

I have at various times briefly adverted to public improvements in our town, and with a feeling I hope of commendable pride will now give your readers a general summary of buildings which are of permanent utility and benefit to the citizens of the place, and which at the same time will prove to a reflecting observer that the purses of our people are never closed to the appeals of religion, education or public safety. In the first place our town can boast of four of the handsomest church edifices in this section of the country. I allude to the large and ornate structures recently built by the Lutherans, Presbyterians, Catholics and Methodists—the latter not yet completed. These churches will seat in the aggregate 5000 persons, and the total cost will reach $150,000. Add to this the contemplated new U. S. church, for which plans and specifications have been made, which it is calculated will seat 1000 persons and cost about $15,000. So much for houses of public religious worship. In the matter of schools we have the new Millville school house, which is just about completed at a cost of $10,000, and the school house for the town proper, at the intersection of Franklin and Washington streets, which is to be erected at a cost of $12,000, and for which the frames, doors, etc., have been made. All these structures are of brick. Next comes the neat and tasty houses put up as an engine room at an expenditure of about $2,000, and the complete fire apparatus costing $9,000; and in the way of improvements already made or in progress we foot up the snug sum of nearly $200,000. In private improvements probably a larger amount has been expended within the past year—the mammoth store room of Wood, Morrell & Co. alone costing over $80,000. Were I to notice each of the latter in extent it would make rather too voluminous an epistle for the patience of your readers, and maybe my own sunny temperament would become clouded in the effort to complete the requisite statistics.

The schools of Conemaugh borough opened on Monday last, with Messrs. Chapman and Maloy, and Misses Griffin and Uster, as teachers for the ensuing term.

The Turnverein German Association give a picnic at Von Loewer's grove to-day, and from preparations made it will doubtless be a grand affair.

Mr. Joseph Parks, formerly of Conemaugh borough, for some time Supt. of locomotives and machinery at Pittsburgh, but latterly road master of the Western Division of the P. R. R., was last week presented with a valuable gold watch and chain by his former fellow employees as a token of their appreciation of his many excellent qualities. I have known "Joe" since boyhood, and can bear testimony to his manly worth and noble traits, and am happy to hear that an old school-mate has been thus highly honored. My success always attend him.

I have several additional items, but as I am aware you are crowded for space I will forbear for the present. SKU BAL.

ALTOONA, JUNE 10, 1867.

Friend Mac—Enclosed please find $2, for which send that spicy sheet, the Cambria Freeman, to a sound Democrat, Augustine Froge, Esq.

Quite an exciting contest is going on here just now as to whether or not we shall have a 4th of July celebration—that is, whether we will properly observe the day that made our daddies free. The trouble is this, as near as I can ascertain: Some months ago a number of the leading citizens of Altoona and vicinity conceived the idea of raising means to erect a fitting monument to commemorate the names and fame of the soldiers from this neighborhood who had sacrificed their lives during the late rebellion. In order to obtain the requisite funds it was concluded to hold a Fair under the immediate supervision of the ladies, which Fair was duly held and proved a great success. One of the leading spirits in this patriotic enterprise was our energetic fellow-citizen, Hon. Z. F. Rose, who, by the way, has labored zealously from the very inception of this noble undertaking. Why I mention Judge Rose's name the sequel will show. This monument, to be erected at a cost of over $4,000, was to be completed in time for its dedication on the 4th of July next, and as that time was drawing nigh it was deemed proper that the preliminary arrangements should be made. For this purpose the committee having the matter in charge convened not long since, and among other commendable doings conferred the honor of Chief Marshalship upon one of Blair county's noblest sons, Dr. J. M. Gemmill. To this appointment some of Geary's "bummers" demurred, and even went so far as to call the Doctor a copperhead. I do not, of course, intimate that all engaged in the present rebellion are "bummers," as I know many of them to be as true and brave men as ever went to battle. The leaders of this faction, however, with a few honorable exceptions, only distinguished themselves as hospital stewards, army chaplains, contractors, etc., and some of them, it is said, hold discharge papers with the "dis" very prominently marked upon them. Be this as it may, it is an accepted axiom that the truly brave man is always a modest man, and as modesty is not a very marked feature in the present rebellion the inference is plain enough. But allow me to state the case more explicitly. The idea of erecting a soldiers' monument originated with the citizens, the requisite funds have for the most part been contributed by citizens, and, as was right and proper, the dedicatory ceremonies were to be conducted as a civic and not as a military demonstration. The living soldiers were invited to participate in the honors to be conferred upon their fallen comrades, and with the exception of the above appointment, all points of honor were conferred upon them. Not satisfied with this, they now demand entire control of the parade, and seek to make the citizens subject to their command. They want a soldier as a soldier to be placed at the head of every arrangement and every committee, and further ask the citizens to withdraw the excellent appointment of Dr. Gemmill and allow them to substitute one of their own number as Chief Marshal. The fact of the matter is, the opposition manifested by these "thoroughly demagogic" soldiers is entirely political in all its bearings. They are the dupes and tools of designing, unprincipled demagogues, who are trying to use them for their own personal and political aggrandizement. The only objection they have to Dr. Gemmill is that he is a democrat and does not believe that Abraham Lincoln was the best man that ever lived, or that Jefferson Davis is a worse traitor, though a braver one, than Thad. Stevens.

Some of these "boys in blue," of gray, are pitching into Judge Rose pretty roughly for having had the audacity or temerity to bring about the appointment of Dr. Gemmill. In this manifestation of vindictiveness they can only weaken their own cause. I differ as widely as possible with Judge Rose on all political questions, but have ever found him an honorable and high-minded gentleman in all my intercourse with him, and I firmly believe that in this case he acted from the purest and best of motives, no religious or political promptings swaying him in the least.

But we have survived one rebellion, and I doubt not this one can be overcome in time to render the approaching celebration one of the grandest ever witnessed in this State. I may refer to this subject again.

The Catholics of this place propose to celebrate the approaching national anniversary in their usual agreeable and becoming manner, in their own grove adjoining town.

Some months ago, as you may remember, the tailoring establishment of Thos. Elway in this place was burglariously entered and a quantity of goods stolen therefrom. On Friday last Mr. Elway had the good fortune to find the greater portion of the missing articles. The person accused of stealing them formerly worked for Mr. E., and whether innocent or guilty, is now safely domiciled in Hollidaysburg.

An article known as a Patent Fire Extinguisher, for the sale of which Kerr & Co. of this place are agents, was tested before a committee of prominent citizens, a few days since, and worked to a charm. A small frame structure was erected and filled with shavings, saturated with coal oil, and then set fire to. Two of these machines were then brought into requisition, and by means of an eighth inch stream of water the flames were entirely subdued in less than two minutes. The extinguisher resembles an ice cream can, and like "John Brown's knapsack," is strapped upon the back, and is certainly a most effective and convenient invention for overcoming the devouring element.

Some forty employees of the Pa. R. R. Co., principally engineers, left our town yesterday in a special car for the purpose of visiting Mr. Hugh Gillin of your place, recently injured at Cresson. They returned in the evening greatly pleased with their trip and exceedingly gratified toward the friends and fellow engineers in rapidly recovering, although deeply regretting the affliction he sustains in the loss of one of his arms.

The spirit of improvement has not abated in the least in this locality. Some three hundred buildings are in course of erection here at the present time. T. I. M.

Yours, &c.

THE ABSENCE of the big elephant promised on the show bills is accounted for by the fact that he had to stop on the road to pack his trunk. Not very sensible on part of the elephant that, as he would have found something worth putting in his trunk had he only come this far and renewed his wardrobe at the cheap cash store of V. S. Barker, on High street, where clothing, dry goods, and every other species of merchandise may now be found in greater profusion than ever.

RECOVERING.—We are gratified to learn from our correspondent "Iago" that Father M'Givern, who was shot by a boy near Carrolltown, as noticed by us last week, is able to be about again and experiences but little inconvenience from the wound.
