Original Centennial Hymn.

Up to these heights, Great and God-like we come,
Lies with Thy rich and boundless store,
Behold ye land, majestic dome,
Behold ye land, Thy glory show!

When a man's heart is true,
And his soul is set on fire,
He will not be content to stand,
But will go forth and strive.

Not as the fable flows,
Whose spirit flows with fire,
He gazes in faith at the holy vision...

With thanks and hope sublime,
We welcome thy forest gray,
And with thy golden eagle's, shine
With the sunbeams of thy day!

With thanks and hope sublime,
We welcome thy forest gray,
And with thy golden eagle's, shine
With the sunbeams of thy day!
