Answer to Mr. Hill. A writer to the Columbus (Ga.) Inquirer, who styles himself a fighting rebel, pitches into ex-United States Senator Hill, of Georgia, who seems to think, by his letters and speeches, that a Southern war against the North has just commenced, as follows:

"You keep throwing up to us seecoh that 'we are the most submissive of all.' We know we are, because we recognize the right of the North to alter, to make and unmake, their own constitution equally with the South; and because we pride ourselves upon our honor and chivalry, and are not going to retain the stakes after we have put them up to the sword and lost. So far from being ashamed of our submission, we pride ourselves upon it as the highest evidence we can transmit to posterity of our high sense of 'honor'—that we submitted, as none but gentlemen can, to an unconditional surrender— withholding nothing, not even a bar of gold left hid in the camp, and claiming nothing, not even life. We are not a lawyer, but we have never heard of a powerful nation going to Vattel or Blackstone to ask what to do with their prisoners; they have generally acted according to their interests and fears. * * * Does Mr. Hill forget, when he is asking us to play 'the mule,' that he is talking to a nation of gentlemen, who disdain, after surrendering up everything to their conquerors, depending on their magnanimity, to beg even for life or property? We are glad Mr. Hill is getting ready to fight—he did not fight for our Southern constitution. But when he gets ready to die for the Yankee constitution that we left, he will find that the South cannot be whistled to the battle-field by any one that did not bear her own beloved banner to her sacred fields of freedom."

SENSIBLE ADVICE.—"Uncle Aaron Hart," a colored citizen of Columbus, Georgia, a carpenter by trade, has recently written a letter to the Enquirer, which is worthy of commendation, and to which we call the attention of our colored citizens:

"We of the South have to be one; what is the white man's interest must and will be the colored man's. All have been born on Southern soil—some masters and some slaves. I was born a slave; this was not my master's fault. That some (white and colored) are trying to make the former slaves hate their former masters, is plain. This I will not do. I know those amongst whom I was raised; I do not know those that come to me and take me by the hand at night, and give me advice in the dark, and when it is light do not notice me on the street. I notice another thing; those white men who tell us we must vote the radical ticket, and we shall have a farm, do not have enough to build a chicken coop. I think they want the negroes to do the voting, but they want the farms. I was a minister of the Gospel—belonged to the Baptist Church—and I think I have studied the interest of my race since we have been set free, and give it as my opinion it is best for the colored people to make friends at home. As to politics, I do not know much; but from what little I do know, I am a conservative. They don't seem to have any secrets, but talk out. This I like."

A clergyman who was preaching in New York State fainted while in his pulpit, when he was discovered to be a woman.

What Mr. Seward Says. Secretary Seward passed through the city, this evening, on his way to Auburn. He looked fagged out. A number of friends went down to the Albany steamer, to see him off. One of them said: "Well, Mr. Secretary, how do things look at Washington?"

Seward—"Well, my friend, when I left there last night, the sky looked calm and beautiful; the birds were singing in the trees at Bladensburg, and the waters of the Potomac ran along as smoothly as they do here in your own lovely Hudson."

Friend—"Ah, yes, but the political situation?" Seward—"Politics, sir, have not disturbed me much of late. I am either getting tired of them, or they are growing weary of me. I am not half so well posted, as to what you call the situation, as you New York editors. Read the World, the Times, the Tribune and the Express, and you will know all about it."

Another Friend—"How is President Johnson, Mr. Secretary?" Seward—"Do you remember that wonderful passage in Addison's Cato, 'Thou hast seen Mount Atlas, Where storms and tempest gathered on his brow; He stands unmoved, and glories in his height.'"

Mr. Johnson, sir, is the Cato of today. I begin to think his country is not worthy of him." Something was said about the next Presidential election, with occasional regrets that Mr. Seward's prospects for the succession were not as bright as they ought to be.

Seward—"Reserve your regrets, gentlemen, reserve your regrets. All things are working together for good. The Presidency is not a bed of roses. In all human probability, my term of life will not run many years into the future. Time with me was never so precious as it is at present, and instead of lamenting that higher honors are not within my grasp than those I have already enjoyed at the hands of my countrymen, I feel that I ought to thank God that things are as they are."

These words were uttered in a tone savoring of sadness, but the shrill cry of all ashore that's going, intermingled with the noise of the pilot's bell, and the roar of steam, put an end to further reflections, and obliged the Secretary and his friends to shake hands and bid each other adieu.

[N. Y. Cor. Louisville Democrat.] ASSASSINATION OF THE TRAITOR LOPEZ.—The particulars of the assassination of Lopez, the betrayer of Maximilian, are as follows: Lopez was stopping at a hotel in Puebla, where his wife spurned him from her presence. Early one morning, a Mexican arrived and familiarized himself with an ostler in a livery stable adjoining the hotel.

Gen. Miguel Lopez was inquired for, but not being in, the stranger was told that the General would be at dinner. Before the dinner hour, Lopez returned, and was pointed out to the stranger, who made special note of his man. When dinner was called, Lopez and his assassin occupied opposite seats at the table. After some minutes, during which time the stranger called for and drank a glass of wine, he deliberately rose, drew a concealed knife, and sprang upon Lopez, and stabbed him nine times. The stranger then took his hat, and, as he started to leave, said, "This is the way all traitors should be paid." No one interfered, or prevented the assassin from leaving. Thus was the blood of Maximilian, Miramon, Mejia—yes, and thousands of others—avenged. This report is regarded as authentic.

IRELAND.—In the House of Commons, Sir Colman O'Laughlin drew attention to the condition of Ireland. He showed the evils under which that country labors, and contended that the Government made no effort to remove them. An interesting discussion followed, in the course of which several Tory members made speeches, from the reading of which one would suppose that Ireland was the happiest country in the world. Mr. Maguire declared that the legislative neglect of Ireland had aroused the bitterest possible feeling against this country in the United States.

The Chancellor of the Exchequer agreed that the state of Ireland is most unsatisfactory, but that arose not from the acts of the present or last Government, but from the efforts of an exterior agency. He proceeded to declare that the Government's efforts at legislation for Ireland had met with no support, and he held out no hopes of more being done.

Ireland has over 12,000 military policemen.

TERRIBLE ALLEGED CRIME.—The Rev. H. Wendt, of Germantown, Pa., was arrested in Rochester, on the 12th instant, charged with outraging the person of seven girls, inmates of the Germantown Orphan Asylum, of which he was superintendent. He has been practicing his diabolical acts for over a year previous to his discovery. He fled from Germantown last week, fearing punishment, and came to this city. On his arrival, he wrote to his wife, making inquiries as to the feeling among the members of his church, and stated that he would be in Rochester to-day, and would be the guest of the Lutheran minister. This letter fell into the hands of the trustees of the orphan asylum, who caused his arrest. Wendt has a wife and six children living in Germantown, Pa. [Philadelphia Ledger.]

FURTHER DEVELOPMENTS.—The Washington Evening Express, of Friday, contains the following singular expose:

"A German named Rabbi, who was confined in the jail at the time of the visit of the Hon. James Ashley to Sanford Conover, and who was privy to some of the conversations which took place, had made some curious statements in regard to the plan of impeachment, as developed by the representative from the Toledo district. From those conversations, as we hear of them, it appears that Conover was paid by somebody for the evidence which he gave before the impeachment committee. The affidavits of Rabbi will be made public in a few days."

Ira Aldridge, the celebrated negro tragedian, died, on Saturday last, during a professional tour in Poland. He was a native of Maryland; picked up the ship-building when a boy, and attracted the notice of Edmund Kean, during the tour of the latter in this country, forty years ago. He accompanied the great actor to Europe as a body servant, manifested considerable theatrical genius, and went on the stage. The prejudices of color were too strong for him to succeed in this country, but he was popular in Europe. He was engaged to appear at the Academy of Music, in New York, during the month of September.

SUNDAY AMUSEMENT.—A New York paper, of the 6th, says:

On Sunday morning, a prize fight, as usual, took place back of West Hoboken, during the progress of which one of the pugilists was struck with a bottle by an outsider, for having been guilty of a foul blow. A general fight ensued, in which fifteen or twenty persons were badly cut and injured, and a cry of "police" was raised just in time to prevent the killing of some of them. No arrests were made.

A New York firm have just completed a very fine steam fire engine for the Japanese Government, which will be shipped in the ram Stoneval, recently purchased by the Tycoon. The American Artisan says: "As this will be the first steam fire engine introduced into that country, we can easily imagine the wonder and astonishment which will be depicted upon the grave visages of the sedate Japanese, when for the first time they witnessed what effect this 'barbarian' machine can accomplish."

There seems to be no doubt that the Germans in the Western States are severing their connection with the radical party, and various reasons induce the belief that a similar step will be taken by their brethren in the East. The Germans were powerful supporters of the North in the late war. They gave money freely, and they gave men with equal freedom. Now they have attained the fruition of their desires, and they will not sacrifice liberty and security to any political party.

Coolie labor has a few advocates in the South, but they are not numerous. The press generally opposes the scheme, and the New Orleans Commercial Bulletin is of the opinion that "if in place of encouraging the immigration of Coolies, we would encourage the immigration of 100,000 looms and spindles, we could impart more value to our crop, before it left the country, than if we increased the crop itself by additional production."

A gentleman in Maine has offered $10,000 for building a Freewill Baptist educational institution at the South. The condition is, that as much more shall be added by the first of January next, and such additions shall afterwards be made as shall increase the whole sum, principal and interest, to $40,000 by January 1, 1873.

THE public esteem in which PANKIN'S HEPATIC BITTERS are held, is another proof of their excellence as a Tonic. They are recommended by physicians generally, and have never disappointed those who have made use of them. They give sure and speedy relief in nausea, sick headache, dyspepsia, and all similar complaints. For sale by all druggists. April 14 mly Dr. C. H. MOTT, Agent.

WELL, WORTH READING.—Who is there that does not desire to be always exempted from indigestion—to have a good appetite, a painless stomach, a clear head, a regular pulse, a healthy complexion? If this meets the eye of any who are not thus blessed, let them try HOSSETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. We guarantee that this delightful tonic will restore any stomach, however weak, to a healthy condition; that it will bring back the truant appetite, and give permanent vigor to the whole system. The feeble and emaciated, suffering from dyspepsia or indigestion in any form, are advised, for the sake of their own bodily and mental comfort, to try it. Ladies of the most delicate constitution testify to its harmless and its restorative properties. Physicians everywhere, disgusted with the adulterated liquors of commerce, describe it as the SAFEST AND MOST RELIABLE of all stomachics. Its effects are instantaneous. It does not require weeks of dosing before its virtues are realized. Thousands sit down to their meals void of appetite, eating because others eat. The food thus forced into the stomach does positive harm. Instead of strengthening the system, it engenders a variety of ailments, which end in confirmed dyspepsia. HOSSETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, taken regularly before meals, will prevent all this. Aug 14 t6

A Truly Wonderful Medicine!

HEINITSH'S QUEEN'S DELIGHT.

Liver Complaint Cured by Queen's Delight.

THE symptoms of Liver Complaint are uneasiness and pain in the right side, and soreness upon touch immediately under the inferior ribs; inability to lie upon the left side, or, if at all, a dragging sensation is produced which seriously affects respiration, causing, very often, a troublesome cough. Together with these symptoms, we perceive a coated tongue, acidity of the stomach, deficiency of perspiration, and sometimes a sympathetic pain in the shoulder, with a great disposition to sleep, and depression of spirits, and sometimes sores in the mouth or throat. These symptoms, if permitted to continue, will eventually produce consumption, the most baneful of all diseases.

Dyspepsia. The symptoms of Dyspepsia are various; those affecting the stomach are nausea, heart-burn, loss of appetite, disgust for food, sometimes a depraved appetite, sense of fulness or weight in the stomach, sinking or fluttering in the pit of the stomach, sour eructations, coated tongue, acidity of the stomach, hurried and difficult breathing, &c.

The sympathetic affections are very diversified—cold feet, pain or weakness through the limbs, swimming of the head, sudden flushes of heat, &c.

The use of the QUEEN'S DELIGHT should be persevered in until every symptom of Dyspepsia has vanished, and health is entirely restored.

Derangements of Liver and Stomach. Are sources of insanity. From disorder or obstruction, a morbid action of the sympathetic and other nerves follows, and the functions of the brain are impaired and deranged; derangement there will also produce disease of the heart, lungs and kidneys. It is owing to the same cause that thousands die with Cholera, Bilious or Yellow Fever, and that most baneful disease, Consumption.

The origin of numerous cases of Consumption is impaired digestion; and many, many cases of supposed Consumption could be entirely cured by the use of the QUEEN'S DELIGHT, as the emaciation, debility and cough attending weakness of the digestive organs are so near allied to the symptoms of Consumption, that the one disease is frequently mistaken for the other.

Notice. It is a well-established fact that fully one-half of the female portion of our population are seldom in the enjoyment of good health, or, to use their own expression, "never feel well." They are languid, devoid of all energy, extremely nervous and have no appetite. To this class of invalids, the Queen's Delight is especially recommended. Their peculiar tonic and invigorating properties render it invaluable in such cases. The patient should immediately discard all pills and powders, as they only weaken the system, and resort to the use of the Queen's Delight, the invariable result of which will be a strong and hearty constitution, a disappearance of all nervousness, a good appetite and a perfect restoration to health.

Weak and delicate children are made strong by using the Queen's Delight. In fact, it is a Family Medicine; it can be administered with perfect safety to a child three months old, the most delicate female or a man of ninety. Be sure and ask for "HEINITSH'S QUEEN'S DELIGHT," none other is genuine. For sale by FISHER & HEINITSH, July 9 Druggists, Columbia, S. C.
