MASSACRE IN CHINA—10,000 NATIVE CHRISTIANS SLAUGHTERED.—A French periodical of the last of July gives the first authentic and detailed narrative of the recent massacre of Roman Catholic native converts in China. The massacre broke out on the 25th of February, when the "literate," as the persecuting party is called, opened the campaign by beheading two men in the service of Pere Doare and a Christian, whom they then threw into the river. The same day they burned the three villages of Trux-Lam, Flo-Vinh and Bau-Tach, and massacred the inhabitants that were in them. Those who succeeded in escaping to the woods were hunted down with hounds, brought back and killed on the following day. The river was covered over with bodies floating down it from the side of Lareg. At that time, the murderers were massacring the Christians of the parish of Holven, and were burning their villages. Those who took refuge in the cliffs of the neighborhood were hunted down and burned alive. The Grand Mandarin of Justice was at the market of Sa-Nam, with 800 soldiers, but remained an inactive spectator of the massacre of the Christians of Nam-Duong, only a few of whom were able to escape. The literates, who were the heads of the militia appointed to massacre the Christians, say that the work of extermination carried out under the eyes of the mandarins, was concerted between the court and the literates, and was done in reprisal for recent events. The mandarins have just received orders from the court not to employ any other means save those of persuasion to stop the murderers in their career. One of the chiefs, who had just caused two Christians to be murdered on the high-road, went on the parade before the governor of the citadel, by whom he was dismissed with honor. On his return, twenty women or children fell under the sword of this man and his followers. He had just come from offering sacrifices to the Goddess of Prostitution, to whom a famous temple that stands near the road is dedicated.

In several localities, they take an entire family—father, mother and children—bind them together with bamboos, and then fling the bundle of living humanity into the waves. First, however, they take care to cut off the man's head. The multitude of dead bodies thus fastened together in groups of from eight to ten block up the principal river, but, to the great surprise of everybody, does not send forth any bad smell. There are then five Parishes, containing 10,000 Christians, which have to be blotted out of the mission—namely, Lang-Thank-Huyen, Nam-Duong, Hoy-Yen and Doreg-Thank. Many of the victims died in the midst of flames. A village of more than 400 Christians was attacked by the literates, and soon became a prey to the flames. Among these 400 Christians, there were 120, more or less, who succeeded in saving themselves by taking refuge in a large village near by. The remainder, about 300, were nearly all massacred. Two small villages of Christians, situated two hours' walk from the place at which I then was, were hemmed in by the Pagans. The Mayor visited each house, numbered the Christians, and forbade them, under threat of most severe punishment, to go out of doors. A few of the Christian women attempted to go to the market to keep themselves from starving. They never returned. Some Pagan women who went with them say that the Christian women were captured and beheaded. Two men from one of these same villages hazarded a flight during the night. They passed the great river by swimming, and came to me to tell their misfortunes.

Lots of machinery arrive in Greenville daily, for parties in the city and County, showing the people are all becoming interested in manufacturing.

Seegers' vs. Cincinnati Beer.
THE Cincinnati Gazette makes the astonishing announcement that Cincinnati beer is no longer pure, but adulterated with molasses, sugar of starch, fusel oil and the poisonous colchicum. The Commissioner of Agriculture, in his report for 1865, says that Prof. Mapes, of New York, analyzed the beer from a dozen different breweries, and found all of it adulterated. Cocculus Indicus and nuxvomica entered largely into its composition.
J. C. SEEGERS guarantees his beer to be pure and reliable. He does not adulterate it, but brews from the best barley, malt and hops. Jan 23
