

WINCHESTER: THURSDAY MORNING, MARCH 10.

We are glad to see those sugar trees being set out in our Court house yard. They will soon grow up and ornament the place much better than the locusts that now stand there.

From an advertisement in another column it will be seen that Prof. Semmons, manufacturer of the great Brazilian Pebble Spectacle, will visit Winchester on Saturday and offer our citizens an opportunity for procuring a spectacle that is recommended, the world over, as superior to all others.

These Spectacles have been thoroughly tested by hundreds of our citizens, and so universally approved of by those who tested them, that any elaboration of ours would be superfluous.

The editor of the London Times receives the same salary as the President of the United States.

The next regular meeting of the Society will be on the 1st Monday of April next, when the election of officers will take place, and other important business will be transacted.

Another candidate is in the field for Legislature. We allude to Squire Mann, who has consented to run, and upon whom a call was made in the Journal a few weeks since.

Our friend, Wiley S. Embry is receiving his stock of Spring Goods, and judging from the crowds which flock to his store, he must have made a tasty selection.

A new religious sect has sprung up in the vicinity of New Bedford, Mass. Among their peculiarities is that the minister salutes the sisters with a kiss.

The father of Mr. D. E. Sickle has offered Mr. Bagiola any house of his he may select, in order that Mrs. Sickle may have a home.

Mr. Key's corpse was carried from Washington to Baltimore and buried in the Presbyterian Cemetery on Green Street, in the same grave with his wife.

Mr. Butterworth's statement goes to show that Sickle's attack on Key was the outbreak of a frenzied passion, instead of the deliberate and premeditated act which it has been represented to be.

From Paraguay we have intelligence that the U. S. Commissioner and Commodore Shubrick had gone up the river, to hold an interview with Lopez, on the first; that Lopez has 100,000 men under arms; that his preparations for defence are formidable, and that it was thought by impartial and well informed persons that our fleet is inadequate, and our force will be beaten if an engagement takes place.

Queen Victoria will be forty years old next May.

Marriages.

In this place, last Friday night by Rev. James Campbell, Mr. PETER HARDEN and Miss SARAH C. HEFFNER, all of this place.

POVERTY AND RICHES.—It is truly said that no man can tell whether he is rich or poor by turning to his ledger. It is the heart that makes a man rich. He is rich or poor, according to what he is, not according to what he has.

It is becoming the custom, in some portions of the country, for newly married people to send to Editors of newspapers, with their marriage notice, a $5 gold piece.

A beautiful brunette said her brown complexion was his half of her being so often toasted.

Woman's constant torment—dust. Man's greatest plague—a woman continually brushing the same.
