LOYALTY ENFORCED BY VIGILANCE BANDS

Missouri Countians Tar and Feather Leaders of Sedition Movements.

St. Louis, March 2.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—Enforced loyalty has become a business in Macoupin, Madison and Montgomery counties in southern Illinois where the activities of pro-German propagandists and vigilance committees in numerous towns have forced hundreds of suspected persons to make public manifestations of their allegiance to the government. In one town two alleged leaders of seditious movements were tarred and feathered. Branches of the American Defense society, operating through vigilance committees, have been active in the district, have taken the lead in stamping out disloyalty. The first move to oust the propagandists was made in Staunton, where an alleged leader of the I. W. W. and a Chicago attorney were escorted to the city limits, coated with tar and feathers and started walking in different directions. The reason for this aggression was taken from the pocket of the men in causing discussion among several thousand coal miners near Staunton. On the same night more than 100 persons were made to sign pledges of loyalty.

Movement Spread. News of the use of such stern measures spread with a week. Worden, Mount Olive, Gillespie, Williamson, Hillsboro and several other smaller towns made demonstrations. In some of these towns scores of persons were taken from their homes and questioned to make public profession of their loyalty. Several men were taken from their beds and, kneeling on the sidewalk, were forced to kiss over the top of their heads the national emblem, while others were compelled to play patriotic airs on musical instruments. Protests against such actions were construed as evidence of disloyalty. In several such instances arrests were made and federal charges preferred against the men.

The most serious result of the demonstrations was in Hillsboro, where Clifford Donaldson, 21 years old, was shot when the vigilance committee called at his father's home in search of I. W. W. members. Shots were exchanged. Donaldson was killed and E. B. Emory, city marshal, and Ernest Flath were wounded. Later it was learned Donaldson had enlisted in the navy only a few days before his death and that his father was acquainted with many of the suspected persons. Members of the vigilance committee deny that they counsel violence. They declare that their actions have the approval of city officers. They insist that the district embraced by Macoupin, Madison and Montgomery counties for some time has been the objective of an active campaign by pro-German sympathizers.

TO EXTEND SALE OF HORSE MEAT TO RELIEVE MARKET

Not Innovation, However, in Paris. War in Year Used—43,384 Horses Were Killed Last Year.

Paris, Feb. 8.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—The extended sale of horse meat is one of the means contemplated by the city authorities to relieve the provisions market. The sale of horse flesh for many years has been considerable in the popular quarters of Paris and it has increased considerably during the war. Last year 43,384 horses were killed at the Vaugirard slaughter houses. The increased supply of horse meat had no depressing effect upon prices, however. The British army is now the chief source of supply of horses for killing. More than 12,000 horses were received from that source last year, yet the price went from the equivalent of 28 cents a pound to 40 cents for ordinary cuts and from 35 cents to 50 cents a pound for the choice bits of horse flesh.

SALTS FINE FOR ACHING KIDNEYS

We eat too much meat, which clogs kidneys, then the back hurts.

Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the bowels, get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally, else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders. You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean, and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is harmless to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity. It also neutralizes the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders. Jad Salts is harmless; inexpensive; make a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everybody should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean, thus avoiding serious complications. A well-known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble. (Adv.)

An engine that runs with softness, due to the now noted "Hot-Spot" and "Ram's-Horn" Manifold—Chalmers features

In the days of yesterday, "roar" and "wallop" were the terms used to define an engine's power. Today, it is the softness of power, the controllability of it that fascinates. It is a new kind of power to many, brought to public attention through the famous "Hot-Spot" and "Ram's-Horn" Manifold of the Chalmers. For here the gas is heated, and "cracked-up" at the throat of the carburetor by the "Hot-Spot" and then rushed quickly via the "Ram's-Horn" Manifold into the combustion chambers. It is "toasted" so nicely, "pulverized" so fine, that the instant after sparking there is well-nigh no waste of gas. Little of power comes out of the exhaust. All the power comes out of the rear wheels—and such pleasing, well-harnessed power, that your enthusiasm for driving reaches a new peak.
