MONSTER SCREEN AT METHODIST CENTENARY

Special Lantern Device For Throwing Pictures.

Finishing details are being placed on the arrangements for the erection of the largest screen for the projection of pictures ever built in this world. This is to be one of the features of the Methodist Centenary Celebration, to be held in Columbus, Tenn., June 20 to July 13.

This monster screen will have a length for pictures 115x115 feet. The structure will be several feet high in each direction. A special device has been successfully devised for throwing these tremendous pictures. The screen will be 250 feet from the nearest spectator and will be built to withstand 40 pounds pressure to the square foot. The lantern which will project these pictures has already successfully thrown pictures on a screen in New York City across a distance of four and a half city blocks. According to Architect Harry C. Holbrook, the screen will be, in effect, three sides of a house. It is necessary to give it the foundations equivalent to a four-story building.

In order that there may be as much salvage as possible after the screen has served its purpose, the picture face will be of fitted lumber, which later will be treated with a white surface preparation. The estimated cost of this screen will be $8,000. The screen and the lantern will be used in showing the tens of thousands of views, made all over the world by the Methodist Missionary Survey, which has the finest collection of pictorial records anywhere in the world.

Columbia Professor in Charge of Exhibits at Methodist Centenary

PROFESSOR LA MONT A. WARNER of Columbia University is director of fine arts and designer of exhibits and scenery for the Methodist Centenary Celebration, in Columbus, O., June 20 to July 13. On plans which he laid down, the multitude of exhibits, domestic and foreign, have been arranged in the buildings in scenic effects, making them at once appropriate and effective. Professor Warner had charge of world exhibits held in Boston, Chicago, Baltimore and Providence in past years, and has studied and worked abroad.
