VARS HALL A BAR WHICH BROUGHT VICTORY

CAMP FINSTON, Kan., Nov. 13. (Sp.)—Out here in a rugged valley of the golden West 22,000 "Yanks" trained to within an inch of their young lives, are softly but nevertheless vigorously talking at the lack which brought about peace before they were given the glorious opportunity of taking a whack at the Kaiser's divisions.

These men are members of the "Whirlwind" division, which Gen. Leonard Wood hopes to throw against the German front. With the world at large cheering peace, the rank and file of this great host of fighters is taking the news with a strange mixture of natural pleasure over an American victory and unfeigned disgust at the opportunity to actually share in the fighting that brought it about.

Only a few days before the armistice was signed a review of the division was held. Government inspectors went over the division to see that the victors know how—and that means every piece of equipment, every bit of material, and every soldier. The investigation of the knowledge of every man. And when they had finished they said nothing. "All I ask in life is to get there to help them, and then they wouldn't have a hard time even to think about it."

And now every man back of them is alternately hoping that the Germans will come to some agreement with them an opportunity to test the division out, or that a new "row" will start somewhere. "All I ask in life is to get there to help them, and then they wouldn't have a hard time even to think about it."

Just what will be done with the Tenth division, the official number of the "Whirlwind" is not known. It is a regular army outfit and may be retained in the service. Officers and men are sitting tight, wondering whether their next orders will be to Russia, the Balkans, France or wherever.

There are many Tennesseans sprinkled through the division. Most of them are artillerymen. Maj. Edward McCormack of Memphis is a battalion commander and instructor in the Twenty-eighth field artillery. Capt. Frank Butler, who was formerly with the 115th, is commanding Battery A of the 38th. Capt. John Wesley Gaines, of Nashville, Tenn., is commanding a battery in the 29th. Lieut. G. W. Smith, also a Tennessean, and former First Tennessee field artillery, is a staff officer in the 29th. He was at one time a lieutenant in Battery A of Memphis.

Maj. McCormack has been in command of the 28th since Col. Huston, its commanding officer, met with an accident which fractured his right arm. To the Memphis went the distinction of receiving from Gen. Wood the colors of the regiment which were presented at the recent review. At that time Gen. Wood congratulated the artillerymen upon their splendid work. He called attention to the fact that the brigade and its regiments had been whipped into shape from raw material in less time than any other field artillery unit in the nation.

And in intrusting these sacred colors to your regiment," he concluded, "I know that officers and men are not only capable of meeting and outmaneuvering the enemy, but that man for man, from your commanding general down to the youngest private, you would gladly shed your life blood to keep that flag inviolate."

The color sergeants of each of the three regiments comprising the artillery brigade are yet hoping against hope that they may be privileged to plant those colors over some yet unconquered Hun stronghold.

THE GOVERNMENT ASKS YOU TO SAVE all peach, plum and prune stones, also shells from walnuts, hickory nuts and butternuts. Carbon or charcoal made from the above materials constitutes one of the best absorbents of poisonous gases, and is, therefore, a vital part of the gas masks manufactured for our soldiers in France. Dry your stones and deposit them in the barrel in front of this store. By so doing you will help to save lives from poisonous gas fumes.

HOW DOCTORS TREAT COLDS AND GRIPPE

Ask any physician or druggist and he will tell you that the best and only effective remedy for a bad cold, sore throat, influenza or a grippe is what he calls "a brisk calomel purge," which means a big dose of calomel at bedtime. But as the old style calomel has some very unpleasant and dangerous qualities, physicians and druggists are now recommending the improved, non-toxic, calomel called "Calotabs," which is purified and refined from the sickening and dangerous effects and whose medicinal virtues are vastly improved.

One Calotab on the tongue at bedtime with a swallow of water—that's all. No salts, no nausea, nor the slightest interference with your diet, pleasures or work. Next morning your cold has vanished and your entire system is purified and refreshed.

WHEAT AND FLOUR REPORTS STOPPED

A decided relief in the wheat and flour situation is indicated by the food administration's instructions that weekly reports of supplies on hand and flour consumed by bakers are to be discontinued.
