An Interesting Agricultural Experiment. SHELLSBURG, Iowa, Feb. 1870. Several years since I selected a plot of new, rich, alluvial prairie soil.

For the eighth year the cornstalks were removed from the soil by pulling, and the land, with that adjoining, was sown to barley.

STIRRING SOIL AROUND TREES.—Opening or lightening the soil around the roots of trees, either in the spring or fall, for the purpose of letting in warmth, and affording a freer medium for the expansion and development of the roots, is of great value in promoting the health and vigor of the tree.

SCOURS IN COWS.—I once had a valuable cow that was troubled with scours, and I expected to lose her, till using this remedy, she was saved.

Free trade journals have recently been making a great noise over what they are pleased to style "decline of American shipping."
