VOL. 19, No. 18

GAINESBORO, TENN., THURSDAY, MAY 3, 1917

ONE DOLLAR A YEAR

FARM NEWS.

Prepared Especially for Jackson County Farmers.

We Need More Seed.

Every citizen of Tennessee to whom has been carried the message of the country at this hour when war is the paramount issue is busy. Tennessee is going to feed herself, is going to help feed others, and is going to save seed for next year's planting.

In the mad rush to sell from the farm whatever would bring high prices, men and women of the State have sold the seed that is needed for this year. Soy beans, the red kidney beans, legumes of all kinds, and all other seeds are scarce; expense is keeping many farmers from doing what they would otherwise do; they cannot afford to pay the exorbitant price for these seeds.

May we not be found wanting when another season rolls a round.

But this season, every county should rise to meet the problems that this war brings to it. We must plant more of the crops that furnish food for man, and we must plan for seed for next year's planting. Let the counties organize to see that this is done.

We Need More Patriotism.

Shall this be said of the Volunteer State—that we need more patriotism?

It is not more patriotism that we need at this time of war, but a safe knowledge of how to show the patriotism we have. For most of us the sacrifice we should like to make is to fight at the front. But for most of us, and particularly for those who have land to till, the sacrifice we are called upon to make is at home. We are asked to till those lands as we have never done before. We are asked to make them produce as they have never produced before. We are asked to drop our course of farming, if that farming does not provide food and feed for home use, and furnish a surplus for our fighters. The Nation is asked to fight, not the army.

This is the sacrifice that you can make. No matter in what pursuit you are engaged, you have a part to play in this great war. If you are not a farmer, then think well how you can help the farmer do the thing he is called upon to do. Join your county in its attempt to do its share.

We Need More Food.

Into a small village of one county a new family moved recently. The lady of the home had been in the habit of keeping chickens. When she tried to get six hens with which to start her poultry yard she found that she could not buy any hens of any kind whatsoever in the village or in the community around about.

The poultry of the community had been sold to high priced markets, and not even the 'seed' of a poultry yard was to be had.

We need more food and we need it now. We cannot get it now, but we can start now to get it.

Will you bend your energy in your county to help the nation do what it should to feed the world? That's our job.

We Need More Milk.

The Knoxville milk market, representative of the milk market in all parts of Tennessee, presents facts that Tennesseans can well consider.

One milk company reports 25 per cent decrease in the milk supply from this time last year. Could use 300 gallons more than is received. Paid 36c per pound for butterfat one year ago, and is now paying 50c.

Another milk company reports that the supply of milk has dropped off two-thirds from that a year ago. Could sell 300 gallons more per day than it is receiving. Butterfat has increased in price from 40c a year ago to 50c now.

One cream company reports the milk supply one-third short of last year. Could use 50 per cent more. One-third of its patrons of last year are out of business.

Another cream company reports that the supply of cream is two-thirds short of last year; that it buys five-sixths of its cream from Cincinnati.

Caught Napping That's All.

Other nations might go to war, we said, but not the U. S. A. We thought we would be wise and sell our products at the high prices; we are willing to sell even the seed we had planned to use this year. There would be plenty of seed, we said, for things were going to go along about as usual, no matter what the rest of the world did.

That's what we said.

But in justice to humanity the United States had to join the rest of the world in the war.

And now what do we say?

It doesn't matter what we say, the fact is that our disposition to sell got the better of us, and that we shall have to scheme and work and co-operate one with the other in every way that we can to bring this nation to bring this nation to the point where she is really a fighting nation.

Only a well fed nation is a fighting nation.

B. L. Quarles Elected President of Bank.

At a called meeting of the board of directors of the Bank of Gainesboro, on Saturday, April 28, 1917, to elect a president of the bank to fill the vacancy caused by the death of R. V. Brooks, and to take such action as said board might see proper relative to death of Mr. Brooks, the following proceedings were had:

On motion, B. L. Quarles was unanimously elected president of the bank, and J. A. Williams was duly elected vice president to fill the vacancy caused by the election of B. L. Quarles as president. H. L. McDearman was elected as a member of the board of directors to fill the vacancy caused by the election of J. A. Williams to the vice presidency.

On motion, the chairman, B. L. Quarles, appointed the following committee to prepare resolutions in regard to the death of our beloved president, W. M. Gailbreath, W. F. Sadler and C. E. Reeves, who reported the following resolutions which were read and adopted.

"Be it resolved by the directors of the Bank of Gainesboro, in called meeting assembled, that in the death of R. V. Brooks, president of said bank, which occurred on April, 20, 1917, at his home in Riddleton, Tenn., the bank has lost one of its ablest officers and financiers; the people of Jackson County, where he was raised, lived and transacted most of his business, one of its noblest citizens, although temporarily residing out of our county, we still claimed him as one of our fellow citizens.

"Mr. Brooks was 74 years and 4 months old, and since early manhood has ever been ready to help the poor, if honorable, and his financial assistance can be recalled by every business man of our county, and hundreds if not thousands, of farmers can point with pride to his assistance and advice. His death will be deeply deplored by all, and by this bank in which he has been an officer for years, and a stock-holder since its organization.

"Deploring his death we have met and submit these resolutions as a mark of respect to his memory and our deep regret at his death, and tender to his devoted widow and children our deepest

MRS. CASON HAD NO HOPE OF RETURNING

Went to Atlanta 6 Weeks Ago Propped Up on Pillows. Takes Tanlac and Gains 35 Pounds.

A short time ago Mr. J. B. Battle, who is well known in Atlanta, came into Jacobs' Pharmacy to get a bottle of Tanlac for his sister-in-law, Mrs. O. C. Cason, who lives some distance out sympathy.

"Resolved, that the cashier, W. M. Gailbreath, be directed to spread these resolutions on the minutes of the board, and that a copy be sent to his widow, and a copy be published in the Jackson County Sentinel."

Respectfully submitted,

W. M. Gailbreath,

W. F. Sadler,

C. E. Reeves,

of Atlanta, near Acworth. While making the purchase, Mr. Battle told of the wonderful improvement in Mrs. Cason's condition since she began using the medicine about six weeks ago.

He also made a statement that Mrs. Cason felt so grateful for the wonderful benefit she had received that she wanted to make a public statement, as she felt it her duty to tell the whole world about Tanlac. He then suggested that Dr. Elder, the Tanlac representative at Jacobs', call at his residence for a personal interview.

When Dr. Elder called at Mr. Battle's residence on English avenue, the following morning, it happened that Mr. Battle himself met him at the door and very cordially invited him into his living room. Mrs. Cason, who was bright and happy, soon made her appearance and began with delight to tell of the wonderful recovery of her health, and her statement will go down in history as being one of the most remarkable ever given a proprietary medicine. Here is her story in her own words:

"About six weeks ago I left my home on our farm near Acworth, Ga., to come to my sisters home here in Atlanta, and I left with only a shadow of hope of ever returning alive to my home and husband.

"I left Acworth," she continued, "in a comfortable automobile propped up on pillows, coming through the country. I had almost medicine as I had baggage—a big box full of all kinds of medicines that had been prescribed for me. I reached here very weak and exhausted and with scarcely enough strength to walk to the door. This trouble, from which I had suffered so long, had reduced me to almost a shadow, as I only weighed 60 pounds.

"My brother-in-law, Mr. Battle said, 'Well you have tried everything else with no relief, now I want you to lay aside your 'drug shop' and take Tanlac. Of course I was willing to try it, for the medicine was the talk of the whole country. Well, he got it for me and I started on my first bottle that day.

"When I had taken about half of the first bottle I began to feel stronger and encouraged. I continued to take it and it is nothing short of marvelous how I improved day by day. I felt myself further and further from the grave. My appetite returned and my food seemed to nourish me and agree with me. My skin and complexion began clearing up and I improved in every way possible until I am now a well woman, and when I say well, I mean absolutely what I say. I want to tell the whole world that I thank God and Tanlac.

"I weigh 95 pounds now and feel as well as I ever felt in my life. I am going back to my husband and home on the little farm five miles from Acworth tomorrow, and won't it be a joyful meeting, returning to my husband and home absolutely well and happy—and won't I tell everybody about what Tanlac has done for me?"

"Yes, it's just like she says," chimed in Mr. Battle about this time. "Tanlac has simply robbed the grave, and if you could have seen her when she started on this medicine, you would say the same thing.

"I didn't know at the time just what her trouble was, but the doctors said she had pelagra. She may have had it, for all I know, but there is one thing certain, she hasn't got it now, or at least you wouldn't think so if you could watch her eat. I told her jokingly, the other day, that she was eating me out of house and home. I don't guess there was ever a case like hers, and there is one thing certain, you can count on us telling everybody about it, because I fully believe she owes her life to this medicine."

FOOD PREPAREDNESS

More Food for Man, More Feed for Livestock

JACKSON COUNTY MUST DO HER PART IN MEETING THE GREAT SHORT-AGE IN FOOD IN THE SOUTH, IN THE NATION, AND IN THE WORLD.

The Crisis is Here. Concentrated Action Must be Made. Patriotism Must Stir the Souls of Every Person. We Must Sacrifice, We Must Work, We Must Save. What Are You Doing?

Whether we are to win this great world conflict depends upon our possibility of feeding ourselves, our armies, and those with whom we are allied in this great struggle for HUMANITY. Armies WITHOUT FOOD have lost before they began.

THE SHORTAGE IN FOOD IN THIS COUNTRY is intensely SERIOUS, and you must be brought to the realization of the fact. You must PRODUCE MORE, CONSERVE MORE, UTILIZE MORE WASTE PRODUCTS ON THE FARMS. In doing this you will assist greatly in winning for humanity this world conflict, and bring it to a close before YOUR SON OR RELATIVE IS CALLED TO THE FRONT.

A group of the best farmers and business men of this county have met in conference and discussed the needs of this county, and laid plans by which Jackson county may do its part in helping to meet the situation now at hand. They found that there are many things that need immediate attention, and laid plans by which we all may co-operate in meeting these needs. You are requested to attend the following meetings and hear affective speakers on the WAR conditions, and receive these plans that you may be able to co-operate with the rest in doing you part.
