THINGS WE THINK

Things others think, and what we think of the things others think

Life is so short it makes you long for more.

You never see a pleasing face on the person who is saturnine at heart.

A picture hat is sometimes necessary to set off painting underneath.

It is not polite for children to find fault with the things their parents do.

The man who eats as if he had a suction valve in his esophagus is no gentleman.

Every city has a lot of citizens who don't count—but they are always figured in the census.

Tomorrow has a persistent way of arriving for those who put things off from day to day.

The man drawing a good salary and earning it has neither time nor inclination to curse the universe.

A stitch in time is all right, but the right time is not late in the evening after mother has done a hard day's work.

The wasp waist is coming back into style. We know some men who will be applying witch hazel on their arms.

It is not always fair to judge a man by the company he keeps—it may sometimes be his relatives.

If good advice could only be received in the spirit in which it is given, more of it would be given.

When we try to rise too high at one leap the momentum of the fall is likely to carry us far below our former position.

It is reported that Canada has some half a million more women than men. That's almost too much of a good thing.

There may be some little satisfaction in having the truth hurt. It is a sign, at least, that you are not entirely without conscience.

Why do men make fun of woman for following fashion edicts and then wear stiff collars around their ears when it is 90 in the shade.

A Chicago man dropped dead in a department store while shopping with his wife. Women who love their husbands will take one warning therefrom.

It is hard to reform a successful sinner, but when misfortune overtakes him he is susceptible to a teacher that promises so much and exacts so little.

Tell the truth and you have it over with at once; tell a lie and you are kept busy explaining for a month and are discovered in the end.

In New York they have a woman's society which expels members for gossiping. We predict that the complexion of membership will keep changing rapidly.

If thieves stopped when they reached the mark they first set for themselves, few would get into jail. The trouble is that money; no matter how acquired lures a person too far.

It has been learned that a wealthy Iowa farmer has been giving his sweetheart a 40-acre tract every time she kissed him. By that method girls around here would own the universe before the end of the honeymoon.

LOCAL HAPPENINGS

What our neighbors and friends are doing that interest us all.

Ethel and Ruth Reeves spent last week at North Springs.

Misses Doris and Willard Johnson are spending the week in Granville.

Mark Spivey, of Nashville, came up Saturday on a brief visit with relatives.

Miss Alice Elizabeth Tardy has returned from a week's visit on Jennings creek.

Mrs. J. L. Reeves spent Saturday with her sister, Mrs. Amos Crabtree at North Springs.

Misses Lillie Brown Gist, Rose and Elizabeth Sadler visited on Sugar creek this week.

Miss Mai Page, of Whitleyville, was the guest of Gainesboro friends last week.

Miss Ruth Taylor of Crossville, after an extended visit here, has returned home.

Prof. and Mrs. A. T. Jackson, of Granville, were recent guests of their daughter, Mrs. C. C. Gore.

Mr. and Mrs. John Savage and family, of Celina, were in town Monday en route home from Sparta.

Misses Hallie Reeves, Dorothy Anderson, Nannie B. and Sallie Vanhooser, visited relatives on Jennings Creek, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Wooten, of Carthage, are visiting the latter's mother, Mrs. Sadie Young.

Be well and. Be full of life and energy. Tanlac will do this for you Anderson & Haile, Gainesboro, Tenn. adv.

Misses Mattie Clay Smith, Reba Smith and Ethel Anderson have returned from Cookeville, where they have been attending summer school.

Customers come to us every day and say Tanlac has been a blessing to them. We advise you to try it. Anderson & Haile, Gainesboro, Tenn. adv.

A feature of last week's events was the party given Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Montgomery. Games and music were enjoyed, and lemonade was served. About 50 guests were present.

Mrs. Mary E. Draper and children of Salt Lick, have recently moved to Gainesboro. Mrs. Draper has been employed as teacher of the third and fourth grades. She is ably qualified for the place, and is an untiring worker in this line.

Rev. Rose of Kentucky, began a revival meeting at Woodrow church on Roaring river, Sunday. Large crowds are attending, and much interest is being shown. Bro. Rose is well known here, having conducted successful meetings in different parts of the county, last year.

Your attention is called to the ad of Dr. Geo. Crowell, president of Howard College, Gallatin. If you are contemplating sending your daughter to college this fall, you should get in touch with Dr. Crowell. He is a fine man in the eyes of the people of Gallatin, and has accomplished great things in college work there.
