EPISCOPALS WILL HOLD SERVICE AT ST. JOHN'S CHURCH

ON SUNDAY, MAY 23, PILGRIMAGE WILL BE MADE TO SHRINE OF CHURCH IN TENNESSEE.

BISHOP BEATTY TO SPEAK

Special Music Will Be Rendered by Choir of St. Peter's Church of Columbia—Institute Girls to Attend Service in Body, is Present Plan.

On Sunday, May 23, Tennessee Episcopalians will make a pilgrimage to historic St. John's church on the Mt. Pleasant pike, the shrine of the congregation in this state.

Special services will be conducted at 3 o'clock p. m. The Right Reverend Troy Beatty, Bishop Coadjutor of Tennessee will deliver the principal address. Music will be furnished by the choir of St. Peter's church of Columbia. It is planned to have the membership of St. Peter's church of Columbia and the students of the Institute attend the service in a body.

Around this historic church much history has been made. It is in the churchyard that Bishop Otey, first bishop of Tennessee, is buried, it is there that Bishop Leonidas Polk, distinguished Confederate general, sleeps. Following the battle of Franklin five Confederate generals were buried there, among them being Gen. Pat Cleburne. These bodies were prepared for burial at Franklin by Bishop Quintard, who built the caskets and brought the bodies to the churchyard on an ox cart. After the close of the war the bodies were removed to the states of their nativity.

Historic St. John's is the church of the distinguished Polk family of Tennessee, and at one time was known as one of the most aristocratic congregations in the state, but members of the congregation have either died or removed from the community, and for the past few years, no regular services have been held there, but occasionally the historic old building is opened and special services held there. It is expected that the building will be kept in the very best repair possible, and just as nearly as possible as it appeared back in ante-bellum days.

CLOSE DIVISION EXPECTED WHEN JUSTICES MEET

ELEVEN OF THE TWENTY-FOUR MEMBERS HAVE SIGNED CALL FOR EXTRA SESSION.

BUT NONE ARE COMMITTED

So Far As Known the Opponents of the Highway Contract Have No Definite Plan to Propose, Even if the Court Has Any Power to Act.

From present indications the vote next Monday on the road question in the special session of the county court, provided the court has power to take any action, will be close. Eleven members of the court have signed the petition for the extra session. This is two less than a majority, but at least three or four members of the court have not been seen and are, so far as known, non-committal on any motion. It is likewise true that at least one of the signers of the petition for the call has declared that he expects to stand by the contract but will insist that there be an additional bond issue of a sum sufficient to construct all of the original project.

The eleven members of the court who have so far signed the call are Justices Derryberry and Farris, of the third district; Hardison and Pinston, of the fourth district; Denton, of the fifth district; Matthews and English, of the sixth district; Wilkes, of the eighth district; Carr, of the ninth district; and Akin and Stauff, of the tenth district. The petition for the extra session does not commit any signer to any line of action. They are just as free to vote as they think best as are the members who have not signed the call.

So far as known there is no well defined plan worked out among the opponents of the road contract on the Spring Hill road. They are against the construction of the road at a cost of $35,000 a mile, but they are by no means certain that they have a remedy or if they have one what it will be. Chairman William W. House, of the state highway commission, has announced that he would attend the meeting of the court here Monday and defend the action of the state highway commission and explain its reasons for letting the contract at $35,000 a mile.

One thing is certain, despite the fact that the farmers are behind with their work, there is going to be a goodly crowd of people in town Monday. Interest in the highway project is much more intense than it is in the democratic convention to be held Saturday.

PROTESTS AGAINST HIGHWAY CONTRACT

WRITER DECLARES THAT IT IS AN OUTRAGE UPON THE LIBERTIES OF THE PEOPLE.

To the Editor of The Herald: Not since the days when America was about to declare her independence has a body of men faced a task so perilous as the one which the highway commission was forced up against when letting the contract to build a road from Spring Hill to Columbia.

Some man estimated the cost per mile at $12,000, that was before the court had voted $290,000 to construct one-third of the forty-three miles. Whoever this gentleman was he evidently knows nothing about the cost of roads or he knows nothing about highwaymen and contractors, for the bid accepted was $35,000, or three times the estimated cost. The forty-three miles at this rate will cost $1,505,000. Maury county's part will be $501,666.66.

At the estimated cost of $12,000 the forty-three miles would cost $516,000, just $14,333.33 more than Maury's part as the contract now stands.

To build all the roads of Maury county at this rate would cost $42,000,000. The county would have to be sold to pay for them and then maybe have to vote a few bonds.

At any rate these gents were in a trap. It was either lose the $300,000 the state and nation had put up or lose the $290,000 the court had voted. No steps backward and only one way forward, a bad fix indeed. It's reported that the commission wept bitterly when it found out that it had to accept this bid or the state and national government would withdraw their money. Shame on a state and nation that would so impose upon a poor, helpless, innocent little commission.

With the state and nation setting such an example, it's no wonder the section from Spring Hill to Columbia are willing for the county to build them a one and one-half million dollar road, while the rest of the county travels by paths.

Had Maury county been no part of the state and nation is it fair to take money from these benevolent institutions and give it to contractors, that is if $12,000 is a fair estimate, and it must be for all authorities agreed on.

LAMB QUALITY IS SHOWING UP WELL

TWO CAR LOADS ARE SHIPPED THAT WEIGH AN AVERAGE OF SEVENTY-FIVE POUNDS.

Lambs are showing much better quality than had been anticipated, said M. E. Allen, the veteran cattle, hog and sheep buyer, who is now in the thirty-ninth year of his experience in that business. Mr. Allen on Saturday shipped two car loads that averaged 75 pounds each which is generally regarded as a good average for the first of June. It is probable that lambs delivered June 1 will run around eighty pounds or more. Since they are bringing fifteen cents and better this will mean an average of $12 a head to the growers. The lamb crop of the county is larger than it has been in several years. The mortality during the winter was under the average, so that those farmers who have sheep are going to have a profitable season.

PARK BROTHERS SELL CAR LOAD SAL-TONIK

GET SECOND CAR PART OF WHICH IS ALSO SOLD, ONLY AWAITING DELIVERY.

"I have never handled any article in my place of business that has given such universal satisfaction to the purchasers, as has this Sal-Tonic, we have been selling," said C. D. Park, of Park Bros. Wednesday.

"We sold out our first car in less than thirty days and sold to some of the biggest hog, cattle and sheep growers in the county, and already we have had calls for repeat orders."

Mr. Park stated that they had received their second car load shipment since the first of March and that part of this car is already sold and all that will have to be done is make deliveries to the farmers when they come in for it.

Farmers who have been using it say that their live stock of all kinds show decided improvement in flesh, milk production, etc., especially is this so with hogs and sheep. Young lambs grow and fatten on it as they do on nothing else, say those who have been using it.

PLANNING SALE OF CHAUTAUQUA TICKETS

GUARANTORS DIVIDE TERRITORY AND WILL MAKE A VIGOROUS DRIVE AT ONCE.

Guarantors of the Chautauqua ticket sale met Tuesday and planned a vigorous campaign for the sale of the 750 tickets for which they are pledged. The city and county were divided into districts after the manner of the drives during the war and guarantors in groups of twos were assigned to each territory. These guarantors will sell the tickets for which they have written pledges in their respective territories and in addition canvass for others.

The Chautauqua tent this year will be located on the lot to the east of the County High School, an ideal location, near the center of the city, with plenty of shade and air. The program is one of the most ambitious ever presented to the people of Columbia and Maury county and no trouble whatever is anticipated in the sale of the tickets.

In the list of guarantors published in The Herald yesterday the name of Alfred Fleming Thomas was inadvertently omitted. Mr. Thomas is one of the most enthusiastic supporters of the Chautauqua and has already pledged himself to the sale of not less than fifty adult tickets.

ROAD COMMUTATION TAX DUE ON JUNE 1

MANY OWNERS OF VEHICLES HAVE FAILED TO SETTLE LICENSE FEES FOR THIS YEAR.

Road commutation taxes are due on June 1 and after that date they become delinquent. So far very few have paid this tax in the county but a rush is expected about the first of the month as the penalty is a heavy one. This head tax of $5 is expected to yield in the neighborhood of $15,000 for the road funds during the year. There are many owners of cars and buggies and other wheeled vehicles in the county who have not paid the wheel tax for this year. Some of them have been delinquent since the first of the year. Circuit court convenes next Monday and it is probable that Judge Turner will vigorously call attention in his charge to the grand jury to the vehicle tax law.

that amount. A few years ago Mississippi for $5,200 per mile shipped metal from Illinois and built, according to those who have seen it, the best road to be found anywhere.

Hickman county, where they do business in a business way, and eliminate a lot of things which Maury practices, especially in this connection, for $200,000 built nearly one hundred miles of road.

It's to the same old trait which has manifested itself ever since the days of Cain, "Get something for nothing," which has led many a man into entanglements from which he was never able to extricate himself. Maury county should change her political affiliations to fit her doings to her creed, for centralized power or concentrated wealth stands at variance and in opposition to true democracy.

The traveler today finds at least two advantages of Mr. Rainey's system over the present. Namely, the man who did the traveling did the paying and Mr. Rainey was held accountable to the county authorities. Next thing you know there will be a move on to abolish our county court.

You who do not want something for nothing answer this. What right has Maury county over every other county in the state and union to this $300,000? Suppose that every section of this nation the size and wealth of Maury county should receive $300,000, which according to justice it should have wherein would Maury gain? Again what right has the section from Spring Hill to Mt. Pleasant to take other section's money and build them a boulevard. It's Alex Hamilton's idea on a smaller scale. Legalized robbery.

Maury county has abused the north since the sixties for this very thing and practiced it in its own home. Would it not be wise in county, state and nation to "Render unto Caesar" that which is Caesar's? Respectfully D. M. DELK.

GREAT CROWD AT MEMORIAL SERVICES

ALL DAY SERVICES HELD BY THE CUMBERLAND PRESBYTERIANS AT PLEASANT MOUNT.

An immense crowd attended the memorial day services at the Pleasant Mount Cumberland Presbyterian church on Sunday morning. Dr. W. M. Robinson, who was to have preached was unable to attend and Rev. S. C. Reed, of Pulaski, occupied the pulpit delivering a strong and helpful message to his hearers. After the services the crowd adjourned to the beautiful church lawn where an elaborate basket dinner was most temptingly served by the good women of the church. After dinner there was a delightful song service by the choir and conducted by Dr. Reed.

STRONG SERMON TO GRADUATES OF C. H. S. SUNDAY

DR. MOLLOY GIVES YOUNG FOLKS SOUND AND WHOLESOME WORDS OF ADMONITION.

Beautiful Musical Program Rendered by Choir of First Methodist Church, Other Events of School During the Present Week.

Dr. J. C. Molloy, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, preached the commencement sermon at the County High School on Sunday morning to an audience that packed the spacious auditorium to its limit. Not only was there a large attendance from the city but nearly every section of the county was represented in the large assembly.

The services were participated in by the majority of the churches of the city, the Presbyterian and Methodist pastors having seats on the stage. The musical program rendered by the choir of the First Methodist church was one of unusual beauty, the singing of Miss O'Callaghan being an especially enjoyable feature.

The thirty-seven young ladies and young men who make up the graduating class entered with the members of the faculty in a body and presented a most inspiring scene.

Dr. Molloy's sermon was filled with splendid advice to the young; it was replete with sound and wise admonitions and most helpful suggestions. He especially urged upon his young hearers that they have a purpose in life. He told them their achievements in life would depend almost altogether upon their will to win. His sermon was full of historical illustrations to prove that man could, if he would, rise superior to heredity and environment that might handicap him.

The school will finally end its session on Thursday morning when diplomas will be presented to thirty-seven graduates and the address of the occasion will be delivered by Dr. Edwin Mims. On Wednesday the class day exercises will be held. On Friday night will occur the annual banquet of the Alumni Association.
