

OPPORTUNITY TO EX-SERVICE MEN FOR EDUCATION

PROF. BYNUM, OF FEDERAL REHABILITATION DEPARTMENT, VISITS THE COUNTY.

WOUNDED MEN IN TRAINING

More Disabled Soldiers from Tennessee Entitled to Benefits of Law Than in Any Other State of the South—Advantages of Service.

(From Wednesday's Daily Herald.)

Prof. R. L. Bynum, in charge of the Nashville office of the federal vocational training and rehabilitation service, is here today for the purpose of seeing the soldiers of this county who are eligible for vocational training because of disabilities in the world war and those who have made application and are in need of advice.

Prof. Bynum has charge of the counties of Middle and West Tennessee and has already placed a large number of the disabled soldiers in training. Under the law the soldiers who are eligible may have the vocational training in some institution or they may get it at home in some approved shop. Two of three have been trained in auto mechanics in the shops of Columbia.

There are about 5,000 disabled soldiers in the state eligible for the government's rehabilitation service and some 2,000 are now in training, the largest number being at the University of Tennessee where there are about 150. Prof. Bynum said that Tennessee had more soldiers eligible for the service than any state in the South due to the tremendous casualties of the Tennessee units in the thirtieth division. The losses in wounded in the 117th infantry were very heavy. East Tennessee leads the remainder of the state in the number of soldiers in training and in those who are eligible.

Prof. Bynum is one of the veterans among the educators of the state. He served many years as county superintendent of Madison county, was for a long time the head of the schools of Jackson and was for several terms on the state board of education. During his stay here Prof. Bynum conferred with County Superintendent Graham and City Superintendent Harris.

ADVICE TO FARMERS FOR COMING MONTH

THINGS THAT CAN BE PROFITABLY ATTENDED TO DURING NEXT FOUR WEEKS.

Behind every industry or business that prospers there is a certain amount of planning ahead and system. One of the great needs of the farming industry at the present time is more farmers who can and will plan ahead, keep accounts and put system into the business. In other words the farmer should put the same business principles into practice on his farm that the merchant does in running his store. The beginning of the new year is a good time to begin putting business into farming. The specialists of the division of extension make the following suggestions of things to do on the farm in January.

With the "crops-in" system into your cropping. Get on the solid foundation of lime, phosphate, legumes and manure for profitable crops. Grow big crops and not small ones; the heavier the top growth, the more roots and stubble are left for the soil.

Bumper crops well limed, fertilized and rotated, add vegetable matter to the soil—the bigger they grow the more they add. You can start the crop rotation almost any time of the year. Why not the first part?

Buildings and equipment—See your agricultural agent about building plans for the year. Repair, paint and get machinery in order. Saw lumber for new buildings. Tie and lace belting.

GIVING BABY ITS BATH IN VIENNA

NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—Only babies under a year old may have a bath in Vienna, according to a report received at the headquarters of the European Relief Council here. The cost of wood is so high that it precludes the use of hot water at home, so the babies are taken to one of the relief stations run by the European Relief Council, and there obtain both hot baths and milk.

The government controlled price of milk is being cut and fifty-eight kronas a tin and with the reduced purchasing power of Australian currency this price is so prohibitive that only the wealthy can afford to give babies condensed milk. No parent, no matter how great his influence, can obtain milk for his baby after it is two and a half years old—the age set by the Australian government for putting babies on a solid food diet.

Dr. W. B. Taylor performed the ring ceremony in a very impressive manner.

The Martin home was beautifully decorated for the occasion. In the parlor, an altar of ferns, smilax and white narcissus, with white tulle love knots were gracefully arranged, with waxen tapers shedding a soft glow over the beautiful scene. In the halls and dining room the Christmas idea was featured in the decorations. The table was exquisite in lace drapery, with a center piece of a silver vase filled with Richmond red roses.

Proceeding the ceremony a musical program was rendered by Mrs. R. L. Martin, of Athens, Ala., as vocalist, and Mrs. Lee Thomas, pianist, the latter playing the wedding music.

Mrs. J. B. Garner, a cousin of the bride, was the matron of honor. She wore a costume of brown silk velvet lace trimmed with hat to harmonize, and carried a bouquet of Ophelia roses.

The bride entered on the arm of her brother, Norman Martin, of Chicago, while Lester Branham, of Nashville, acted as best man.

LIVELY DEMAND FOR MULES HERE MONDAY

EXPECTED THAT FULL BOARD OF BUYERS FROM SOUTHERN STATES WILL BE ON MARKET.

Just how the January mule market will open here Monday is impossible to predict, but dealers believe the offering will be large and an enormous crowd is expected in the city on that day. It is not expected that the high prices prevailing last January will be paid here Monday for the long eared animals, but it seems certain that the decline in mule prices will not be out of line with the declines in other commodities. Both cotton and sugar prices are down, and it is to be expected naturally that mules to be used in the growing of these crops will be cheaper also.

Local mule dealers are expecting buyers from the south here Monday, and a lively demand for the hybrids is expected, but the market will be nothing like as lively as in January 1920, when a new record for volume of business was established.

AUTOMOBILE LICENSE TAGS NOW SELLING

PENALTY ACCRUES AFTER JANUARY 1, AND CAR OWNERS URGED TO BUY NOW.

(From Tuesday's Daily Herald.)
The sale of 1921 automobile license numbers has begun with a rush at the office of County Clerk Lipscomb, and it is expected that the office will be literally swamped with automobile owners from now on, as the tax is due and payable on January 1, the penalty accruing after that date. Those who use automobiles on any street or county road after January 1 with the old license tag are subject to arrest, and to the payment of the penalty inflicted by law.

There are now nearly 1,800 automobiles in the county, and those who delay in securing tags until the first day of the year will likely find themselves caught in the rush at the clerk's office, and they are advised to "do their number shopping early."

FOURTEEN HUNDRED RABBITS DELIVERED

That rabbits are still plentiful in Maury county, and that hunters have taken advantage of the holidays to hunt the "hare" is made evident by the receipts at a local produce house yesterday, when fourteen hundred rabbits ready for the market were delivered by dealers in this section.

We Thank You

For making the year 1920 the most prosperous year in the history of our business and especially are we appreciative of the splendid trade given us during the Christmas holiday shopping. We assure you that we will always endeavor to maintain our present high standard of stocks. Again thanking you and wishing for you a prosperous and Happy New Year.

We are yours to command

WHO MUST MAKE INCOME REPORT FOR NEXT YEAR

LIST OF PERSONS REQUIRED TO FILE SCHEDULES WITH COLLECTOR OF REVENUE.

THOSE WHO WILL BE EXEMPT

Interesting information is given Taxpayers by Deputy Collector Irving G. Peebles of This District—Penalties Attached.

(From Wednesday's Daily Herald.)
Deputy Collector Irving Peebles, of this district, this morning enumerated the persons who, under the revenue laws, must make income tax reports:

Every single man, whether bachelor, widower or separated from his wife must make an income report if his income is equal to $1,000.00; if he is single and has dependents his report will show whether he is subject to tax; the report is required whether a tax is due or not. If single and has dependents, dependents income must be included as his own.

Every married man whose income is equal to $2,000.00 must make an income report; every man and wife who have joint income that amounts to $2,000 must make a report, it does not matter how many children a man has, or what claim he has for dependents, if his and his wife's income equals $2,000 the report is required.

A single man has $1,000 exempt from income tax; he can also claim $200 each for all dependent persons who receive their chief support from him who are under eighteen years of age or who are physically or mentally defective if over that age; a single man is "head of a house" if he maintains a home and supports therein one or more persons wholly dependent upon him. Being "head of a house," however, or having dependents will not relieve a single man from making an income report, no matter how many dependents he has, if he has an income of $1,000.

A married man has $2,000 exempt from an income tax for himself and wife, in addition to that he has $200 for each child under eighteen or who is mentally or physically deficient, regardless though of the amount that is exempt from taxation on account of dependents, he is required to make a report if he and his wife have a joint income that is equal to $2,000.

Penalties are applied for failure to make a report as well as for failure to pay the tax.

Every partnership of any kind whatsoever, whether they are making money or losing money, must make an income report. Partnerships do not pay any income tax; the various members of the partnerships pay the tax as individuals; no partnership is exempt from making an income report.

Every person making payment to another person of fixed and determinable income of $1,000 or more during the taxable year must make a report of same showing to whom the payment is made, the address of the payee and whether the payee is single, married or head of a family, if the information is obtainable. This applies to payments of salaries, wages, commissions, rents, interest, etc.

Forms for the above reports can be obtained by application to the office of Collector of Internal Revenue, Nashville, Tenn. The following are the numbers:

Income reports for incomes of $5,000, or less No. 1940 A.

Income reports for more than $5,000 No. 1040.

Income reports for partnerships No. 1065.

Income reports for information reports Nos. 1095 and 1099.

Income reports for corporations No. 1120.

JAPAN NOW MODERN AND CRAFT ABOUNDS

OFFICIALS AND CONTRACTORS HAVE BEEN MAKING MERRY WITH CITY'S FUNDS.

By HENRY KINNEY.
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)
TOKYO. (By Mail)—The city of Tokyo has been excited by the discovery of widespread graft in the municipal government. Numerous arrests have already been made and the police say that many more will follow. Captain Shirotki, chief of the criminal investigation section of the police says that he feels certain that there is not a single municipal enterprise in the Japanese capital which will not show irregularities.

The investigation so far has concerned itself mainly with the street improvement and sewer departments of the city government. The persons arrested include a number of officials and contractors. It has been found that exorbitant sums have been paid by certain officials for the gravel which is the principal material used in road and street construction, large bribes having been given freely by groups of contractors. Graft has shown in the construction of the new great Meiji shrine, opened with great pomp in commemoration of the late emperor. This made a great impression on the people, who feel that at least that enterprise should have been immune.

In Japan, which like most other countries in the Orient, is the home of "commissions" and similar gifts and presents which would be termed graft in western countries, official penchants of this kind must be extremely vicious before they attract attention. The police say, however, that in this case they intend to investigate to the bottom. In this they are backed by Count Oki, minister of justice, who says that both Tokyo and Kyoto, the former capital, are rotten with graft.

ANNIVERSARY OF METHODISTS TO BE CELEBRATED

WEEK'S PROGRAM ARRANGED BEGINNING SUNDAY AT THE FIRST CHURCH HERE.

BISHOP ATKINS TO BE IN LIST

Dr. Stoves, Col. John Emmett Edgerton and Other Strong Men Among the Ministers and Laymen Will Be Heard During Coming Week.

(From Wednesday's Daily Herald.)
Beginning on next Sunday morning the First Methodist church will observe the centenary of its establishment as a station of the Tennessee conference. This event occurred 100 years ago last October and the celebration will be in commemoration of that fact.

The exercises will last at the local church for a solid week with exercises every night. Some of the "big guns" of the Southern Methodist church will be on the program which has been arranged by Dr. W. B. Taylor, the pastor.

Among the distinguished speakers will be Bishop Atkins, possibly Bishop Candler, Dr. Stoves, of West End, Nashville, Methodist church and Col. John Emmett Edgerton, president of the Tennessee Manufacturers association, and one of the leaders among the laymen of the church. Col. Edgerton directed the work of the great missionary campaign in this conference two years ago.

Methodists here are looking forward with great interest to this week's celebration which marks a milestone in the achievements of the church in this section of the state. The First church here, outside of two or three churches in Nashville, now has the largest membership of any church in the Tennessee conference. Not only that its annual budget is among the largest in the conference and it has for many years more than met every financial call made upon it.

The public, irrespective of denominational preference, will be invited to hear the strong men of the church discuss the great problems of the present day in the light of the experience and achievements of the past.

WHEAT CROP IS LOOKING BETTER

Maury county wheat is looking somewhat better than it did a month ago, and still is not up to the average for this time, according to reports from the county. The crop, sown this fall in dust, did not sprout well and has not grown well. However, there has been little cold weather to injure the crop this winter, and it is believed that with favorable conditions the crop will show material improvement before spring.

NO MAIL DELIVERIES ON SATURDAY EXPECTED

CARRIERS WHO WORKED CHRISTMAS DAY WILL LIKELY TAKE NEW YEAR'S HOLIDAY.

(From Wednesday's Daily Herald.)
It is expected that the Columbia post office will be closed Saturday, and that rural route carriers will make no deliveries of mail on that day, Saturday being New Year's Day, and generally observed throughout the United States by the postoffice department as a legal holiday. Deliveries of mail were made on Christmas day by route carriers because of the unusual rush of mail at that time, New Year's Day being observed instead.

REALTY TRANSFERS WILL SHOW SLUMP

With only two more days of the present year remaining, indications are that the realty transfers for December will fall considerably below those of the corresponding month of last year, and it is certain that the sales of realty during the year 1920 will be materially under those of 1919, which shattered all past records with a volume of business amounting to more than $4,000,000.

TWO DIVORCES AT CHRISTMAS TIME

Happiness unalloyed did not reign in matrimonial circles in Maury county at Christmas for on Christmas eve two divorce bills were filed and final decrees of the dissolution of the ties supposed to be taken until "death us do part" were entered in the chancery court. But there were more than the usual number of marriages to offset
