MISSIONARY WORK.

Annual Meeting of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society.

Eager to learn the thirtieth annual report in their work the delegates of the Woman's Missionary Society of the Memphis conference met in the beautiful little city of Newbern, June 15. One presiding elder and several pastors were present, lending their encouragement to the meeting. The annual sermon was preached by Rev. A. J. Meaders, of Trenton.

Prominent among the visitors present were Miss Daisy Davis, traveling secretary for the young people's work, and Rev. C. G. Hounshell, a missionary in Korea. Each of these made stirring appeals for the practical application of our religion to the problem of sending the Gospel to the eight hundred thirty-six million, seven hundred thirty-two thousand people that know not Christ. The theme of Miss Davis' talks might be expressed in these words, spoken by her, "We are tired of talking of the faithful few and we want now to be able to talk of the faithful many."

One fact stated by Rev. Hounshell, it would seem, should be sufficient to arouse the most unbelieving to an acknowledgement of the truth that missions pay. This statement was that twenty-five years ago Korea knew nothing of Christ, while to-day there are two hundred thousand active christians; and the little Hermit Kingdom has been in a constant state of revival for the past five years. He characterized it as the center of the heathen world and the Koreans as the people who seemed destined to carry the glad tidings of salvation to their idol-serving neighbors. Ten new men and perhaps as many women are needed to properly carry on the work we have started there.

The reports of the corresponding secretary and treasurer of the Conference Society indicate increased interest. The support of three new Bible women and eleven new scholarships were assumed during the year. Nine new societies have been organized, ninety mission study classes have been carried on. One new missionary, Miss Hood, of Brownsville, has been sent to the field. The Conference Society, during the year, paid $10,889.01, which is a decided increase over last year's gifts. The Butler Vanguards, of Memphis, paid one thousand dollars of this amount.

Next year the conference is to meet in Clinton, Ky. With stronger convictions that this work of missions is the reasonable service of every one who knows Christ, and with hearts pledged to more complete surrender of time and money to this noble work, the delegates and visitors, on the 18th, turned their faces homeward, feeling that it was good to be in Newbern at such a gathering for such a purpose.

Special Moving Pictures.

On next Wednesday afternoon and night, June 30, Mr. Frank Cox will put on special moving pictures at the Lyric for the benefit of a mountain school in the mountains of East Tennessee, which is being built by the women of the Christian Church for the purpose of educating the poor children of the mountain section of our State. This arrangement is made under the auspices of the Ladies Missionary Society of the First Christian Church, this city. The finest pictures of the season will be exhibited. Admission only 10 cents. Go out and help in this good cause.

Stop at Carter's for fresh groceries, cold drinks and take a look at the fruit flowered dishes.

New Church at Troy.

Contracts for plans and specifications have been made with a well known architect at Knoxville for a new church building for the A. R. Presbyterian congregation at Troy. The building will be erected on the lot occupied for many years by J. S. Moffatt & Sons. J. S. Moffatt was probably the first merchant in the county, at least one of the first, and sold goods there before the war. The lot is located on the east side of the public square and has been vacated for a number of years. The building will cost $6,000 or more.

Now is the time to get summer prices on coal. Call 150.

Wheat Threshing is Good.

Wheat harvest in the great Obion wheat belt is on. Several threshers started Wednesday, Col. G. S. Hardy being the first farmer to get to the market. None has been offered for sale at the time of going to press, but it is said No. 2 will open about one dollar. The acreage this year is small, but the sample is very good.

Broom Drill.

Don't forget the broom drill this afternoon (Friday) at 4 o'clock, at the corner of Church and First streets. The same thing will be repeated at the park at night. A special musical program. It's all free. Be on hand, bring your friends. The ladies of the Civic League will entertain you.

New collars just received; also new midsummer hats, at Mrs. Arnns's.

The Corn.

The year 1909 at the present writing promises to break all records for producing corn in Obion County. The acreage is large and prospects indicate an average of from fifty to sixty bushels. The weather is good and the people are working.

Wells Bros., Main street, for nice cold drinks and lunches.

Money to Loan.

I loan money at the rate of 5 per cent. per annum on farm lands in Obion and Weakley counties, Tenn., and in Fulton County, Ky. About one-half the cash value of a farm will be loaned. Loans made in sums of $1,000 or more for five years with privilege to borrower of paying same after one year in full or making any size partial payment desired at intervals of six months after the expiration of one year, interest being stopped on partial payments made. Call on or write O. SPADLIN, Attorney-at-Law, Union City, Tenn.

The Sigel Horror.

It was not Miss Elsie Sigel's zeal in the cause of Christianity that brought her to so horrible an end, but her failure to separate her missionary endeavor from social mixture with people of an inferior race. Possibly her missionary labors might have been of greater avail if she had led her converts to understand that it was their spiritual benefit as the result of faith in Christ only about which she was concerned.

There was a great contrast between Miss Sigel's method of dealing with these Chinese heathen and that of the young women of the South in the old plantation days who read the Bible and administered to the spiritual wants of the black slaves. Thousands of zealous missionaries have labored for years in China, Africa and heathen lands and reared families there without contracting marital alliances with the natives or meeting them on such terms as would make such a thing possible. Ministers of the gospel who go into the Chinese quarters of New York or San Francisco do not find social equality necessary in the prosecution of their work, and do not have the Chinamen intimate in their families.

It is evident that Miss Sigel had suffered some degree of degradation from her association with these Asiatics. Her methods in dealing with them had served more to drag her to their level than to elevate them to hers. She had become infatuated with the Chinaman who is chiefly suspected of her murder, and there seem to be reasons to believe that at least one other of the race was in love with her. Jealousy and even lower motives appear to have led to the shocking tragedy that ended her life. She had gone entirely out of the field of legitimate missionary work, and that noble endeavor should suffer no criticism because of the fate that has befallen her.

"Go ye and preach to all nations," was the behest of the Master to the apostles, and but for the fervent and undaunted zeal with which this command was carried out the world would have remained pagan. The command is imperative on the followers of Christ and will be until the religion of love, as is said in Bishop Heber's good old missionary hymn—

"Like a sea of glory
Has spread from pole to pole."

The unconquerable spirit of the missionary was the sacred fire that spread Christianity and made it such a beneficial force in the world. It cannot be decried, and it must not be discounted by confounding it with such distasteful and degraded sentiment as that which led to the revolting New York incident.—Nashville Banner.
