WORRIED WIVES READ THIS

Half Sick, Cross Husbands Will Be Helped by Gude's Pepto-Mangan.

Is he "cross as a bear" when he comes home? Is he nervous and a bit pale and always tired? You can help him back to health with Gude's Pepto-Mangan. He is run-down, and Pepto-Mangan, the wonderful blood tonic with the right kind of iron in it, will build him up. Help your husband get plenty of red blood and he will be well and good natured again and stronger, too. Good blood, good health, makes happy good humor—that is the way it goes. If you don't give him some kind of a tonic he will probably get worse—they usually do. Go to the drug store and ask for Gude's Pepto-Mangan in liquid or tablet form. It is pleasant to take and works wonders if taken daily for a few weeks.

Mr. Beauchamp McConnell, of St. Louis, was a visitor at home in Union City with his mother, Mrs. A. M. McConnell, and family during the holidays.

OFFICE OF R. H. RUST UNION CITY, TENN.

January 5, 1922.

TO THE CITIZENS OF UNION CITY:—

Permit me to take this opportunity of addressing you relative to my candidacy for Alderman in the election to be held January 7th, 1922. On account of the shortness of the time before election it will be impossible for me to see every voter in person, hence I am taking this method of reaching everyone.

If honored with your vote and elected an Alderman, I make this solemn promise now to give you an honest administration of the affairs of this city so far as my part goes, based on what I conceive to be a sound, efficient, business administration.

As to political factions or fights, I do not think it necessary to discuss this issue, for in reality it is not an issue, for factionalism is dead in Union City, and it is useless to discuss dead issues. I believe in discussing live ones.

I believe in a government of the people, for the people and by the people, and if elected I want my election to come from the people as a whole, with the voters as a whole to express their choice at the polls on election day in a free and untrammelled manner, and if elected I am tied to no man or set of men.

At heart I am progressive in all things, whether it be private, civic or public affairs, and I bow to no man or set of men on this point. In considering public improvements or progressive measures, I shall be governed in my judgment on these matters by conditions and the will of a majority of the people that I necessarily would be representing. And in spending the city's money I would feel it my solemn duty to spend it as cautiously and judiciously as I would my own. I firmly believe in a bigger and better public school free from any entangling political alliance, and summing it all up, I believe and am for a bigger, better and more aggressive Union City, with my hopes pinned to a city of ten thousand happy and contented people by 1925.

If you honor me with your vote, I want to assure you it will be appreciated indeed. However, should you elect to vote for some one else, I am reassured that I will bow to your will graciously and without feeling on my part.

Thanking you for whatever consideration you may give to my candi-and sincerely yours,

R. H. RUST

"Those Who Dance Must Pay The Fiddler"

There's a settlement in profit or loss, for nearly every indulgence.

Sometimes the pay day is long deferred, and in that case the settlement may bear compound interest.

Often a payment in ill health is required for the dance had with tea or coffee during earlier years. Sometimes the collection comes in sleeplessness, sometimes in headaches, sometimes in high blood pressure, or in nervous indigestion—sometimes in all these penalties.

Nerves won't always stand the whipping of tea and coffee's drug, caffeine.

If you've been dancing to tea or coffee's fiddling, why keep on till payment time comes? If you're beginning to pay, now, why not cancel the contract?

here's an easy and pleasant way to avoid tea and coffee's penalties, as thousands have found who have changed to Postum. It is a delight with any meal—rich, comforting and satisfying—and it never harms. Even the little children can have a breakfast cup of Postum, with no fear for what may happen to sensitive nerves.

Instead of paying penalties for your meal drink, let it pay benefits to you, by giving your health a full change and begin the new year today. Any restaurant will give you a Postum.

Postum comes in two forms: the original Postum and the new Postum.
