LOUISVILLE BOOSTERS COMING TO THIS CITY

Party Tours Western Kentucky and West Tennessee on Special Train; 125 in Crowd, Including Louisville Mayor and High Railroad Officials

BAND CONCERT--SOUVENIRS PROMISED

An interchange of views on subjects of mutual interest, cementing of existing friendships and the making of new ones are the purposes of the tour of Western Kentucky and West Tennessee by members of the Louisville Board of Trade from May 22 to 26.

Thirty-three cities and towns in the territory chosen for the trip will be visited by the party, which will travel in a special train. Mayor Huston Quin, representing the City of Louisville, and presidents of three railroads will be in the party. The latter include Wible L. Mapother, of the L. & N., C. H. Markham, of the Illinois Central, and R. N. Hudson, of the L. H. & St. L.

There will be about 125 in the Louisville party, including business men, a large band, a corps of speakers and newspaper men. While the necessity of conforming to a railroad schedule will result in stops of varying length being made at the different points on the route, there will be an exchange of greetings and a brief program at each stop.

The party will leave Louisville on the night of May 22, and the first stop will be in Paris, Tenn., on the following morning. Cities and towns in West Tennessee will be visited on May 23, with a night stopover at Memphis. On the second day out, the party will visit points in West Tennessee and Western Kentucky, spending the night in Paducah. On the 25th, the day's schedule will be terminated by a night stopover at Henderson, and the party will return to Louisville late in the evening of May 26.

Problems of commercial and agricultural development, good roads, education, transportation and marketing will be the themes of addresses to be delivered by the Louisville speakers.

"The problems of Western Kentucky and West Tennessee are our problems," President F. M. Sackett, of the Board of Trade, said in a recent discussion of the trip. "Our progress and prosperity is linked with that of the agricultural interests of Kentucky and Tennessee. Our business men always look forward to these trips as opportunities to renew friendships resulting from pleasant trade relations."

Louisville's diversified commercial and industrial interests will be strikingly emphasized by the personnel of the party. There will be heads of manufacturing firms producing an almost endless variety of products and of jobbing houses catering to the needs of merchants in practically every line of business. Civic welfare organizations will be well represented on the trip.

A booklet describing Louisville's importance as a business and manufacturing center, and its advantages as a city of parks, homes, schools, churches and recreational opportunities will be the souvenir distributed by the Louisville Board of Trade. Many of the business men will distribute individual souvenirs.

F. M. Sackett, president of the Board of Trade, will be the official head of the party. A world of details to insure the trip being a success from every standpoint have been worked out by the committee in charge, of which Louis K. Webb, of the Cumberland Telephone Company, is chairman. William E. Morrow, secretary of the Louisville Board of Trade, will be director of information on the trip.

COMMENCEMENT OF UNION CITY SCHOOLS

Rev. Hudgins' Baccalaureate Sermon and Other Exercises.

It must have been a source of gratification not only to the Superintendent of the City Schools, Mr. Ranck, but to the minister, Rev. J. L. Hudgins, who was formerly pastor of the Cumberland Presbyterian Church in Union City, and the entire faculty and patrons and friends of the City Schools to witness the general attendance of so large a crowd as that assembled last Sunday morning at the Methodist Church for the occasion of the baccalaureate sermon by Rev. Hudgins. Not since the days of Annual Conference, probably, has there been so large a crowd in the church.

The members of the 1921-22 class, U.C.H.S., were seated on the organ platform facing the audience and the church was decorated with flowers appropriate to the occasion.

Rev. Hudgins took his text as follows: "Behold how great a matter a little fire kindleth"—James 3:5.

There are three general elements of things material. One is fire, and there is enough ignition in a single match to destroy the world. Another is water, and a single drop may be employed to explode all the combustible material in existence.

Then we have the element of human life, and here the minister undertook to reveal the hand of God in the work of creation. The soul is not a possession of man, but the soul is man, and God, in his divine wisdom, saw in universal creation the development of civilization and the expansion of the soul. Therefore man is an instrument in the divine plans. Man, with limited vision, was able to see only the beginning of these plans, but God saw the completion of the work instituted, and he saw also the glorification of man and the upbuilding of the Spiritual Kingdom.

The minister quoted the epochal periods of the civilization of mankind, beginning with Abraham and proceeding with Joseph, the deliverance of his chosen people; then with Moses, the lawgiver; further on with Esther and Ruth, and then with the great apostle Paul. Coming on down he spoke of Martin Luther; and now he gives us a man of the world, but one who was directed by the hand of God—Christopher Columbus—in the discovery of the new world. Abraham Lincoln was used in the emancipation of the world from slavery, and Frances Willard in delivering the human race from alcoholism.

This sermon was applied to the class and in the work before them in the general Christian civilization of the world. There is only one civilization and that is Christian civilization.

The sermon was listened to with rapt attention and interest by the large audience, and skepticism as well as indifference bowed its head in reverence to the wisdom of the minister's words.

plans for its operation. This stimulated the discussion of one of the greatest enterprises Union City has launched in some time, and the fact that so many are interested certainly presages great things for this association. In another column is a notice of the organization.

Mr. Harmon, a guest of Mr. B. F. Howard, was called on to speak. Mr. Harmon is a general insurance representative from Memphis, and he complimented the spirit of the club. Glad, he said, to sit in the jungle and dine with the king.

LIONS CLUB TALKS ABOUT MANUFACTURE AND FINANCE

Lions Lend Encouragement to Infant Industry.

Mr. Hugh Harris, attending the regular meeting of the Lions last Tuesday called the attention of that body of enterprising citizens to the fact that Mr. Chas. Anderson and Mr. Hugh Harris are conducting a small industry in Union City which has been making fine progress. Mr. Harris reported that with very little outlay the factory, now located in the Dobbins addition, has been making from eighteen to twenty dozen brooms a day, using a ton of corn per week, with very flattering returns. But, in order to buy supplies in car lots and to take advantage of the wholesale prices, it is desired to offer stock for sale in the enterprise and to increase capacity and output. A committee was therefore appointed to assist in the work of increasing capital and in the reorganization of the enterprise.

The commercial committee was named for this work.
Mr. C. E. Beck, president of the Union City Loan and Savings Association, made a statement of the work of the association and of his
