INDIANS STILL DEFY OFFICERS AT SHIPROCK

Gen. Scott Asked to See if He Can Quiet Them; Two Troops From Nebraska.

FORT BLISS ORDER FOR TROOPS ANNULLED

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 19.—Secretary of the Interior Lane issued the following statement today concerning the 13 Navajo Indian outlaws uncamped on Beautiful Mountain, New Mexico, who are defying arrest:

"The sending of troops to capture the Indians was done on advice of Maj. McLaughlin, who for 36 years has been known as the Indian friend. Saturday he sent me the following telegram: 'The United States marshal left for Santa Fe with three of the indicted Navajos, who surrendered, leaving eight of the indicted still in camp. There are seven other Indians with them. I returned here from conference with the Indians at Noel's store, six miles from their mountain camp. This is a natural stronghold. They absolutely refuse to surrender. I recommend that a sufficient force be sent to capture the recalcitrant band. I held a conference,' said secretary Lane, 'with commissioner Sells, of the Indian office, and replied as follows: 'We would greatly respect your use force, and this must be the last resort. I am not favorable to the use of troops if this can be avoided.

Fears Serious Trouble.
"This morning I received Maj. McLaughlin's answer, as follows: 'This recalcitrant band has been defying the authorities since Sept. 17 and have been appealed to by Gen. Dodge Peshlakai and Charley Mitchell, the most influential men of the tribe, also by a majority of other Navajo headmen, to deliver themselves up, but to no avail. It would require 500 men to surround their camp and in my judgment they cannot be starved into submission. They have threatened the lives of friendly Indians and of trader Walker. They have also threatened to burn the agency and sawmill, six miles south of their camp, and kill the white people employed there. They have been defying the law for the last two months. To defer their arrest much longer is liable to bring them supporters from among those who are friendly. The offenders believe that the government is either afraid of them or don't want them arrested and punished by the courts.'

As a result Mr. Lane asked the war department to send troops.
Troops Ordered Sent.
The war department at once acted on the request of secretary Lane and ordered troops.

In the hope however that the excited Indians may be induced to yield peacefully and surrender, the war department ordered Gen. Hugh L. Scott, commanding the Second cavalry brigade at Fort Bliss, to proceed in haste to the Navajo agency to confer with the Indian chiefs.

Gen. Scott May Settle It.
Gen. Scott is singularly influential with the Navajos, whose language he speaks. He has always been regarded by them as their best friend and it is believed that he will be able to placate them.

The general's instructions are to confer with Maj. McLaughlin, the Indian agent, before beginning his conference. To back his mission with a show of force, orders were also sent to Fort Robinson, Neb., to entrain and dispatch to the Navajo agency a full squadron of the Twelfth cavalry to serve as Gen. Scott's escort.

No Troops From Bliss.
Gen. Tasker H. Bliss, commanding the southern military department, was first ordered to dispatch troops from Fort Bliss, but as none could be spared from the honor, the order was changed to the Fifteenth cavalry, just arrived at Fort Bliss, has not had sufficient experience with the new horse just turned over to that regiment by the Second cavalry. It was not deemed expedient to send the troops from Bliss.

Indians Burn Signal Fires.
Farmington, N. M., Nov. 12.—With signal fires blazing at many points on Beautiful Mountain, Nov. 15, Navajo Indians have fortified themselves in open defiance of the Washington government, and with the Indians holding war dances, and singing their ancient war songs, the situation on the Navajo reservation, where an incipient uprising exists, is not deemed to give agent W. F. Shelton, at the Shiprock agency, grave concern.

Agent Shelton has a force of 20 deputies, all heavily armed, on guard at the agency, while Indian police, working in regular shifts throughout each 24 hours doing scout duty, minimize the possibility of a surprise attack by the renegade chiefs, should they attempt an offensive movement.

In the meantime, agent Shelton and Maj. McLaughlin are awaiting the arrival at Shiprock of Gen. Scott, from Fort Bliss, Texas, and the squadron of United States cavalry from Fort Robinson, Neb., with no little apprehensiveness.

DRESS-FITTING IS BARRED BY COURT

Wife of Army Officer Consents to Prove Her Contentment That Dresses She Bought Did Not Fit.
Cheyenne, Wyo., Nov. 15.—A proposal to try on a gown before the throng of curious spectators in the United States district court was promptly squelched today by Judge J. A. Riner. Mrs. Joseph L. Wier, on the most stand in the trial in which she is charged, with her husband, an army officer, with the theft of clothing from Mrs. J. S. DeCl, claimed that dresses which she asserts she bought for a trifling sum from a woman canvasser, did not fit, and that therefore there would have been no object in stealing them.

Her attorney suggested that she try on one of the gowns in open court to substantiate her claim. The witness promptly consented, and there was a momentary flutter of excitement among the spectators. Judge Riner, however, hastily interrupted the proceedings, saying that the demonstration was unnecessary.

Arguments were heard in the case following the close of the testimony, and a verdict was expected before night.

Chief of Police Noble, of Houston, Tex., was a witness of the defiance. The court instructed the jury to find Lieutenant Wier not guilty, no evidence having been produced to connect him with the alleged theft.

MAIL FOR JUAREZ, 500 SACKS, IS HELD

"Villa doesn't seem a bit anxious to get any mail," said postmaster J. A. Smith. "We have 500 sacks of mail for Juarez here. I have gone over to see Villa about it, but it doesn't seem to concern him very much, as he has not done anything toward getting it."

"I believe," they appointed Manuel Bouche Alcala postmaster yesterday, but he has not said anything to us about wanting the Juarez mail. While we are waiting we will open the sacks and take out the mail for the United States. Lots of the mail in these sacks has been bonded through from Mexico, so we will separate that before we send the rest over.
