

ROTARIANS DINE AT SANATORIUM; ARE GUESTS OF DR. HENDRICKS

Are Served With Elaborate Menu at New Institution Where Tuberculosis Is to Be Cured; Fifty-Three Rooms, All With Baths, Sleeping Porches and Tiled and Enameled Walls.

EL PASO Rotarians had one of the jolliest times of their lives Thursday evening at the Hendricks sanatorium, on Government Hill, and the Rotarians have had some jolly times since they organized, a year ago.

The Rotarians were guests of Dr. C. M. Hendricks and H. L. Harvey, owners of the recently completed Hendricks sanatorium, Dr. Hendricks being a member of the club. The guests were shown over the new institution by their hosts and were then entertained at a dinner that Ben Orloff complimented as one that would do credit to any hotel anywhere, and Bert in recognition as knowing a good meal.

An orchestra rendered music during the reception and dinner. Speeches were made for the various members of the club during the evening and toasts were drunk to the hosts. The evening's pleasures ended with three cheers for the hosts and the singing of "He's a Jolly Good Fellow."

The table service of the new institution was used for the first time, as the sanatorium is just completed and has not yet accepted any guests. The silver, glass and china are all of a high class and fully equal to that of the best hotels. The tables were decorated with bouquets of carnations, in cut glass vases. The meal was served by negro waiters in conventional dress and the whole aspect of the place was that of a resort hotel somewhere, not that of a home for sick people.

This idea is carried out throughout the big institution. The living room has the appearance of the living room of a home on a large scale, with a great fireplace at one end, circular stairway on one side, his heavy rockers and settees here and there, a player piano and a Victrola. The floor is hickory wood, highly polished. Off the living room is a library, with another big fireplace, and adjoining the library is a large sun room overlooking El Paso and being old Mount Franklin. The library and living room are finished in hard wood. Bulletin bookcases are a feature of the library.

There are 53 rooms in the place, and every room has a sleeping porch and a tiled bath with a shower in each. All the interior finish is concrete and enamel or tile and the sanitary precautions are modern and advanced. Sun rooms and roof gardens are features of the institution, one of the roof gardens being ample in space for a tennis court in midwinter. The place is steam heated throughout.

Will Bring Money Here. Dr. E. L. Hamoy struck the keynote of the sentiment of the Rotarians after their inspection of the building, when he said at the dinner: "El Paso has for years lost thousands of dollars a year because of its inability to account moderate sufferers from tuberculosis in a manner that appealed to them. Silver City, Phoenix and California have entertained these people, but those with money went past El Paso. Tuberculosis claims more people, perhaps, than any other disease, and it is no respecter of persons. The rich as well as the poor become afflicted. This is a place where the rich and those not so rich can secure such accommodations as a sick person desires. The place is not so expensive that those of moderate means cannot afford it and it is so complete in its appointments and appeal that the rich could ask no better. I predict that this institution will result in bringing many thousands of dollars monthly to El Paso that we do not get now."

Many Praise the Place. Joe Wright, Capt. A. P. Watts, R. B. Orndorff, J. R. Preston, Prof. R. J. Tighe, Prof. S. J. Worrell, Frank R. Simmons, D. C. Booth, J. J. Tyndall, J. M. Leber, G. A. Martin, Sig. N. Schwabe, C. W. Croon, C. H. Pinley, Dean Clark, D. E. Connor and various others added their praise to the institution. Mr. Simmons dwelling particularly upon the sanitary features of the place.

Charles M. Gibson, the architect who planned the building, told of its completeness in every detail—its cold storage system, its pumping plant, dispensary, heating plant, sterilizing plant, hospital ward, and all the modern features that have been installed, and said that in all his experience as an architect he could not say that he ever planned a building where more attention was given by its builders to details for comfort and convenience.

A. E. Howlands, vice president of the Rotary club, who presided in the absence of president Adams, added his praise to the institution and said he believed humanity owed a debt to two men who could plan and carry into execution such a plan for the rest and care of the afflicted.

Arrest of Tuberculosis. Dr. Hendricks, speaking for himself and Mr. Harvey, told of the ambitions they had when they first planned the institution and said he was glad their plans had worked out to such a satisfactory end. He related the history of tuberculosis, which, he said, was older than the Christian era, but declared that it had been but a few years since its cause and treatment had been discovered. He declared that every state west of the Rocky mountains is a monument to the cases of tuberculosis arrested and said that there is no longer any doubt that the disease can be arrested and in thousands of cases, if taken in time and treated properly.

A Natural Sanatorium. The west, Dr. Hendricks declared, is the natural sanatorium for the cure of the disease and El Paso is as favored as any community in the west in this respect. This is proved, he said, by the few cases that have developed here. Only seven such cases have come to the attention of physicians in the past 10 years, he declared, and those were no doubt caused by germs carried in the dust, a result of failure on the part of those afflicted to exercise proper precautions.

Besides the serious speeches, there was much story telling and good natured griping, and, on the whole, the evening was most pleasantly spent. The early part, following the inspection of the building, in front of the cracking log fire in the great living room, while the orchestra rendered various lively airs. When Dr. Hendricks and Mr. Howlands led the company into the dining room, which overlooks a palm decked patio, the orchestra took station outside the room and continued its concert between speeches and stories.

Special Menu Prepared. Menu cards were printed especially in honor of the guests, bearing the Rotary emblem on the front page and the announcement: "Dinner given in honor of the Rotary club by the Hendricks Sanatorium, January 21, 1915." The menu consisted of the following:

- Oyster cocktail
Celery
Sautéed almonds
Ripe olives
Soup, vermouth
Braised filet of beef, au champignons
Asparagus tips, vinaigrette
Shrimp salad, mayonnaise
Cigars
New York ice cream

The members of the Rotary club met at Hotel Sheldon at 8:30 in the evening and proceeded to the sanatorium, in Government Hill, in automobiles. They were received by Dr. Hendricks and Mr. Harvey.

Bride's Poison Attempt Fails to Save Tugwell. Los Angeles, Calif., Jan. 22.—Despite his bride's efforts to save him from conviction, Percy Tugwell was found guilty Thursday morning of murdering Mrs. Maud B. Kennedy. His wife tried to break the chain of circumstantial evidence against him by taking poison in open court to disprove the prosecution's theory that a similar quantity of the poison caused the almost immediate death of Mrs. Kennedy.

The jury fixed Tugwell's punishment at life imprisonment. Bill's Red Winton Six for hire; 1915 model; $3 per hour. Phone 449.—Adv.

MOON GOES ON THE WATER WAGON

Will Not Get "Full" Next Month At All; Makes Up This Month By Being "Full" Twice

In February the moon will not be full and the next time the same thing happens it will be 2,600,000 years hence, so astronomers declare.

The fact that the moon is not to be full in February may be cause for rejoicing by the "dry" if there is anything in the signs of the heavens.

The last time the moon was not full in February was in 1866, the year after a big war, and still again if the signs of the heavens mean anything, it may mean something to the warriors on the blood soaked fields of Europe. During the present month the moon will be full for the second time. It was full on the first and it will get around to the same condition on the 29th. The same applies in March, so, therefore, there is no chance for February to have a full moon.

SIXTH BRIGADE TO STAY AT DOUGLAS; SITE CHOSEN

Douglas, Ariz., Jan. 22.—Brig. Gen. Thomas E. Davis, commanding the sixth brigade of United States troops, which have been at Naco, Ariz., has signed a lease for a tract of 120 acres here as a campsite for the brigade. The troops are to be moved to Douglas from Naco as soon as water mains can be laid to the site, which is just east of the ball park. Staff officers have begun the survey of the site. The city will furnish the water mains. Capt. Cabell, in charge of the brigade quartermaster's department, is arranging for offices and storeroom downtown.

The 9th cavalry has returned from Naco. A squadron of the 10th cavalry, under command of Maj. G. I. Byram, will remain at Naco permanently. The rest of the regiment is returning to Fort Huachuca.

MAN AND FIANCEE, 10,000 MILES APART, ARE MARRIED

Denver, Colo., Jan. 22.—Though 10,000 miles apart, Miss Eugenia Campbell, of Colorado Springs, and John Fletcher Scholton, of the island of Java, were married Thursday night. The marriage was performed by proxy, Rev. David Fousse performed the ceremony here, and a newspaper reporter was the proxy bridegroom.

The proxy wedding was authorized by the Dutch government through the Dutch consul at St. Louis, and was arranged in order to evade the immigration laws of Java, which require that two months must elapse before an immigrant may marry.

Mrs. Scholton will leave in a few days for San Francisco, from where she will sail for Java to join her husband.

REMEMBERING ADMIRAL DEWEY, SPAIN WENT SEND BATTLESHIP

Madrid, Spain, Jan. 22.—Because admiral Dewey will be present, the Spanish government has decided not to send the battleship Espana to the Panama-Pacific exposition at San Francisco. The government is apprehensive of some untoward incident.

When the government first agreed to send the battleship, it was not known that admiral Dewey, the American destroyer of the Spanish fleet at Manila bay, in the Spanish-American war, was to be present.
