LOCALETTES.

Candidates are multiplying and a number of shadows are cast before those who are yet to announce.
A man named Williams was arrested yesterday at his home on Throckmorton street on the charge of wife-beating.

City Marshal Res informs GAZETTE reporter that the arrest of the men Poole, Lampton and Cox, charged with horse-stealing, has been the means of locating seven stolen horses.
The name of the doctor killed in Alvarado night before last was Allen and not Moseley as stated in yesterday's GAZETTE.

THE ROSEDALE COMPANY. FIRE INSURANCE.

From the Hospital to the Race-Track Without Change of Cars.
Whatever may be the outcome of the present legal difficulties between the rival street-car lines in this city, the officers of the Rosedale company will gain considerable admiration for the pluck with which they have fought a strong opposition.

The Text-Book Question.

Like the ostrich hiding its head, simply believing then its whole body is concealed, the selection of the books of two, three or four publishing companies is just what the companies wish.

As to Telephones.

"The Longview Surprise publishes a letter from J. K. Dunbar, general superintendent of the Erie, addressed to the manager of the exchange at Longview, in which he speaks as follows of the Pan-Electric exchange in this city: 'Their exchange at Fort Worth is giving miserable satisfaction, and will soon drop to pieces of its own inefficiency.'

MORRIS--At 4:15 yesterday afternoon, February 1, at the Grandview hotel, Carl B., son of John and Carrie Morris, died of pneumonia, aged 19 months and 19 days.

The deceased was an only son, and the idol of his parents. He was an unusually bright child and a general favorite of all the permanent guests of the hotel.

The funeral services will take place from the Grandview hotel at 3 p. m. today. The friends and acquaintances of the family are respectfully invited to attend.

DUKE--At 7 o'clock yesterday morning at his residence on Thirteenth street, John W. Duke died very suddenly of congestion of the bowels.

The deceased was a saloon-keeper, and retired the previous night at 12:30, apparently in ordinary health. He was seized with a pain in the bowels about 3:30 o'clock. Dr. Field was summoned, but could do nothing to stay the rapid death.

New Orleans is all the talk here. Everybody intends going some time.

A Verdict of Not Guilty.
WILKESBARR, PA., Feb. 1.--The trial of Tom Mullen, Polk Kennedy, John Loughney and Tom Haley for the murder of D. J. Williams closed yesterday evening. The jury late last night returned a verdict of not guilty.

Well, the man is not exactly in the poor-house, but he might as well be, for he makes his home the poorest kind of a house and everybody in it as wretched as himself.
