

SENSATION OF THE DAY.

claim to have received to the Princess Louise's first reception. The entire family affected the English custom to a remarkable extent and by their bigotry of English ideas they alienated several persons who were otherwise inclined to be friendly.

THE ENGLISH CONSUL INTERVIEWED. J. Pierpont Edwards, the British consul, was asked to-day if the British representatives had taken any action whatever relating to Mrs. Dudley's case. He replied that he did not know why the British authorities should act voluntarily in the matter.

OTTAWA, ONT., Feb. 3.—In the house of commons last night great excitement was caused among the members by the receipt of the news of the shooting of O'Donovan Rossa. It was first stated that he had been killed and when further intelligence stated that he was not dangerously wounded the feeling of disappointment was very marked.

DYNAMITERS AT PITTSBURG. PITTSBURG, PA., Feb. 3.—The Chronicle-Telegraph this afternoon says that it has come to knowledge from secret agents that the Socialists have stored arms and dynamite and are ready for outbreaks and attacks on the capitalists.

A SENSATION IN PITTSBURG. PITTSBURG, PA., Feb. 3.—The publication of a lengthy article in the Chronicle-Telegraph this afternoon, in which it was asserted that there was an organization of dynamiters in this city who were armed and waiting for a pretext for an outbreak, created great excitement among the timid, and considerable alarm. The story, as published, is as follows:

Within the past two weeks information has been obtained, piece by piece, which shows that here in Pittsburgh there is a smoldering volcano ready to break forth at any propitious moment. This information is to the effect that dynamiters are armed and supplied with explosives and ready to cause an outbreak whenever a favorable opportunity presents itself.

For several months Russian and English spies have been at work in Pittsburgh and vicinity endeavoring to learn who are in sympathy here with the Irish dynamiters. Pittsburgh for a long time has been the source of a large revenue to the dynamiters.

Nine workmen out of every ten of those who are out of employment are socialistically inclined. There are at this moment several thousand men in this country who would not stop at anything which would carry out their views as to the right of the poor man.

There has been no hesitation on their part to talk openly in meetings and in the press. These men have gathered kindred spirits from Chicago, from the Hocking valley and from the anthracite and bituminous coal mines of the western part of the state.

These men have been drifting into the city singly and in pairs for a month or more. They have come here they say for work but in reality to take a hand at any movement of plunder and revolt against the law that may be organized. Within the past three weeks from a thousand to fifteen hundred GUNS AND REVOLVERS have been received by men in this city.

Some come with money from Canada, others from Western points and some from the Eastern cities. These arms have been put into the hands of only those whose character is known and who can be relied on. In addition to these arms a large quantity of dynamite has been obtained by the revolutionists.

Some of this was brought from other points and some was made here by men who are now doing this sort of work for the first time. This dynamite is stored in three secret magazines, which are only known to the leaders of the movement. This sounds extravagant and read like wild sensation, perhaps, but it is true, and known to be true by the persons who have interests at stake.

These men complain that they cannot find work, that they are suffering from hunger, and in that plea claim that they are justified in any movement against the millionaires and capitalists. Several of these men have been warned or have discovered the condition of affairs in part or have notified the police that there is an uneasy, restless feeling among them, so the truth can be readily proven.

The police have not been idle. In this movement are all sorts of elements German, Russian, Italian, Swedish, Swiss and French Socialists and revolutionists and Irish dynamiters have joined forces. There are English interests to be reached by Irish dynamiters and English representatives, too, and they know it. A month ago the local Socialists were at swords' points with the Anarchists, pure and simple, now they are warm friends and allies.

A RIOT AMONG THE SOCIALISTS. NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—Two thousand persons gathered at the Socialist meeting last night in Concordia hall on avenue A in the German quarters. It was rumored previous to the meeting that trouble would be caused by Justus Schwab and Herr Most, aided by a number of their adherents, who intended to capture and control the proceedings.

The less ridiculous element of the party, headed by Editor Schelsch of the Volks-Zeitung, were determined to hold the extremists in check. The voluminous circulars printed in English and German, denouncing violence and the Irish dynamite on rage, being widely circulated by Schelsch, excited the Schwab-Most crowd, who in return issued a flaming incendiary appeal applauding the dynamiters and threatening.

WOR TO ENGLAND. Police Capt. McCullough of the Eleventh precinct attended the meeting with a posse of men. Schelsch called the assembly to order, and in such a way that a tumult ensued, in which chairs and clubs were used and revolvers were fired.

The infuriated mob turned on the officers and Capt. McCullough was struck on the head with a chair and knocked down. He regained his feet, and at the point of their revolvers the police kept the mob at bay. The Socialists then wanted to resume their deliberations and supplemented their demands by drawing clubs and pistols.

MANY HEADS WERE CRACKED. With the exception of Officer Rot, who was slightly cut in the face, and a few bruises suffered by Capt. McCullough, none of the policemen were injured. Peter Brown, one of the rioters, had his leg broken and was sent to the hospital.

Justus Schwab was the only man arrested. He skulked away before the riot was over, but McCullough found him in his saloon on First street. He submitted quietly to the arrest. His bail was refused and he was locked up. After the fight a pistol, a dynamite bomb and several short black clubs were found in the hall.

CONGRESSIONAL.

The Senate Substitutes the Cullom for the Reagan Bill.

The House Considers the River and Harbor Appropriation Bill.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—Before the senate met this morning the desk of Riddleberger of Virginia was the center of attraction to visitors and such senators as were in the chamber.

A beautiful harp rested upon it, a tribute, as it is presumed, of Riddleberger's Irish admirers. The harp was over two feet high. The frame was composed of tea-roses, hyacinths, heliotropes and mignonette. The base was of azaleas, euphorbia, lilies and other rare exotics. The strings of the harp were wreathed with smilax.

"Is that a Welsh harp?" Senator Dawes of Massachusetts asked of Senator Jones of Nevada. "No," Senator Jones replied, "it is the harp of Erin."

Mr. Miller of New York presented the credentials of W. M. Everts, elected United States senator from the state of New York. The credentials, which were unusually lengthy, were read.

The chair (Edmunds) stated that the papers read did not contain any certificate from the governor as required by the act of congress. The papers were referred to the committee on privileges and elections.

The senate resumed consideration of the interstate commerce bill. Senators Plumb, Vance, Breck and Cullom were the principals in the debate that followed.

Mr. Maxey favored the Reagan bill. It was a constitutional measure he said and would afford the relief desired.

Mr. Sherman said there was no doubt but that congress had a perfect constitutional right to regulate interstate commerce and elections.

The house bill provides that no discrimination shall be made between passengers on account of race or color but that the furnishing of separate and equally comfortable accommodations should not be deemed discrimination.

Mr. Ingalls moved to strike out all of the provisions except the statement that there should be no discrimination on account of race or color.

Mr. Ingalls' motion was agreed to, thus striking out the proviso regarding separate accommodations. The vote for striking out was 34 to 17.

Mr. Cullom then moved to amend by substituting for the house bill the senate or commission bill. Agreed to, yeas, 35; nays, 18.

A motion to adjourn was here made, and the call for yeas and nays disclosed the absence of a quorum. It was unanimously agreed that immediately after the morning business tomorrow the bill should be taken up and debate closed at 3 o'clock, when the final vote on the bill and all amendments should be taken.
