New Tariff Bill Trumped Up Combining the Features of the Morrison and Hewitt Bills.

Secretary Whitney and Admiral Porter Before the House Naval Affairs Committee.

Attorney-General Garland Won't Resign, Neither Will He Relinquish His Pan-Electric Stock.

Will Hold On to Pan.

Special to the Gazette.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—Reports that Attorney-General Garland will resign, and will also relinquish his Pan-Electric stock, are still life, but it is learned on authority that they are incorrect. The attorney general has no intention at present of doing either. He stated to-day that the telephone matter had never been mentioned in a cabinet meeting since last fall, when he made a statement to the president and reduced it to writing at his request. He has not spoken about the matter with any cabinet officer since except in a jocular way.

IN FAVOR OF THE LABORER.

The house labor committee will report favorably to the bill providing that for all personal service rendered by any mechanic, laborer or servant in the District of Columbia and the territories to an amount not exceeding $1000, no property shall be exempt from seizure and sale under execution if action is begun within six months after the last service shall have been rendered.

ITS ONLY SOLUTION.

After a conference between the Democratic members of the committee on ways and means, Speaker Carlisle and other leading Democrats of the house, it has been decided not to report the Morrison bill to the house as originally proposed, but to take up in committee at their meeting next Tuesday a new bill made up of the features of the Morrison and the Hewitt bills. The bill will be freely considered and its provisions agreed upon in committee, and will be reported to the house when ready as a measure based upon the provisions of the Democratic national platform. It is understood that the new bill will not go as far as was originally contemplated, but will be stopped as a compromise measure and as such is expected to receive the united Democratic support. It will make a material reduction in the schedule of iron, textiles, lumber, earthenware and china. The free list will also be materially enlarged by the addition of raw materials of all kinds. Representative Randall and other conservative Democrats after consultation have substantially agreed to oppose any bill reported from the committee, but to allow the bill to pass in the house, thus throwing the whole responsibility on its projectors. The Democratic members of the ways and means committee have agreed upon a tariff bill, contemplating a reduction of about $20,000,000. The bill was drafted by Col. Morrison and is of the general plan of his previous tariff bill.

NOT ALL QUIET YET.

A Big Anti-Chinese Demonstration To Be Held at Portland.

PORTLAND, ORE., Feb. 12.—There are fears of trouble here next Saturday or Sunday similar to that which occurred at Seattle this week. A large convention of anti-Chinese organizations, trades-unions, etc., has been called for Saturday, and Burnett G. Haskell, who styles himself "organizer of the International Workmen's association," and "delegate from the confederated trades and labor organizations of California, Arizona and Nevada," has arrived here, and by common consent has been placed at the head of the movement to expel the Chinese by force. It is thought that an effort will be made to ship them to San Francisco by steamer. There are 3000 Chinese in Portland. The trouble if inaugurated, it is feared, will be on a larger scale than the Seattle affair.

THE STRIKERS.

Everything in statu quo in the Pennsylvania Coal Fields.

LONDON, Feb. 12.—The striking operatives in the hostelry factory in Leicester renewed their riotous demonstrations to-day. They attacked several houses. The police frequently charged the strikers during the day and by night. The strikers smashed many windows and stoned the police. The police of adjacent towns have been reinforced. Many arrests have been made.

THE LOCK-OUT ENDED.

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—The lock-out of the city market, which lasted about four weeks, is at an end. The committee on the equalization of prices having come to an agreement which is satisfactory to the manufacturers and the progressive and central labor unions. All of the progressive and most of the international men returned to work this morning. The members of the progressive union have filed the pieces left vacant by the international union men.

ON THE WAR PATH.

PITTSBURG, PA., Feb. 12.—Six hundred strikers marched from Mt. Pleasant over to the strike to-day, where it was reported a number had been sent under police guard and compelled to work in the mine. A living there it was learned that only a few men had been drawn over, and they organized not to report to work. Superintendent White gave his word that no more work would be done until the strike was over. The strikers departed peaceably, by the way back they caught sight of Robert Hansay, superintendent for the Erie & Co., and they pursued him almost a mile. He finally managed to elude them, and the strikers returned to Mount Pleasant.

Playing at War.

ST. PAUL, MINN., Feb. 12.—The climax in the winter carnival was reached to-night in the final storming of the ice castle by the Grand Army. Over 5000 ice-armed men were in line bearing torches. They paraded and illuminated the streets, and finally surrounded the castle. Company D, National Guards of Minnesota, deployed as skirmishers and opened fire on the outer wall, for so the gate and the whole army poured through the portals of the castle. The scene was indescribably beautiful. The streets for miles in every direction were lined with people from all parts of the country. It was a most beautiful spectacle and the first storming. The Grand Army and its uniformed line, with torches and music, were marching in front of a row of principal streets. Other features of the carnival will be introduced next week. The palace walls are still solid.

XLIX Congress.

THE HOUSE.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—After the reference of a large number of house bills to the appropriate committees, the speaker proceeded to call the committee reports of a private nature. At the conclusion of the call the house went into committee of the whole. Mr. Hendon of Georgia in the chair, on the private calendar.

At the evening session the house passed 300 pension bills and adjourned until to-morrow.

They Have Fought the Good Fight, They Have Left a Priceless Heritage.

Horatio Seymour, the Honored Captain of Democracy in 1868, Goes to His Reward.

George C. Bates, a Great Whig, Joins the Noble Democrats, Hancock and Seymour, Over There.

DR. FORD'S TELEGRAM.

ROME, N. Y., Feb. 12.—Dr. Ford, the physician attending Horatio Seymour, in a dispatch to a newspaper here, says: There is no improvement in the governor's condition to-day. He is not as strong as yesterday and symptoms are not so favorable because of increasing weakness. His condition is one of uncertainty. He takes so little nourishment—only the smallest sips of milk—and there is such a failure of his digestion that I feel less easy about him than I did yesterday. His mind is clear, though he has a little delirium now and then, as any one would be in his condition. His emotions are somewhat disturbed but his intellect is clear.

DYING.

UTICA, N. Y., Feb. 12, 4 P. M.—EX-GOV. Seymour is thought to be dying. The members of his family have been hastily summoned to his bedside.

MAY DIE AT ANY MOMENT.

UTICA, N. Y., Feb. 12, 4 1/2 P. M.—EX-GOV. Seymour is dying. He can not survive more than an hour, and may die at any moment.

THE DEATH BULLETIN.

UTICA, N. Y., Feb. 12.—EX-GOV. Seymour died at 10 o'clock to-night.

HOW HE DIED.

UTICA, N. Y., Feb. 12.—EX-GOV. Seymour died at 10 o'clock to-night at the residence of his sister, Mrs. Roxane Conkling. He began to fail precisely at 4 o'clock this afternoon. Shortly afterward he rallied a little but relapsed into unconsciousness. During his illness he experienced little if any physical suffering, and to-day he was without pain. His death was cerebral effusion, the usual process of death in old age. As yet no arrangements have been made for the funeral.

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH.

Horatio Seymour, L. L. D., a nephew of Senator Horatio Seymour, was born at Utica, Onondago county, N. Y., on May 31, 1810, and died nearly seventy-six years old at the time of his death. In childhood he removed to Utica. He studied at Oxford and Geneva academies, N. Y., and at Patridge's Military Institute, Middletown, Conn. He was admitted to the bar at Utica in 1832 but soon withdrew from its practice to devote himself to the management of the large estate he inherited by the death of his father. He was a member of the staff of Gov. Marcy, 1833-35; was elected to the state assembly as a Democrat in 1841 and three times re-elected, serving as speaker in 1845. He was chosen mayor of Utica in 1842. He was an unsuccessful candidate for governor in 1850 but was governor in 1855-55. In March, 1854, he vetoed a prohibitory liquor law and was defeated in the election of that year by the Prohibitionist candidate, Myron H. Clark. He was again elected governor of New York as a war Democrat in 1862. He aided materially in suppressing the riots in New York city and afforded efficient co-operation to the government in the war for the Union. In 1864 he was defeated for governor by the election of the Democratic national convention of 1864, and also in 1868, when greatly against his will he was nominated as the candidate of that great party for the presidency, the ticket being Seymour and Blair. He received eighty electoral votes in this contest. He was an honest, upright, fearless man and steadfast Democrat.

George C. Bates Dead.

DENVER, COLO., Feb. 12.—Hon. George C. Bates died here at a late hour last night of inflammation of the bowels, after an illness of less than a week, aged seventy-one years. Bates was a native of New York, moved to Michigan in 1835, and headed a party in opposition to the policy of the general government during the administration of President Jackson. He was one of the organizers of the Whig party, and was made a delegate to the national conventions which nominated Harrison in 1840 and Clay in 1844. He was a close friend of Webster. He was United States district attorney in California under Fillmore. In 1870 he was appointed to a similar office from Illinois to Utah, where he became famous in defending John Lee, the leader of the Mountain Meadow massacre. He came to Colorado in 1879, where he resided until his death.

The Hero's Widow.

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—Mrs. Hancock passed a comfortable night and rested better than she has at any time since the general's death. The secretary of war will arrive here to-morrow morning and will proceed a once to the battery, where a carriage will be in waiting to take him to Trinity church. After the funeral he will probably accompany the funeral party as far as Philadelphia.

Commodore Chandler has detailed Lieut. Nicholas to be in charge of the battery, and as a tender G. A. Whipple the use of a scum to trans or the troops from Governor's is sent to New York and afterwards to Jersey City.

ARRANGEMENTS FOR THE FUNERAL.

Vast Quantities of Lead and Silver Found in Arkansas.

Special to the Gazette.

HOY SPRINGS, ARK., Feb. 12.—Col. E. R. Moffett, the Joplin, Mo., lead king, who has been inspecting the lead mines of this section for two months, returned to the city to-day from Bear Mountain camp highly elated. The ore in these vast mines is a kind of soft black mud, or clay, which may be as easily worked with spade or shovel as tallow. After digging twenty-six feet Mr. Moffett took a well-angled and bored down to a depth of fifty-six feet and the passage all the way down showed paying metal and grew richer the deeper down. At forty-five feet the ore assayed 50 per cent and $13 in silver. This satisfies Mr. Moffett both as to the vastness and richness of the ore and he contemplates putting in works at once. The strange nature of this ore and the vast quantity of it has during all the past disgraced it till recently and there seems to be no end to its extent and its excitement is at a high pitch. News this evening from the Silver City camps report forces of men put to work on five mines. Superintendent Barron of the Continental Gold and Silver Mining company is pushing things.

STRUNG UP BY THE NECK.

A Butcher Who Knows What It Is To Hang and Be Hung.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Feb. 12.—Charles Herrmann, a butcher, will be hanged to-day for murder. Herrmann lived with his wife on the upper floor of a cottage on Blossom alley. Sunday evening, November 1, while the landlady was away at church Mrs. Herrmann prepared to go out. "I told her," said her husband, "I asked her where she was going. She said it was none of my business. Things had gone wrong for the last couple years and Christopher Zeigler was to blame. I did not strike her. I followed her into the bedroom, threw her on the floor and cut her throat. She did not struggle and was dead soon after."

Later—Charles Herrmann, the wife-murderer, was hanged at 10:43 this morning.

Herrmann was brought from his cell at 10:25, attended by two Lutheran ministers. The condemned man mounted and platform with a firm step and stood until the fatal rope, looking resolutely and calmly at the crowd before him. His legs were strapped together by the deputies, and his arms were pinioned. The rope was adjusted, and when all was in readiness Sheriff Gilbert informed Herrmann that an opportunity to speak, if he desired to do so, was his. The murderer then in a loud, firm tone of voice confessed his crime. At the same time he denounced Zeigler as the real cause of the murder. The black cap was then drawn over his head and the trap was sprung at 10:43 a. m. At 11 o'clock life was extinct and the body was cut down.

Investigating Evils.

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—Senator Allison, Aldrich, Miller, M. F. and Lock, the subcommittee on finance of the senate, arrived here to-day. To-day they called upon Collector Stebbins at the custom-house and asked him to give them in the investigation which is to be made into the methods of the customs service, and especially in the evils said to exist in the department in goods and appraisers department generally. Collector H. Deen promised the commission all the possible assistance he could give.

Sullivan Will Still Be Champion.

BOYTON, MASS., Feb. 12.—It was asserted to-night that Ryan had not kept his word in putting up his forfeit for the proposed match. Sporting men even some of Ryan's friends, say this is a good game and a Ryan will never meet the champion Sullivan.

Indications.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13, A. M.—For the West (half states) Fair, warmer weather, except on the coast, heavy stationary temperature. Variable winds, generally falling barometer.

PITTSBURG.

The Gould System and the Texas & Pacific Said to Be At Odds.

Correspondence of the Gazette.

PITTSBURG, TEX., Feb. 12.—The last week has been very pretty weather and the working class of people are taking advantage of it by working for another crop.

Prof. Killbrey who was formerly professor on behalf of the T. & P. of Waco, has been secured to teach the school at the college the coming term, and he will be a station or the cemetery. There will be a large procession of children, but probably no organization as such.

The visitors escorting the remains will be entertained by Prof. Lowe at his residence near the cemetery. The town council will hold a special meeting to-night to make any further arrangements.

Two members of the Farmers' Alliance association have been in camp about looking for signs of life in this county, and their efforts have been successful, as it is known they have organized several lodges in the southern portion of the county.

It has been learned here that the auditor of the Paris, Marshall & Northwestern railroad has refunded the bond that the citizens of Pitts-burg subscribed to the road, and that the road will not be built to Gilmer.

It was learned to-day of A. L. Downer, agent of the Missouri Pacific at this place, that arrangements have been perfected with the directors of the town to transfer all freight bills to points on the east line. The Gould syndicate has taken out its second with the Texas & Pacific, and has entered into an agreement with the Texas & St. Louis to have all freight handled by the Texas & Pacific, transferred at Ft. Worth to the Texas & St. Louis, is also learned that freight going to St. Louis will be transferred here.

Prof. Clark of St. Louis was in town the fore part of the week and made several talks at the court-house upon the immigration movement, and organized a society in Pittsburg.
