MR. W. S. PENDLETON has a very level head.

BOTH Russia and England are patronizing American ammunition markets.

TEXAS buys more shot than any half dozen states in the Union. The navy-six is not our only play-toy.

A VIENNA genius has invented a new engine which feeds itself on compressed air and does away with a boiler altogether.

ENGLAND must be in mortal dread lest some one will step on her corns now that all the "Foot Guards" have gone to the Soudan.

IT seems the height of madness to put so much money in war ships that can be blown to atoms with thirty cents worth of dynamite.

HOUSTON is talking of organizing a "Home for the Poor." Can it be possible that Uncle Dan'l is expecting Dallas to move down there?

THE big cotton brokers are not getting rich very fast this year. The Texas farmers have been paid as much for cotton as it will now bring in New York.

"ALL Cossack or all Republican," said the great Napoleon. The civilized world should sympathize with England, if it comes to a war between the Bull and the Bear. THE GAZETTE bets its last dollar on Johnny Bull.

MIDLAND is a wide-awake town. It has sent a commissioner to Kansas to invite the Oklahoma boomers to come to Texas, especially to Midland county. Other localities in Texas might act on the suggestion of THE GAZETTE and follow Midland's example.

IT IS amusing to see the lease organs trying to smack their lips over the veto of the land bill, and endeavoring to make people believe they like it. Like Logan and his defeat, they are too much hurt to laugh and are too big to cry, so they "just don't know what to do."

IT is estimated that the water necessary to make the 950,000 tons of paper used annually would keep the river Thames flowing with an average volume over four hundred days. Evidently those tetotalers who are trying to have people "run a corner" on water are enemies to the fourth estate.

THE Chinese are not the heathens people take them to be. They have just completed a bridge at Logeng, over an arm of the sea, that eclipses anything in the world. It is five miles long, seventy feet wide, has 300 arches, is seventy feet high, and, though constructed of stone entirely, the pillars are seventy-five feet apart.

SOME of the New York papers are pointing with pride to the triumph of justice in that city as evidenced by the incarceration of Messrs. Fish and Ward. It might be well to keep in mind the fact that these gentlemen are no longer the millionaires of yore, and that they escaped punishment just as long as their purses lasted.

AMERICA is now the richest nation on earth. The latest reliable statistics show that we are worth in round numbers $51,670,000,000, or the sum of $931 per capita. The average annual increase per capita since the war has been $25, and this in the face of the almost universal cry of hard times. Such an array of figures as this has a tendency to make us think better of our common country and to ask where in thunder is our pro rata of $931.

SAYS the Abilene Reporter: "There is a splendid opening in this city for a wool-buyer; indeed, several might find it to their advantage to locate here. Within the next few weeks there will be fully 4,000,000 pounds of wool brought here for market. Parties who bring their wool here prefer selling to shipping, and as we have only a limited number of buyers we desire more. Papers throughout the state will confer a favor by calling attention to the fact."

THE Houston Post seems to relish Robert Laird Collier's "write up" of our English cousins. Mr. Collier it was who claimed that the prince of Wales was a positive wit, and attempted to prove his assertion by citing the time when His R. H. expressed the opinion in the house of commons that if a certain gentleman did not walk so rapidly he "would fall over his watch chain." Robert Laird Collier's attempt at fulsome flattery has terminated in fulsome flatulency.

TO THE Houston Post: THE GAZETTE did see an effective lease law in the new land bill, but we could not perceive the free grass. The bill was vetoed; THE GAZETTE is happy, jeer as you may, dear Post. By-the-way, wasn't it the Post which said, in days gone by, that the land board, or the legislature, or somebody, would make the lease price even more than eight cents an acre. It seems to us it was the Post, and now they do say the land board will make the price five cents an acre.

MGR. CAPEL, the eminent Catholic divine, has been in Memphis and was tendered a reception which was attended by the prominent citizens, including ministers of various Protestant churches. Some how or other this method of meeting and exchanging courtesies like rational gentlemen seems better and more Christianlike than the old way which prevailed in the good old times when these gentlemen would have had a wool-pulling or be regarded as very poor expounders of the gospel.

The Land-Board Land Law.

The extension of the Fort Worth & Denver road to the Northwest will carry thousands of people in that direction, and, in view of the veto of the new land bill, there is much inquiry not only as to what the land board will do, for to this body does the veto again intrust the disposition of the public lands, but as to what is now the law, it being understood that the rulings and resolutions of the land board constitute the law governing the disposition of the lands.

THE GAZETTE will be excused for declining to express an opinion on what the board will do in the future or to essay a guess as to the result of the next presidential election. Both these things are beyond the ken of mortal man. But it is apprehended that the land board, as well as both political parties, has learned a thing or two, and that the country will be the gainer by reason of the lesson imparted.

The status of the land law can only be learned from investigating the resolutions where the land board left off when the "free-grass" howl went up from the West before election day last fall. The report of the state land board to the XIXth legislature dated January 1, 1885, shows the adoption of thirteen resolutions regulating the disposition of the lands by sale and lease. Some of these resolutions are enactments and some are revokements. The codification of these land-board land laws, to date, or to where the board left off last fall, is about as follows:

No watered lands will be sold or leased by the board—until further notice;

Actual settlers can purchase, without competition, any unwatered section or two contiguous half sections, at not less than $2 an acre;

Application to purchase a homestead must file with the county or district surveyor, or other agent of the state, a written description of the land desired;

The applicant must make affidavit that he will become an actual settler and resident upon the land within six months, and that he will continue to reside upon and improve the same for three consecutive years, and that he will neither sell nor rent the land during the three years to any one who will not reside upon and improve the land as a homestead;

The applicant must also swear that he is not acquiring the land for the use or benefit of any other person;

The land will be sold on thirty years' time at 5 per cent. interest, payments to be made on the first day of January of each year; any instaliment of principal, except the first, may be deferred until the expiration of thirty years, but the interest must be paid on or before the first day of March annually.

The surveyor forwards the application to the land board, and the land commissioner forwards a certificate of the payment made and the land regarded as sold, unless forfeited subsequently.

It is a long way to it, but a patient man may get through in time.

The Largest City.

Cleburne Chronicle.

Fort Worth seems to be the largest city in North Texas, judging from the vote in the city elections last week. Fort Worth polled 3700 votes, Dallas, 2900, and Waco, 2000. Dallas claims the vote of East Dallas as part of the city, and with this vote added her poll would be 3200. If Fort Worth is not now the larger city, it will soon be so. Dallas is too hidebound to fatten much. By the same token of votes, Cleburne is the largest of the second-class cities of this section. It voted 552, which, by THE GAZETTE'S way of estimating, would give the city 5500 inhabitants. And Cleburne is growing rapidly.

LONGVIEW.

An Old Settler Dead—A Supposed Topaz.

Special.

LONGVIEW, TEX., April 23.—Michael O'Murray, one of the first settlers of Longview, died Tuesday night after a short illness. But few were aware of his illness, and none knew of the fact that his wife has resided in Galveston and not with him here, to any one's knowledge. He was possessed of considerable wealth, of which she now has possession. She was sent for by him last week, arriving here Tuesday morning to find he had just died.

Heavy rains yesterday and last night caused trains to be abandoned, although they have been running all right to-day. A small bridge was washed out on the Galveston, Sabine & St. Louis road yesterday and trains were delayed until this afternoon.

A gentleman picked up in the woods near here what he thought to be a lump of burned glass. Its peculiarity caused him to retain it. He tried to melt it at a forge, but the tongs with which he held it were melted instead. Jewelers at Terrell, Bonham, Dallas and other places pronounce it a topaz. It weighs six ounces. The weight of the largest topaz, bought by the czar of Russia for $100,000, is seven ounces.

TEXAS JOURNALISM.

The Chief, formerly published at Millsap, has been removed to Ranger, in Eastland county.

That Republican daily at Sherman did not materialize. A. B. Norton says the Dallas Intelligencer is the only Republican newspaper printed in Texas—or, ever likely to be.

Says the Waco Day: "An esteemed contemporary recently changed its name from the Record to the Tribune, because the former name implied that it simply recorded current events, while the latter expressed the idea that its editor stood as a bulwark and defense of the people against an invasion of their rights. This brings up the question as to the true 'mission' of a newspaper—whether to 'record' the news of the day and the views of all who choose to employ its columns to reach the public, or to stand as a 'tribune' of one set of men, to defend their (supposed) rights against another set or clique. The general judgment of modern journalism is that it is better to be a Record than a Tribune, and the successful newspapers of the day have all drifted in that direction. The National Nemesis and People's Vindicator, the type of newspapers with a 'special mission,' is the by-word of journalism, while the Times, the World and the Herald represent the grand idea of success and popular indorsement."

It Takes the Lead.

Whitesboro News.

The Fort Worth GAZETTE seems to take the lead in giving Texas news.

"Shake."

Houston Post.

If THE GAZETTE wants to, the Post is ready to "shake" on the nice little veto.

The Poor We Have Always.

San Antonio Express.

The Fort Worth GAZETTE has again "switched," and is once more published by a company. As in the numerous changes heretofore, the management remains about the same, which we consider fortunate for both THE GAZETTE and its readers.

Grant and Lee.

St. Louis Republican.

When Grant has passed away what a proud thing it would be for America to be able to point to a monument, built by the whole people of a united country to, U. S. Grant and Robert E. Lee. What a mark such a monument to these two great men, jointly, would be of the triumph of the experiment of self-government, after a test the most crucial to which any system was ever subjected.

That the country is now ready for such a supreme instance of magnanimity we cannot say; we can only hope it is; but it will be ready before the fifteen remaining years of the century have passed, and then the Republican will be proud to point to the fact that it first proposed a symbol of union so noble as would be a single shaft to the memory of U. S. Grant and R. E. Lee.

Bingham Coming Home.

Chicago Herald.

The gentleman whom ex-Gov. Hubbard of Texas displaces as minister to Japan is John A. Bingham of Ohio, who has held the office for twelve years and been almost forgotten in the meantime. Previous to 1873 he was a rancorous partisan and as a member of congress did a great deal to convince the world that statesmanship in this country consisted of frequent ebullitions of bigotry, cant and hypocrisy. Bingham was one of the leaders of the rabid party movement made for the impeachment of Andrew Johnson, and a few years later, like many other Christian statesmen of his class, he found himself tarred with the Credit-Mobilier stick. In that interesting emergency he was glad to accept a foreign appointment to get out of the way of the storm of criticism which his acts had raised and he has been permitted to hold the office until now.

The republic loses nothing in the change that has been made in the mission to Tokio. Gov. Hubbard was never interested in a Credit-Mobilier job, and he does not accept foreign service for the purpose of escaping popular wrath.

DRAW-POKER is much dearer than a draw on an Opera Puff Cigarette. Avoid imitations. (2)

MORGAN.

A Young Bride Takes Her Own Life.

Special.

MORGAN, TEX., April 22.—News reached here this evening of a sad and singular suicide which occurred at Kimball, a small town in the northern portion of this county, at an early hour this morning. The victim was a young lady, who, until last Sunday, was Miss Sallie Walker. On that day she was married to a man named Jones, with whom she had been acquainted but a short time. The supposition is that disappointment was the cause of her shooting herself this morning. She was the daughter of one of Bosque county's oldest citizens.

Rain has been falling all day, until about 4 o'clock this evening, when it ceased and the indications to-night are that to-morrow will bring fair weather.

IN SELF DEFENSE.

A Deadly Battle in Arkansas in Which Three Men are Killed.

MEMPHIS, TENN., April 23.—Martin Mitchell, who keeps a fishing ground at Black Fish Lake, Ark., twenty miles west of Memphis, came here last night and reported that he shot and killed three men yesterday in St. Francis county, Ark., about twenty-five miles west of Black Fish Lake. It seems that about two weeks ago Mitchell was shot at by two men named Cummings and Barton and slightly wounded. Yesterday he met them in St. Francis county and a regular battle was opened between them. Mitchell says that Cummings, Barton and another man who was with them opened fire on him first, which he returned with a Winchester rifle. Cummings was shot three times in the abdomen, Barton in the body and the third man had a bullet through his brain. Mitchell received one shot in the arm. He came here to deliver himself up to the sheriff of St. Francis county, who was in Memphis.

THE PANHANDLE.

Serious Wash-Out on the Fort Worth & Denver Road.

Special.

WICHITA FALLS, TEX., April 23.—The hardest rains that have visited this section in a year came upon us Tuesday morning and night. They seem to have been general all over this part of the state and parties from the Panhandle say that country has had hard rains and that the grass is growing well.

The grass here has grown as if by magic. The rains must have been excessive east of Henrietta, as the track on the Fort Worth & Denver City railway was carried away in several places night before last, and though Superintendent Frost, who was here, left at once with men and material to repair the damage, it is not thought it will be completed before to-night.

This is the first time that we have not had mail come through since the road was completed here in September, 1882. President Morgan Jones came in last night and, together with Engineer Law and Superintendent Frost, went west to the end of the track.

Fourteen cars of horses were received here yesterday from Laredo and started at once on the trail for the Northwest.

The crops in this county never looked better at this time of the year. The prospects are excellent for a large yield, and a great many people are coming here now and buying farms.

The advertisements are out for the sale of lots at Harrold, the new railroad town, to take place the 20th of May.

LE BOSPHORE EGYPTIEN.

France Repeats Her Demands to the Egyptian Government.

THE KHEDIVE'S REPLY.

CAIRO, April 23.—The khedive's government has replied to France's demand concerning Le Bosphore Egyptien, and quotes fifty precedents to justify its conduct in seizing and suppressing the paper.

THE BRISSON CABINET ADOPTS A POLICY.

PARIS, April 23.—The cabinet at its session to-day took up the Le Bosphore Egyptien case and, after a full discussion, adopted a line of action to be pursued concerning the affair and telegraphed full instructions as to how the matter should be treated to M. Barre, the French consul-general at Cairo. France considers Egypt's reply to the French demand for the rehabitation of Le Bosphore Egyptien evasive and unsatisfactory, and has resolved to dispatch another note to Egypt about the matter. It is stated that the form of this note was agreed on to-day by the French ministers, and it is said that the note threatens unless Egypt gives satisfaction France will adopt active measures to secure it.

Bulling the Stock Market.

CHICAGO, ILL., April 23.—The statement is published here that a powerful syndicate of New York and Chicago capitalists and speculators has been bulling and bearing English consols through the large speculators in London, and has been advised in advance of the probable causes of the market to enable successful speculations.

Monster and Master.

Grim old disease. He comes without invitation, takes a seat and invites himself to stay. He takes possession and remains until he is driven out. Whether in the form of neuralgia, dyspepsia, liver trouble or vitiated blood, disease is a monster as long as he has the mastery. "I have been a great sufferer from dyspepsia," writes Mr. H. H. Williams of Linden, Mass., "and Brown's Iron Bitters cured me after other remedies failed." Therefore buy Brown's Iron Bitters of your druggist, and cast the monster, dyspepsia, out.
