THE LABORITES.

The State Convention to be Held in Fort Worth.

It Convenes on September 8—What It Will Do—Whom the Call Embraces—A State Ticket Possible.

A state labor convention will be held in Fort Worth on Monday, September 8. The call for it, issued some time since, is pretty broad and general and the convention when it assembles, will have power to do whatever may in the judgment of the delegates present seem best for the interests of labor. If the convention sees fit it can put a state ticket in the field and take such other steps of a political character as will place the labor element of the state upon a footing before the people as an independent political organization.

The call for the convention extends an invitation to members of the Farmers' Alliance and the Grange, as well as to the Knights of Labor and trade unions of the state, to send delegates. The primary purpose of the convention will be to organize a state federation of labor and a consolidation and industrial union of the labor and farming interests of the state.

The Dallas Times-Herald a couple of days ago published an interview with Mr. J. T. W. Loe of that city, a leading Federation of Labor official, whose signature is appended to the call for the convention. He said that the above were the objects and purposes of the convention, but intimated that the labor element all over the state were wide awake and alert. When asked how the labor element regard the platform and ticket of the San Antonio convention he said: "They condemn it all except the railroad commission and anti-national bank platform, and are red hot over the refusal of the convention to recommend the adoption of the Australian ballot system. I cannot say that labor men will vote against Hogg or the state ticket. They will, however, in every part of the state make special efforts to secure the right kind of men for the legislature. We recognize that the power lies with the law-makers, and therefore will endeavor to have the right men sent to Austin. We are lying low, but we are at work all the same."

SPECULATIVE.

Bears on the Speculative Market Cornered Dealings by All Manner of Rumors. London was Again a Free Buyer.

Special to the Gazette.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—Reports and rumors of every kind that could possibly be construed in the interest of the bears were freely circulated this morning. The published reports of combination of many of the leading railroads of the country to fight organized labor and the activity of the leaders of various organizations of railway employes was looked upon by the bear contingent as foreshadowing a speedy and bitter conflict between the two interests. London had buying orders in a number of its specialties. Chicago continued bearish on grangers, and was a seller. Union Pacific was again strong and comparatively active. Other stocks notably strong were New England, Burlington and Quincy, Lake Shore and Louisville and Nashville, which were all up a point or more from last night's closings. Coal shares were also strong, Reading advancing a point from the lowest price. Sugar trust, which was depressed ¾ in early dealings, recovered 1½ points, but later lost part of the gain. Hocking Valley was quite active and advanced over a point on an increase of 85 per cent. in net earnings during the month of June. The market closed quiet and strong at concessions from best figures. The Bank of England's rate of discount remains unchanged at 4 per cent.

TWO INQUESTS NECESSARY.

The Murder of Albert Cox Followed by the Suicide of the Slayer, William Uhr.

Special to the Gazette.

SAN ANTONIO, TEX., AUG. 28.—These dispatches on Tuesday contained a brief account of the murder of a wealthy farmer in the southern part of this county. When the news reached his office Sheriff McCall at once dispatched two deputies to the scene of the tragedy and these officers returned this morning. It seems that a few days ago there was a quarrel between Alfred Cox and William Uhr over the trifling matter of Uhr's calves getting into a field of Cox's adjoining Uhr's farm. Cox had spoken his opinion pretty freely to Uhr, and the latter did not at the time resent by physical demonstration, but waited till Tuesday morning, when, armed with his Winchester, he went to where Cox, who was unarmed, was working in his field and fired three shots at him at close range. Two of them took effect, one in the arm and one in the breast. The latter wound was the fatal one. It was inflicted at about 7 o'clock in the morning and Cox died from its effects at noon. When the officers from the city got there and met Justice Chavagneaux, who had already arrived on the scene, they discovered that the justice would have to hold two inquests instead of one, as Uhr had committed suicide, his body having been found about a quarter of a mile from the place where he was when he shot Cox. The top of his head was blown off and the face and forehead powder-burned. The pasture in which the body was found indicated that Uhr had shot himself with his own Winchester, the print of his knee and one foot showing that he had knelt so as to place the barrel against his head and reached for and touched the trigger. The mark of the stock of the gun where it had made indentation in the ground was very plain, the weapon having fallen with Uhr as he fell forward and sideways at its discharge. There were no tracks of any other person but Uhr found in the vicinity and the conclusion of the coroner was that Uhr, having shot Cox and feeling afraid to face the consequences of the act, took his own life rather than undergo the trial that must ensue. Both of the victims of the tragedy are prosperous farmers and both leave families. Uhr was considered by his neighbors as being a very eccentric character, and Cox, while not inclined to be quarrelsome, was known to be brave, and would not stand what he regarded an insult or imposition, and had told Uhr what he thought of him in terms that were unequivocal.

A NEW ENTERPRISE.

Nelson Morris, the Chicago Packer, Will Establish Packing Houses and Stockyards at the Seaboard East and West.

CHICAGO, ILL., Aug. 28.—A new enterprise involving $1,000,000 has been entered into by Nelson Morris, the packer. The new scheme is the establishment of slaughter and packing houses as well as stockyards at the seaboard, East and West. Monday the Interstate stockyards company, the name of the new organization, filed orders with the state department at Trenton, N. J., with a capital of $1,000,000. The company will at once begin building new houses in New Jersey, where all meat for foreign export across the Atlantic will be slaughtered. Heretofore this trade has been supplied by Morris & Co., from Chicago, cattle being slaughtered here and shipped in refrigerator cars to the seaboard. It is known that difficulties with the men employed at the stockyards have had a great deal to do with the establishment of these slaughter houses on the coast. In San Francisco Morris will build slaughter houses, canning establishment and stockyards. This will protect his Western export trade. These houses will reduce the loss by a strike at any point to a minimum. The object of the new departure is also to extend the dressed beef trade to fields not yet opened up. The Oriental capitals and many islands of the Pacific ocean have heretofore been strangers to American dressed beef industry, and it is intended to introduce dressed meats in that territory.

THE REPUBLICANS.

They Are After the Whole Field—The State Convention.

The delegates elected at the Republican county convention to attend the Republican state convention which meets at San Antonio, September 3, expect to leave this city on Monday morning. They will meet on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock, at G. W. Gillespie's office in this city. The following is a complete list of the delegation: M. C. Hurley, John L. Ward, J. C. Martin, J. E. Martin, J. H. Veal, G. S. Chapin, J. J. Putman, W. P. Goff, S. W. Woodard, A. Cavell, L. Scheuber, J. W. Hammock, H. P. Shiel, N. B. Moore, Page McKinney, G. W. Gillespie, I. N. Darter, M. H. Sorrelle. The fare for the round trip to San Antonio will be $6.

The Republican county executive committee will meet at the same time and place.

The senatorial convention for this district will be held soon, and a candidate placed in the field for senator. A candidate for congress will also be nominated.

The organization of the party will be made thorough and complete, and the Republicans are in the field to win, says one of the leading local party lights.

Fort Worth Business College

Will begin the twelfth year's work Sept. 1 with an increased attendance. All departments complete. For information, address F. P. Preuitt, President.

MORE SUCCESS.

The Arbor Meeting—The Interest Shows no Sign of Abating.

There was no falling off in the attendance on the Arbor campmeeting last night. With each day interest grows, and at each meeting is observed some new face anxious for the soothing words of the gospel.

Dr. Little, pastor of the Missouri avenue church, addressed the meeting last night. He spoke of the duties of Christians, and the necessity for preparing themselves for their work in the Lord's vineyard. His talk had fine effect. The meeting was conducted mostly in the way of a prayer meeting, in the course of which many earnest invocations were laid at the feet of the Creator.

To-night Dr. Little will conduct the meeting again.

The singing at these services is most hearty and delightful. The ladies take an enthusiastic part in this feature of the services.

There are still many inquirers each night.

On Saturday Mr. H. W. Stone, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A., will conduct the services, and a large crowd is expected.

Will not Christians arouse themselves and come forward to save those dying about them?

Bids for privileges at the Grand Basket picnic, given by the Industrial Council, will be received not later than Saturday evening by J. W. Armstrong, with Fort Worth Supply Company.

REALTY AND BUILDING.

The Demand for a City Hall Almost Universal.

Real Estate Sales for August, 1890, Show a Large Gain Over the Same Month in 1889—A Brick Block.

Real estate sales during the present month have made very perceptible gains over July as well as over August, 1889. The increase over the same month last year is above 100 per cent. Indications are that September is going to be the commencement of a very brisk fall season. Never before at this season of the year was there such activity in the market both in the amount of business actually consummated, the inquiry for property and the costly improvements of such additions as Riverside, Arlington Heights and other suburbs, done to answer the present demand for home sites. More work of this character is in progress now than at any time in Fort Worth's history for the same reason. The way small buyers are taking hold of real estate for homes more than justifies all that is being done to supply them with choice places in which to build. To secure buyers now streets must be made in additions, water provided and rapid transit lines constructed that will bring the suburb within a few minutes ride of the heart of the city. Values are increasing all the while, and in some cases prices have been legitimately marked up twice in the past year. The public appreciation of the fact that all this is backed up by the general prosperity of the city in all its municipal, commercial and industrial enterprises is what creates a continual, growing demand for property.

A BRICK BLOCK.

On next Monday George L. Gause and Frank Kaiser will begin the construction of a two-story brick, forty-five feet front, on West Weatherford street, the building to adjoin the Palace stables and be of the same style of architecture. Jake Johnson will join in building fifty feet in the same block, and Mr. Robinson will fill in the gap, with a similar building. The entire block will be uniform, and will add greatly to values on the street. The entire block will be completed early in 1891.

A NEW CITY HALL.

There is a general, almost universal, demand for a fine city hall. The tax payers of Fort Worth as well as those who have business to transact with the city want the hall built. They think it peculiar, to say the least, that the city attorney must have an office in one building, the city engineer in another, the superintendent of water works in another, the assessor and tax collector in another, the treasurer in another, the superintendent of schools in another, while the mayor and city marshal have no offices at all. All of these offices are widely scattered to the great inconvenience of citizens, and positive injury to the city's business. The people want to see the city make substantial permanent improvements and believe the time has come to do some building. It would be the part of wisdom for the city to set on foot at once work on a city hall, fire stations and new schoolhouses, to cost in the aggregate $500,000. The day of wooden buildings has gone and the citizens have a right to expect the corporate powers to do their full duty in providing first-class buildings for public use and benefit.

NOTES OF PROGRESS.

A Wichita, Kansas, firm which is also interested in Fort Worth, is looking around for a suitable Main street lot on which to erect a fine building.

Several Rusk street property owners are anxious to have the sidewalk ordinance apply to Rusk street. They recognize the value of good sidewalks to a street, and believe that business will only seek a street with good walks on it.

The North Side street railway company has leased the building on Main street formerly occupied by R. C. Woodall for offices, and this leads to the belief that Mr. A. T. Byars is getting ready to build the six-story building on Main and Seventh, for which plans have been prepared for some time.

C. D. Lusk contemplates the erection of a residence in the Vickery addition east of the city.

The six two-story residences of James Ryan on Peach street are nearing completion.

The machinery for boring the huge artesian well on the cotton mill property is on the ground and work will begin in a few days.

The way dirt is flying on the Riverside street car line is enough to make a Fort Worth man's heart rejoice.

Superintendent Scobie of the waterworks is greatly encouraged at the flow of water obtained by the city from its artesian well and thinks that before the 2000 feet limit has been reached a 500,000 gallon flow will be secured.

The driving park and fair project meets with much encouragement and a meeting will be held to put the ball in motion.

The contractors have just completed the grade and graveling of Sixth avenue and Pruitt streets. They are beautiful streets and greatly improve Grandview addition.

Dr. A. A. Johnson has let the contract for a residence in Grandview.

STATE SCHOOL AFFAIRS.

Changes in Professorships Occasioned by the Appointment of Pritchett.

Special to the Gazette.

AUSTIN, TEX., Aug. 28.—The board of education held a meeting in the afternoon. Governor Ross, Superintendent Cooper, Comptroller McCall and Dr. Baldwin of the Sam Houston normal institute at Huntsville being present. The board accepted the resignation of H. C. Pritchett, heretofore professor of mathematics in the institute, and who assumes charge of the state educational office, to which he has been appointed by Governor Ross. The board appointed J. L. Pritchett, brother of the foregoing, to fill the place, he having been transferred from the chair of natural sciences to that of mathematics. The board filled the chair of natural science, made vacant by the change by the election of Professor William Coleman of Houston. Mr. Coleman resigned his position a year ago to travel and study. The board accepted the resignation of Miss Lavinia Abercombee, teacher of music and history in the institute and appointed as her successor Miss Fannie Abercombee. The board also added another chair, that of assistant teacher of Latin and mathematics and gave the place to Miss Jessie Ward of San Antonio, who graduated with the highest honors in the institute and subsequently spent three years in the state university. The board authorized the local board at Huntsville to employ a librarian. Dr. Baldwin stated that the new building costing $40,000, appropriated by the state, will be dedicated September 23. The new hall, 74x97, built on acoustic principles in which a whisper can be heard across the hall, will seat 1500 people. On the occasion referred to ex-Governor Roberts and Rev. Dr. Currie of Virginia will deliver addresses.

Professor Cooper, the retiring superintendent of public education, delivered his report to Governor Ross. It is lengthy. A chapter is devoted to the great question of school text books, and the problem of the state assuming charge of their publication.

The Texas and Pacific railway paid $2158 passenger tax for the quarter ending June 30 last.

The comptroller deposited $7000 in the state treasury.

Prof. Hall Returns.

Prof. J. R. Hall can be found at his studio from 10 to 12 and from 2 to 4 o'clock for the enrollment of pupils for lessons in instrumental and vocal music. Lessons may begin September 1.
