AMERICAN TRADE HEAVY IN BRITAIN'S TERRITORY EXPORTS TWICE IMPORTS

Washington, D. C., Dec. 22.—Over a billion dollars' worth of merchandise passed between the United States and British territory in the ten months ending October for which statistics have been compiled. The Bureau of Statistics of the Department of Commerce and Labor reports that exports from the United States to British territory in the period named aggregated 753 million and imports therefrom 383 million dollars, thus indicating that for every dollar's worth of merchandise imported from the territory in question, two dollars' worth of American products are exported thereto.

The growth of American commerce with countries and colonies under the British flag has been steady and in the case of certain countries, notably Canada, very rapid. In 1905 the 10 months' record of imports from British territory was 285 million, and in 1911, 383 million dollars, an increase of 94 million dollars. The 1911 figures are, however, slightly less than the total for 1910, when the 10 months' imports aggregated 405 million dollars. Exports to British territory for corresponding periods of the years named meantime grew from 583 million dollars in 1905 to 753 million in 1911, an increase of 170 million dollars. The share of the imports into the United States brought from British territory is about 30 per cent, while about 45 per cent of the exports goes thereto; and of the total foreign trade, approximately 40 per cent is with British territory. The term British territory here used includes England, Scotland, Ireland, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, India and other British East Indies, British Honduras, British Guiana, Aden, Gibraltar, the Falkland Islands, Hongkong, British Africa, Newfoundland and Labrador, the British West Indies, and other British islands. To all these, with unimportant exceptions, the exports from the United States are larger in 1911 than in 1910 or earlier years.

To the United Kingdom, the largest British market for American products, our 10 months' exports increased from 392 million dollars in 1910 to 419 million in 1911; those to Canada, next in rank, the exports in the 10 months periods advanced from 201 million dollars in 1910 to 249 million in 1911, a figure more than double the total for the corresponding period of 1905. Australia and New Zealand rank third among the British dominions as a market for American goods with a 10 months' total of 40 million compared with 26 million and 21 million in 1905 from like periods. To British Africa the 10 months' exports increased from 11 million in 1905 to 12 million in 1910 and 13 million in 1911; those to the British West Indies, from 8 million in 1905 to 9 million in 1910 and 10 million in 1911. The remaining British communities which show in each case a total in excess of 1 million dollars in the 10 months include Hongkong, to which our exports in 10 months were valued at 7 million dollars; Newfoundland and Labrador, 4 million; the Straits Settlements, 1 1/2 million; British Guiana, 1 1/2 million; British Honduras, 1 1/2 million; and Aden and Bermuda, each about 1 million dollars. To Gibraltar the total was about $400,000; to Malta, Goza, etc., about $200,000; and to British China, the Falkland Islands, and miscellaneous other British possessions as a whole about $300,000.

As sources of imports into the United States Great Britain is again first among the British communities, with a 10 months' record of 208 million dollars in 1911, compared with 225 million in 1910 and 158 million in 1905; Canada is second, 76 million dollars in 1911, against 83 million in the like period of 1910; India, 41 million, comparing with 33 million in the preceding year; the Straits Settlements, 20 million; other British East Indies, 7 1/2 million; British West Indies, 11 1/4 million; Australia, New Zealand, etc., 16 million; British Africa, 2 million; Hongkong, 2 million; Aden, 1 1/2 million, and British Honduras and Newfoundland, each 1 million dollars.

Raw cotton, meats, and breadstuffs, form the bulk of the exports from the United States to the United Kingdom, though certain manufacturers, such as agricultural implements, leather, machinery, and pig iron are important items in the yearly sales to that country. Our exports to Canada cover a very wide variety, including manufacturers of iron and steel, automobiles, illuminating oil, corn, cotton, coal, tobacco, and practically every article enumerated in the export schedule. Australia and the various colonies of the United Kingdom offer large and increasing markets for our manufacturers.
