

When I Slept. The spring stirred violets beneath my feet. And summer gave her raptur'd soul to me.

AT THE YACHT CLUB

"I miss old Rivers most of all at this yacht club," remarked Sanderson, regarding the man with bored impatience.

The only way she managed to quiet her nerves was to telephone directly to Billy Brown and beg him to call on her that evening, and some time, some how, some way, manage to sing, or even just hum, "I Arise From Dreams of Thee."

THE KERRY COW

The Kerry cow is being written about quite extensively in our foreign exchanges, and it is not improbable that she is among the breeds that will come to the fore in this country.

"I Arise From Dreams of Thee!"

ers. He sat out Billy Brown, and she accepted him. "That explains why she shipped Billy," remarked Sanderson, reflectively.

THE KERRY COW

It is a great point in favor of pure-bred hogs that they are more docile than the others and less liable to run about. The fencing of them is a comparatively easy matter where the fencing of the others was a herculean task.

DAIRY ASSOCIATIONS

Most of our agricultural associations are conducted on a high moral plane and the more this is the case the easier will it be to make them effective in the performance of their duty.

THE WINTER APPLE

The winter apple is still the great money-maker among fruits. Now few money men offer on this kind of fruit than on any other, judging from the offers as they exist.

"Then she's another one," even mentioning that little bear he met in Heidelberg, of course. She recognized the portrait and went away quite shaken up. Until then she had favored herself desperately in love with Billy Brown.
