THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK

OF BRYAN, TEXAS

Will make liberal advances on cotton to any farmer who desires to hold for higher prices. The rate of interest will be reasonable. It is the opinion of many that higher prices will prevail during the winter. We invite a call from any who are interested.

According to the Fourth Estate, a Chinese editor, in rejecting a MS. thus wrote to the author: "We have read your MS. with infinite delight. By the sacred ashes of our ancestors we swear that we have never read such a splendid piece of writing. But if we printed it his majesty the emperor, our most high and most mighty ruler, would order us to take this as a model, and never print anything inferior. As this would not be possible in less than a thousand years, we, with great regret, return thy divine MS. and ask a thousand pardons."

The Houston Chronicle says: "He who does his full duty need trouble himself about nothing else." This is not new, but it is perennially true.

Wellman has fallen in every attempt except what seems to be his main object—to keep himself in the spotlight.

"Give us a little light," prays the San Antonio Republic. Is the Light and Gazette so large that it is in your way?

BORED INTO WATER PIPE.

South Norwalk, Conn., Oct. 20.—When Harold Sperry, a telephone workman, bored a hole in the side of a Westport house the auger penetrated a lead water pipe within the wall. When he pulled the auger out a rush of water sent him backwards from the ladder fifteen feet to the ground. Sperry landed in the top of a luxuriant rosebush, from which he was taken sound of limb, but scratched and covered with blood.

He had bored through the main water pipe in the house. A call was sent for plumbers, but the damage was not repaired before the house was flooded.

WANTS DAMAGES FOR DEATH OF HER SONS.

New Orleans, La., Oct. 20.—Mrs. W. Davidson, of Jewett, Texas, has filed suit against the New Orleans dock board for $50,000 on account of the death of her two sons. They were killed at the river front on October 21 last year, when a ship struck the wharf, breaking it and precipitating them into the water.

TEXAS INDUSTRIAL CONGRESS.

The annual convention of the Texas Industrial Congress will assemble in Houston, November 15. The editor of The Eagle has received urgent invitations to attend from President R. J. Kleberg and Secretary Roy Miller. Mr. Miller says, in part:

"I earnestly hope that you will be able to attend the convention and participate in the important discussions scheduled—discussions upon subjects of live interest to every Texan, no matter what his vocation may be. As a citizen of Texas, you are interested; as a patriotic, state-loving Texan, you should be glad to lend your assistance to a movement intended to help your state. The Texas Industrial Congress is such a movement; its success, however, depends upon the co-operation of the citizens of the state, therefore upon your co-operation.
"Will you not try to attend the Houston convention? It will be helpful, instructive and entertaining. It will also be the largest and most important gathering in the history of the state. A splendid program has been arranged and low rates will be in effect on all railroads. The convention will be held during No-Tsu-Oh carnival week."

Of the various organizations for the promotion of material development in Texas the industrial congress is the greatest and best. Bryan ought to be represented by a delegation vested with authority to speak and act in behalf of the business interests of the city and the agricultural interest of Brazos county. The Commercial Club ought to co-operate with the Farmers' Union in sending a delegation, and it ought to be attended to without delay.

Those who blame newspapers for using current slang, if not too coarse, have a wrong impression of the newspaper's place in the modern social fabric. The newspaper is a teacher in matters of fact and in promoting general morality, but if it attempts to become an exponent of literary culture it is inevitably priggish and absurd, and soon finds itself without readers. Blaming a newspaper for using the language of the people is like blaming a business man for using the currency of the country because the designs are inartistic or the bills are sometimes ragged and soiled.

Better in Fit, in Style, in Wearing

Our clothes, waiting for you for winter wear are STEIN-BLOCH made. By this we mean that these "Smart Clothes" will fit you better and with more style and comfort than any other clothes you have ever put on---no matter by whom made. They are not "cheap" clothes, but well made, honest products by modern methods, intended for self-respecting American men to wear at any time, anywhere. Try them on.
