MOTOR CARS NECESSARY ARMY TRANSPORTATION

Military Men Take a Leaf Out of the Book of the Civilian

There is no doubt that the motor car is a necessity in business and in life today. Neither is there any doubt that it is equally necessary in the military service of the United States in the present and in the future.

The Quartermaster Corps, the Aviation Section of the Signal Corps, the Ordnance Department and other agencies of the army are using hundreds of motor cars and motor trucks and adding great numbers to the fleets already in service here and across the Atlantic.

Though the government has asked that manufacturers curtail their production of passenger cars for civilian use, there has been no curtailment so far as military cars are concerned. There are many Detroit factories in which fleets being driven overland to army camps or to Atlantic seaboard for shipment abroad.

The army has taken a leaf out of the book of civilian life and wisely required that efficient, economical transportation of men and material, and communication between distant points, is best accomplished by motor vehicles.

One of the first factories at Detroit to produce cars for army use was

Enid Bennett in "The Last Rebel" at the Queen Theatre Today

Enid Bennett, through the strength of emotional scenes which recently captured an artistic achievement in "The Last Rebel" is again starred in the feature "The Last Rebel" at the Queen Theatre today.

"The Last Rebel" is a romance of two generations commencing at the beginning of the Civil War and winding up at the present. It deals with two fine old families of the South and their children's lives.

Meeting after a period of fifty years are given by the grandson of Harry Apperson finds the grand-daughter of the late Mrs. Apperson in financial straits. The once noble Batedford plantation is run down, her friends are dead or gone, and the dreams of her

Mohawk Tires

Hand-built

Mohawk "Quality" Tires give unusual service because unusual materials and methods are used in their construction. Hand-built to the smallest detail, of special fabric, absolutely pure gum friction, cushion and side stock and a tough, elastic tread. Not an ounce of shoddy or adulterants is used in either casing or tube. If built to order, no higher grade or better balanced tire could be made.

An Extra Ply of Fabric

The quantity of material in Mohawk "Quality" Tires is not skimmed. There is an extra ply of fabric in all 3 inch, 3 1-2 inch and 4 inch casings, four plies in the 3 inch, five plies in the 3 1-2 inch and six plies in the 4 inch. These sizes see hard service and by adding 20%-25% to the strength of the carcass, this great margin of safety frequently doubles the mileage obtained.
