

HOME ECONOMICS CLUBS

WEEKLY LESSON ISSUED BY MRS. J. L. LANDRUM, ORGANIZER AND SUPERVISOR FOR THE STATE DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE OF GIRLS' CLUBS IN HOME ECONOMICS AND CANNING.

Dearest Club Girls:

I wonder if it has been raining as hard over the rest of Texas as it did in the Corpus Christi section the past week. We are not complaining however, as we feel we should not cry 'too much rain' in this section after having passed through several years of drought. However, I wish it would not rain so hard when I want to hold a nice convention and the paper and the people are all ready to do every thing for us they can. Well, something like that happened last week in Corpus Christi, but we had a delightful meeting last Saturday, held in the sun porches of the beautiful Nueces Hotel. We had over 200 girls and an excellent program. So many of my girls from the county however could not get in and I was very disappointed that we are going to hold another meeting in April and I am sure we will have lovely weather then.

tonis high schools, were delighted with her. She has so many excellent messages for them that it is indeed a pleasure and an opportunity to have her appear before them. We addressed the girls of the Kingsville school this morning and as usual our girl audience was very attentive and anxious to benefit from all that we had to give them. I have asked the girls in each school to write a composition upon the subject upon which Miss Peck is speaking, "Proper Dress for School Girls" and send it to me. After judging the compositions from each school, I will use them in sending out to my thousands of other girls to use in their club programs. It will be something given to them from this college, that they cannot get because we cannot reach all of my dear club girls. I thought girls would tell in a more interesting way what they had learned from Miss Peck's lecture than I could and I wanted their excellent ideas carried on.

ST. LOUIS AMERICANS TO BE IN PENNANT WINNING SHAPE FOR COMING SEASON

St. Louis, Jan. 28.—New talent will be added to the St. Louis club of the American League in an effort to whip the team into championship form for Jimmy Duggan, retained as manager for the 1919 season, is successful in a number of proposed trades. Burke frankly admits that the club needs strengthening. President Hall and Robert Quinn, business manager of the club, have promised him that nothing will be left undone to bolster up the playing strength. Burke said that President Hall assured him that where cash was involved, he stood ready to go the limit.

Under Burke's leadership the Browns won twenty-seven and lost twenty-six games a percentage of 50. When he assumed charge the club had a record of thirty victories and thirty-five defeats, a 46.2 percentage, which shows that Duggan got better results from the same club than did either Jones or Austin. Burke joined the club last spring. He was released by Detroit, where he had acted as Hughie Jennings' field instructor for several seasons, to make room for Bill Donovan, whom Frank Navin, owner of the Detroit club, had promised a job, providing he was released of the management of the New York Yankees.

Noted for his fighting qualities, Burke at once became a valuable asset to the Browns. He instilled harmony into the club, smoothing over feuds and real grievances between Fielder Jones and the players. On the coming time Burke's "pop" and inimitable patter looked in the eye of the Browns. However, he won the confidence of every man on the club and when Jones quit it was considered only a matter of time until his appointment would be forthcoming.

Amusements

Has Beach's Best in 'Too Fat to Fight.' 'Too Fat to Fight' the Rex Beach picture produced for children, comes to the Amazo Theatre today, with Frank McElvira in the featured role. The continuation of Rex Beach as the author of a pathetic drama and the acting of Frank McElvira is sure to make a sensation. Rex Beach has used Frank McElvira for the role of Norman Dearth, a former football star, now known as 'Dimples' because of his excessive fat. He is laughed at by his relatives and eventually secured by Helen Brewster. The girl he loves! Every beach of the service has turned poet 'Dimples' down and 'too fat to fight' has come to mean words that death to him. 'I'd give a leg if I could be over those with the boys,' he says. 'Finally a man who is raising a million dollars for the Y. M. C. A. is instrumental in getting 'Dimples' into that splendid work. He grows into a hero every minute of the long days and nights. They're reminders nothing until a French officer stops to pin a decoration on his still expansive bosom as he lies in a lone hospital.
