MOULTON.

IT'S LOCAL NEWS.

MOULTON, TEXAS.

EDITOR GAZETTE:

To say it is "After the Ball," the very day, the town and the places of the people is suggestive of "After the Ball," though no one is singing it. They are scarcely able to sound a note.

It is dry. Rain is needed, and will be very badly needed if it does not arrive soon. We could stand a host of it just now. Our crops are the very best now, but can't so remain much longer without rain.

VALLEY VIEW FARM.

EDITOR GAZETTE:

The Bachelor is sorry to say that he has neglected his business for the sake of pleasure and did not collect the locals from here until late last week, but in the future will try to be more punctual, for the readers of the GAZETTE know that procrastination is the thief of time. I am in a worse fix than that, for last week a Moulton maiden stole my heart.

Work on the farms will soon be at a stand still, for the lack of something to do, as the farmers are well up with the work.

The weather is simply beautiful. We do not think that there is a place in Texas where there is more real progress and industry than in the farming district around Valley View. I will stake my reputation (grand rascal) in a bet that there is not a hat full of weeds or grass in the crops on J. H. Flato's farm. Remember, please, do not want to help any ones else, if that is too good already.

Mesdames House and Phillips were in Shiner last week with a coop full of yellow legged, frying sized chickens, products of our poultry yard. They report good prices, ready sales and cash money, and still some people say that there is no money in the country, but "Shiner wasn't built that way," and it's people do like yellow legged chickens.

Our young friends, Robert Harms, William Wimpkens, of the Moulton neighborhood, Hammel House, of Sublime, Richard, Taken, from the hill country and Robert Bellamy, of Milton's Paradise farm, passed a pleasant day on the Valley View farm last Sunday.

The Valley View Pleasure Seekers club continues to grow.

Miss Ida Franks, of the Shiner vicinity, in company with Miss Brode, were the guests of the Misses Turk, of Live Oak Bend last Sunday.

Our chief musician, Mr. Biers, and his son John, took in the picnic at Weid last Monday, furnishing Music for the ball at night.

There is to be a ball at the Hennis platform next Saturday night. Our boys are anticipating a grand time.

Tarantulas, rattle snakes and peddlers are the most numerous and bothersome pests we have in our country now.

Mr. Lee Galloway, of Grayson county, a relative of A. N. Bellamy, is in our country at present and intends to make this his future home. BATCHELOR.

At Chas. Muecke's.

Ladies Oxford slippers sold elsewhere for $1.25, I will sell for 99 cents cash. Ladies Atlas shoes in stock, Mason's half gallon fruit jars $1.25 per dozen.
