VALLEY VIEW FARM.

Everything is quiet and lonely here this week and prosperity and happiness reign supreme. How beautiful the whole world seems as one looks out over the fields of fine green corn as the lands ever known and places of land covered with the King of Southern plants, cotton, already a tall and full of blooms, blue and square, also now and then a row of better corn and a single plum tree at it daily post trying to do his duty.
Who can say that the world is not full of happiness at all the beauties of God's own handiwork in giving us a place of rest as well as labor for our earthly pilgrimage in which the shining elements of beauty abound is of little financial benefit to man, unless there be some degree of prosperity in its cultivation.
Summer beauty and beautiful crops are sure sign of prosperity for both country and city, and as the post goes:

All nature is awake;
The month is June,
And the year is nearing Its Golden noon.

The present prospects for fine crops all over the country, the prevail-ance of the true democratic rule and with the weakness third party, the only thing need to make us a happy people, unlimited freedom, the free exchange of silver, Farmer Shaw, editor and proprietor of the Texas Farmer for our next governor.

Quite a number of people of this vicinity went to the picnic at Shiner on the 14th. All report a most glorious time.

Win Coons and Sam Bunting, of Moulton, spent Tuesday and Wednesday on the river fishing and would have stayed longer, but a swollen flow in the river stopped the sport for a season.

Joseph Biers and Frank Kirsch have gone to court this week to attend court.

"Jake" says it is hard for a Moulton girl to break my heart, but I'm going up to Dilworth some day and have it mended.

The new edition of our jolly young friend Richard Tucker, is completed and now we won't have to go to Shiner to get our beer.

J. B. Tucker has his machinery well enough in place to grind grist this week.

HARVESTON.

The weather has been very dry and windy for the past few days.
