MADE HIM WHOLE.

PHYSICIANS PUZZLED OVER A MIRACULOUS RECOVERY.

SOUTH SIDE CITIZEN OF TEXAS WELL AFTER BEING GIVEN UP TO DIE OF BLOOD POISONING.

Remarkable Story Fully Investigated by "The Dispatch" and Found to Be Absolutely True in Every Particular. Mr. Roehrig Tried the Most Famous Medical Men of Europe and America and After All Hope Had Been Given Up He Was Cured by the Cook Remedy Company.

(See our Daily Dispatch.)

In these days of fraud and deception it is a pity that in any business concern an absolute regard for truth and honesty in the line of business is not always observed. For this reason any concern which lives strictly up to its promises deserves the thanks of everybody. Such a concern is the Cook Remedy company, which is located in suite 267 Masonic temple in this city.

The standing and reliability of this company has heretofore been favorably commented upon by the Dispatch, and just now it comes to the front with a cure so remarkable that an account of it will be found of unusual interest to the reading public. The case in question has been fully investigated by the Dispatch, and the following recital of it can be vouchered for as absolutely true in every particular.

A Truly Marvellous Cure.

The case in question is that of M. Roehrig, a prosperous young German-American of 35, East Twenty-fifth street. Mr. Roehrig inherited a predisposition to skin disease. When 9 years old he suffered much from eczema, but that in time was cured. Some time ago he contracted blood poisoning. The symptoms became alarming, and physician after physician was consulted. All their ministrations, however, seemed only to aggravate the disease. After almost every prominent specialist in Chicago had tried in vain to alleviate his suffering Mr. Roehrig acted upon the advice of his parents and went to Germany for the express purpose of being treated by the most eminent physicians of Europe.

At Coburg he put himself under the treatment of Drs. Kuhn and Martin, recognized by the medical profession as authorities on diseases of the skin and blood. They succeeded no better than the many Chicago doctors who had tried to cure Mr. Roehrig's awful ailment. Meantime the condition of the sufferer became simply appalling.

They Could Not Help Him.

When the most learned savants of Europe were found unable to benefit him Mr. Roehrig was ready to give up all hope. Relatives brought him back to America to die. Resigned to what threatened to be a most horrible fate, he came back to his Chicago home and took to his bed. He had been dosed, drugged and covered with ointment, but no physician recommended the amputation of his tons, and his residence was full of bottles that had contained medicines prescribed by orthodox practitioners and more modern specialists. But as he constantly grew weaker Mr. Roehrig was willing to try anything. Relatives, however, insisted that efforts to cure be continued and he again called numerous expert specialists. The result of their treatment was the same as before the trip to Europe.

The condition of the unfortunate sufferer was at this time very pitiable. Life was worse than a burden, not only to himself but to his relatives and all who came in contact with him. It would be difficult to imagine the measure of the mental and physical torture that he underwent while in the grasp of the dread ailment. Death not only seemed imminent but the sufferer was ready to welcome it as a relief.

Somebody Suggested Magic Cypilene.

About two days ago somebody suggested trying the Cook Remedy company. Expecting no benefit, but being tired of anything that promised relief, Mr. Roehrig put himself under the treatment of the Cook Remedy Co., 267 Masonic temple, Chicago, Ill., who have made a specialty of treating this disease for nearly ten years. When he began treatment in December last he was one mass of discoloring, mattery sores. The physicians connected with the Cook Remedy company say his was the worst case they ever came under their notice. He had long been unable to wear shoes and was in every way about as sorry a looking specimen of humanity as was ever seen.

It was about six months ago when Mr. Roehrig began to take their treatment. Since beginning he has followed instructions carefully and today is one of the most healthy men in all Chicago. When he first began the Magic Cypilene treatment he weighed 120 pounds, and now since cured by this magic remedy he weighs 208 pounds and is a bander in appearance. Every sore has healed and the unsightly scabs that disfigured him have given way to healthy cuticle.

The Case Carefully Investigated.

As a natural result of the facts narrated Mr. Roehrig is a staunch admirer of the Cook Remedy company. He told the story to the Dispatch reporter who was sent to investigate the case, believing that the recital of his experiences may be the means of saving the lives of others who may be so unfortunate as to be afflicted with blood diseases of any kind.

The truthfulness of the reporter's statements in the above article are verified by the following affidavit of Mr. Roehrig:

I hereby testify that the statements made regarding my case in the above article are true. M. ROEHRIG, State of Illinois, Cook county, ss. Subscribed and sworn to before me, a notary public in and for said county, this 14th day of June, 1904. [Seal.] M. W. JOHNSON, Notary Public.

Many other remarkable cures are accredited to the Cook Remedy company. This particular case has come under the observation of the Dispatch. The man made whole through the efficiency of this wonderful remedy is a resident of the city and known to be reputable and responsible, and the story of his wonderful cure may be verified by any one who will call at his residence.

Deserving of Confidence.

The old-time orthodox physicians are slow to give credit to any secret remedy for the cure of disease. This is especially true of the fact that so many of them are really rank frauds, getting up wholly for gain. It is a well-known fact that the public is easily humbugged when it comes to purchasing nostrums, but the many successful cases treated by the Cook Remedy company offer evidence that can not be successfully disputed and the old-time doctors are compelled to admit that at last an absolute specific for blood diseases, both hereditary and acquired, has been discovered. Magic Cypilene has made a fortune for its owner, saved many a life and alleviated more suffering than any secret formula for the cure of blood diseases known to the world.

Magic Cypilene was originally compounded at Omaha in 1878. In 1883 the business had grown to such an extent that it was removed to this city and the Cook Remedy company was organized under the laws of Illinois with a capital stock of $200,000. Its financial standing is strictly first-class, as a reference to the commercial agency reports will show, and it is a corporation deserving the confidence and patronage of the people. The Dispatch is as ready to give credit to deserving enterprises as it is to expose frauds, and it has seen indisputable proof of the merits of the medicine compounded by the Cook Remedy company.

The Cook Remedy company treats every case under a positive guaranty to cure or return the money. As numerous other cases attest, the medicine given effects a permanent cure in a short time. In the most advanced cases of blood poisoning or syphilis Magic Cypilene has effected numerous truly marvelous cures, many of which have attracted the attention of the medical profession, which had almost invariably pronounced the cases hopeless.

No reputable journal can afford to commend an enterprise that is not deserving. The Dispatch knows the Cook Remedy company to be exactly what it is claimed to be, and the services it has rendered to suffering humanity entitle it to unlimited commendation. The Roehrig case is not a matter of hearsay. It is positively known to be a matter of fact.

Beware of Imitators.

Their reputation for quick and permanent cures in all stages of the disease and even when all other remedies fail, has become so wide-spread that several imitators have come to light, some even going so far as to copy their printed matter advertising, and one concern which is able to deceive the public has assumed a similar name, calling themselves "The Original Dr. Cook Cure company." Magic Cypilene is owned and controlled only by the Cook Remedy Co., Chicago, Ill.

How He Won It.

"My wife and I had a lively discussion last night," said the middle-aged man. "What I got the last word."

"You don't say so?"

"Yes, she acknowledged it herself this morning."

"How did you manage it?"

"Talked in my sleep."

Irish Arts and Crafts.

An Irish arts and crafts society has just been formed in Dublin for the purpose of stimulating the industries of Ireland and attempting to raise the craftsman to a higher artistic level. The society is endeavoring to organize an exhibition of Irish arts and crafts, to be held in Dublin in the autumn of 1905.

Focus of Knowledge.

"What do you look in do dictionary fer?" asked the messenger-boy.

"I'm lookin' fer do word 'parabulite'."

"Why, dat means somethin' like plain walk'."

"Yep. But it sounds slower, an' I tought maybe I got ter have it in me business."

Plenty of Water Yet.

Those who declare that the earth is gradually drying out and that within a few centuries every drop of water will have disappeared from our planet, will find consolation in the announcement that the water line has risen one foot all around the gulf of Mexico since 1890.

Differences in Method, But

Traveler in Europe—Who are those two beautiful girls?

Traveler—One is a Circassian whose parents are going to sell her to a Turk; the other is an American whose parents are going to give her to a nobleman.

Little Chicks Left Him.

"Sir," said the indignant constituent, "I am compelled to say that you have voted the part of a knave."

"Great Jinnah!" replied the astonished congressman, "would you have to be a fool?"
