STANDARD CULTIVATOR.

Buying an 1895 Improved Standard Cultivator is not investing in curiosities, but saving hard earned money. 1895 No. 5 Standard Cultivator, tubular beam, with foot lift and patent lever safety slip. We offer you no last year's Flatonia birds' nests, for we take it for granted that you are not looking for curiosities with which to amuse yourself.

The Patent Lever Safety Slip

Is a great invention, and although it is a very simple device, it is required about two years to get it right.

The Nos. 4 and 5

STEEL FRAME CULTIVATORS

Have always been great favorites in Texas, and are still the best on earth. No need to get off the seat to reset the shovels. The Standard foot lift is the only foot lift that actually lifts the beam, as easily as can be done with a hand lever. The thing for 1895 is the

STANDARD LEVER SAFETY SLIP.

Don't fail to see how the "old thing works."

R. G. Seydler and Willie Herder took a trip to Blackjack and High Hill, Fayette county, last week for some young cedar trees. They met with quite an adventure with a rattlesnake in a cedar thicket.

Gonzales is figuring on the M K & T by coming that way.

Oscar Daniels and Jimmie Harwood took a trip to Jackson county this week for a drove of horses.

In the last issue we spoke of Miss Loua Brien, when it should have been Miss Mamie Brien.

We desire to call attention to the ad of Louis Ehlers on front page. Mr. Ehlers' cigars are in popular demand, and he is building up a fine business.

Rev. James left for Weatherford Thursday. His place here will be filled by Rev. Barnet. See his announcement elsewhere.

His Fan-Clam Blake visited last week in Hallettsville.

Flato & Green shipped two cats freight Thursday to Kansas City. They were accompanied by Henry Schraberg.

Adam Wendel, one of our most prosperous farmers, called Thursday.

One of the finest sets of China crockery ever received here. The ware came direct from England in original crates. The ware is of the most artistic designs and presents a splendid appearance.

Miss Anna Wengemann and Miss Ernst, who had been visiting here for several weeks, returned home Friday.

The Aransas Pass saloon was washed out at the late fire, but is to be built now for the present and set windows and best assortment of cigars.

The following brands of whiskey at the Aransas Pass saloon: Old Forester, Crystal Springs, Joel B. Frazier, Kentucky Taylor, Old Sarsoga, Mount Vernon, J. H. Carter, Monogram, Newport and Belle of Bourbon.

Miss Edith Baugarten, who had been visiting Mr. and Mrs. E. Wolters here for some time, turned home to Saintenberg Sunday.
