

THE HERALD. SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH.

SUNDAY, April 6, 1890. THE DAILY HERALD is published every morning, Mondays excepted, at THE HERALD BLOCK, corner West Temple and First South streets, Salt Lake City, by THE SALT LAKE CITY PUBLISHING COMPANY. Subscription price, in advance, $10.00 per annum, post paid.

and only the so-called "square games" can be conducted." We would like to know what sins, or what crimes, for that matter, cannot be protected and made legal through the same line of argument. Our correspondence gets upon a peculiar platform when it argues that because a wrong practice cannot be prevented it should be made legal and protected by license. For the sake of their reputation, it is to be hoped that the people of Sacramento do not agree with their newspaper in its immorality.

ALBERT EDWARD that there was a few years ago, when he was younger and given up to the pleasures of life, rather than to matters of state. He is on the shady side of life and of necessity must be less merry and more circumspect than he was ten or fifteen years since.

THE HERALD has no ill will toward the Union Pacific, and we therefore hope that its officials will have the good judgment to consult the wishes of its patrons in the naming of a successor to Mr. CORN. It has been said that one of the reasons why Mr. RUMEL has little chance to secure the position, is that he left the employ of the company and is therefore not entitled to the consideration which he otherwise would have.

musical talent which is conceded to be far in advance of anything to be found in other cities of equal population. It is well known that Denver and Omaha, in comparison with Salt Lake City, make dismal failures in attempting to place upon the boards a first-class opera.

A SUNDAY SERMON. Ingratitude is considered so base a crime that no man has yet been found to plead guilty to it, yet there is one other crime that exceeds ingratitude; it is the crime of indifference. Who will be bold enough to maintain the doctrine of infallibility in the administration of national affairs? If, therefore, wrongs can exist either in political or ecclesiastical governments, indifference to wrongs gives license and strength to men to plot against the purity of constitutional liberty.

STILL IN FRONT. THE HERALD takes off its cap again this morning and makes its best bow to the public, from acknowledging that to the public is due the first praise for the possibility of a live and pleasing twenty-four-page journal in a city the size of Salt Lake. A paper may have grit, push and enterprise, with plenty of brains scattered through the various departments, but if the public withholds its recognition, it might as well pull down the front window blinds and use its columns for the dissemination of the principles of the Salvation Army.

Some assert that the present population of Salt Lake city numbers fully sixty thousand, and they base their declaration on a pretended knowledge of the people now here. There are others who insist that there are not more than thirty-five thousand people who can claim the city as their home or abiding place. THE HERALD regards both these estimates as extreme, and if it were going to guess would fix upon a number about midway between the two stated.

FOOD FOR REFLECTION. The Union Pacific Railway company will do well to consider carefully the filling of the vacancy caused by the death of PAXTON CORN. There is more than one reason why the appointment of Mr. CORN's successor is worthy of careful consideration, and not the least among the number is the announcement that General Manager DONOHUE of the Rio Grande Western Railway company, is to make his headquarters in this city.

THE LULL. There has come a little lull in the real estate market. Sales are not so numerous as during February and the early part of March, and fewer big transactions are recorded. Some people are interpreting the falling off as indicating a "collapse" which certain persons have been predicting. They are saying that the beginning of the end is showing itself, and that there will be no revival.

LOCAL AND OTHER BRIEFS. The regular monthly meeting of Salt Lake Typographical union will be held at the usual place at 2 p. m. to-day. A full attendance of the executive committee is desired to meet at 1 o'clock.

DUBOIS' LOGIC. If you don't believe in whipping at the post for wife-beating, you are in sympathy with the wife-beater; if you favored the amnesty of rebels, you were a rebel sympathizer; if you denounce bills of attainder as punishment for treason, you are an accessory to the crime; if you regard capital punishment as an excessive punishment for highway robbery, you sustain and uphold the highwayman; if you insist that every man charged with crime shall have a fair and impartial trial and shall not be punished unless proven guilty under the rules of evidence beyond a reasonable doubt, then you are the friend of the criminal and the supporter of crime; if you do not regard disfranchisement as the proper treatment of a man whose only crime is membership in the Mormon church, then you are a polygamist by instinct, and opposed to the enforcement of the laws made to suppress polygamy. Such is the logic of Demos and his clique of political conspirators.

THE MALAD CASES. Our Malad (Idaho) correspondent, in this issue of THE HERALD, tells the final story of the conspiracy and perjury cases which have been pending so long and been the occasion of so much annoyance, trouble and exposure. These cases grew out of the exciting election contest of 1888. There were some men who did not believe in the validity of the test oath law denying the suffrage to members of the Mormon church, and these concluded to vote in defiance of the law; but they were prevented by the registration officers who declined to list them unless they would swear that they did not belong to the church.

PROUD OF COURSE. It has often been said that the people of Salt Lake take peculiar pride in their institutions and achievements, in their societies, their tastes, and their evidences of culture and a high civilization. And why shouldn't they? There are many things to be proud of, and if the community were insensible to the praiseworthy and commendable which exist, it would be strange and unnatural. There is the dramatic and

THE SKELETON OF AN INDIAN was unearthed yesterday by workmen engaged on a trench for a water main on Second North, between First and Second West. The ex-warrior was buried in a sitting position, and his remains showed that he must have been far above the average height. Mr. Milano Pratt secured some of the war paint that had been buried with him in a sack.

THE POPULARITY of the martyr art in this city, despite the numerous knock outs and black eyes it has received at the hands of the authorities, who fully recognize the very large audience which assembled at the opera house last night to witness the exhibition given by Billy Madden's pugilistic stars—Joe and Jack McAuliffe. It was an exhibition, pure and simple, and the presence of a number of policemen who were there to preserve the peace, was unnecessary. Both of the McAuliffes are tip-toppers. The event of the evening was the set-to between Billy Madden and Jack McAuliffe, which was a fine display of skill and satisfied everybody. The contest between Joe McAuliffe and the down-trodden, not of the fake, was so near a draw that it was a great pity that it was not continued to the efforts of the men to obey the law, and they were separated by not getting within halting distance of the limit.

Other members of Congress whose abhorrence of plural marriage is quite as strong as that of DUBOIS and whose respect for the fundamental principles of freedom and jealous regard for human rights are much stronger than his, believe that the unreplicable, unusual and excessive punishment of disfranchisement for crimes never committed should not become a feature of the constitution of an American commonwealth. They are in favor of the law, for unlawful cohabitation, for aiding and abetting in the commission of those offenses, and perhaps, even, to visit upon those convicted of such offenses the additional punishment of disfranchisement, in the judgment of patriotic and non-fanatical citizens, is to follow the safe precedents of free government; but to go farther and punish the man who has never married polygamously, who may not believe in it, who has made up his mind to obey the laws of the country so long as he is subject to its jurisdiction, who has never aided or abetted in the commission of the offense, nor advised or encouraged its commission, is to overlook the requirement of the situation and to establish a dangerous precedent.

THE MORMON MAKE-UP, the unpatriotic, despotic disposition of a man who, like DUBOIS, can father a scheme to deprive a large class of fellow citizens, of every right dear to free men, deserves the condemnation of every wise and good man; the indifference to such outrageous wrongs manifested by honorable citizens of Idaho and of this territory, who are fully acquainted with the character of the people sought to be disfranchised, is unworthy their manhood.

Now, don't misunderstand us. This is not written for or against the Union Pacific, neither is it written in the interests of the Rio Grande Western. We do wish to influence trade in the interior of the Union Pacific as against the other road. THE HERALD is for Salt Lake city and when the leading citizens and the patrons of this paper make a reasonable request of the Union Pacific company we desire them to know that they can count on our support; and we also want the railroad company to know that it would do well to prove to the public that it is appreciative of the interests and wishes of its patrons, even if there is no profit in the corporation.

It is gradually dawning upon the minds of the public that the Utah Central has passed out of existence, and that its place is occupied by one of the biggest corporations of America. The longer the people are in appreciating the change by seeing their friends and those with whom they have for years done business in their old places the better it will be for the interests of the company. The community is made up of individuals, and is as sure to remember when it is well treated as the individual, although it may not move with the same speed.

THE SACRAMENTO has out with an editorial advocating the licensing of gambling and in favor of the establishment of a state lottery. It says that "the human race always did gamble, and will continue to do so until the end of time. There are strict laws against gambling, but they are not enforced, for several reasons. Probably one of the principal causes is that the authorities receive bribes not to do so. Another reason is that eight people out of ten prefer to have the games going. The only way to regulate gambling is by licensing it. By this means the municipal treasury is enriched, taxes are reduced,

Remember that the lot is $17.50 must be cash, and the money is payable when the lots are selected from the maps in the city. Do not ask for lots at a price week's price, for we can receive from our position. Next week the prices go away up again. Do not delay buying too long. Extensive improvements are in contemplation.
