A Challenge of a Voter Almost Creates a Riot.

C. W. HATCH IS FOUND NOT GUILTY

Of the Murder of His Uncle—His Evidence on the Trial Was Clear and Without Equivocation.

BUTTE, Mont., April 12.—(Special to THE HERALD.)—The registration of voters here today for next Monday's election came near ending in a serious riot. Political feeling has been high here since the last election and every move on either side has been followed with most jealous care. When a Republican named W. H. Deoney challenged the registration of a Democratic voter in the afternoon, Miles Finlan, a well known Democrat, took it upon him to defend. Finlan drew his pistol, but his arm was seized by ex-Chief of Police L. P. Smith and the gun trundled down just as it was discharged. Smith was slightly wounded by a ball in the hip, but no one else was touched. Following the shot excitement ran high, and it looked as though a serious riot was imminent, but cooler counsels prevailed and further trouble was prevented.

Sullivan's Contempt for Corbett—Kilrain Anxious to Meet the California.

[Special to THE HERALD—Examiner Dispatch.]
BOSTON, April 12.—With regard to the much-talked-of four-round bout between himself and Corbett, Sullivan said today he believed the other fellow was talking only for effect. "If he means fight," said the champion, "let him put his challenge in writing. Then I'll lead to him."
John is still in the ring, for he will put up his money and issue a challenge to fight any heavy-weight man in the east. He especially desires a meeting with Corbett, and already the managers of the Property Club at Gleasonville are negotiating interest in the coming contest between Corbett and McCalliffe. Sullivan is constantly increasing. Billy O'Brien, who has been a constant challenger, says that we know we have a hard man to defeat, but we are confident of doing it. Dominic is well and strong, although not in as fine a condition as he was some time ago. He will, however, give a good account of himself.

McCalliffe and McCalliffe.

[Special to THE HERALD—Examiner Dispatch.]
NEW YORK, April 12.—Joe McCalliffe, the good natured 'Frisco pugilist who was beaten by Peter Jackson, arrived in town yesterday. Joe is still in the ring, for he will put up his money and issue a challenge to fight any heavy-weight man in the east. He especially desires a meeting with Corbett, and already the managers of the Property Club at Gleasonville are negotiating interest in the coming contest between Corbett and McCalliffe. Kilrain Wants to Meet Corbett.

[Special to THE HERALD—Examiner Dispatch.]
NEW YORK, April 12.—Frank Stevenson has received the following letter from Jake Kilrain: "Friend Frank—Regarding Corbett, I am afraid I can't bring about a meeting with him. After our go in New Orleans I offered to spar him a number of rounds, Police Gazette rules, to take place in California, but he declined to make a fight on the ground that his father had sent for him to come home. I wish you could arrange a match with him to a finish, or six to twenty rounds. He is doing considerable talking through the papers, but I don't think he means any business. I have the biggest bluff I have ever seen, as can be shown by his offer to spar John L. Sullivan four times for a million dollars. It is impossible for John L. to get in shape in two months. You will see that the first good man he meets to a finish he will get beat."

Kilrain Visits the Cronin Convicts.

[Special to THE HERALD—Examiner Dispatch.]
JOLIET, Ill., April 12.—The Cronin convict, Burke, Coughlin and O'Sullivan, had a brief respite from their grind of prison labor yesterday afternoon, when they were surprised by a visit from their old comrade, the recent dime novelist, Michael Burke. The three men were sitting in a room, when Burke entered, and was accompanied by his wife, a young woman, and a child. Burke introduced them as his wife and child. He had been in the prison for some time, and had been working in the kitchen. Burke is one of the most popular of the Cronin family. He is a good natured man, and is well liked by all who know him. He is now in the prison for some time, and has been working in the kitchen. Burke is one of the most popular of the Cronin family. He is a good natured man, and is well liked by all who know him. The Pan-American Conference.

WASHINGTON, April 12.—The Pan-American conference had under consideration today the report of the committee on general welfare. It provides for a treaty between all the powers represented, making arbitration compulsory in the settlement of all disputes between them with the single exception that a nation whose independence is threatened cannot be compelled to arbitrate. The question, though the aggressor is compelled to accept arbitration in such case, if proposed by the party defensive.

Reciprocity Among American Nations.

WASHINGTON, April 12.—Hitt, chairman of the committee on foreign affairs, introduced in the House the following resolution: "Resolved, That in the opinion of this House closer commercial relations should be established between the different countries by tariff concessions on both sides conducive to increased commercial intercourse and mutual profit, widening the markets for the products of all, and strengthening the friendly relations of each country with its neighbors."

PROVIDENCE, R. I., April 12.—Returns from the supplementary elections in this city are coming in slowly and indicate the probable election of four or five Democrats, a senator and members of the legislature. The vote is large and will be close.

Chicago Carpenters' Strike.

CHICAGO, April 12.—There is no change today in the carpenters' strike. The men are still out on strike, and the small bosses last night in forming an organization with a view to treating with them and feel confident of victory.

BURLINGTON'S FOUR HUNDRED.

A Mean Old Sheriff Attacks the Costumes Worn by Society Ladies at a Carnival.

[Special to THE HERALD—Examiner Dispatch.]
BURLINGTON, Ia., April 12.—Burlington's "four hundred" are horribly shocked over the predicament in which a number of their leading young ladies found themselves last night as a result of an amateur entertainment given at the Casino. The young ladies, Mrs. Howe, traveling managers who came here some five weeks ago and began the rehearsal of a carnival, a rather costly affair, and the costumes were in charge. Many of the young ladies had dressed in elaborate costumes that had come from the opera house. During the evening they were treated to a very peculiar and unbecomingly vulgar entertainment. The young ladies were horrified when they saw the sheriff, who had come to the carnival, and who had seen the costumes from the building. A row ensued, and the result was that the sheriff had to be removed from the building. The sheriff had decided to neglect attire. The sheriff has prosecuted the "four hundred."

A Row Among Austrian Laborers.

DENVER, April 12.—Last night a party of Austrian laborers, employed at the Grant smelter, became involved in a row in a saloon and near the works. They were driven from the saloon and went to the boarding house, where the quarrel was renewed. It ended in an all-round fight, during which chairs, table legs and broken furniture were used. John Popper, who was in charge, had a hole in his cheek, where a bullet had gone through. Four arrests were made today. Popper will die.

Count Montereole Held.

PHILADELPHIA, April 12.—Giuseppe Curusi, better known as Count Montereole, an Italian nobleman, a couple of years ago married Miss Virginia Knox, a wealthy society belle of Pittsburgh. The couple went to Europe, but after a few months the countess returned alone and it was announced that she had left her husband in a state of permanent insanity. He had been for some time in a lunatic asylum. He had been for some time in a lunatic asylum. He had been for some time in a lunatic asylum. He had been for some time in a lunatic asylum.

Brutal Assault by Tramps.

ELLAWORTH, Kansas, April 12.—Miss Myrtle Hill, a teacher in a country school about eight miles from here, was brutally assaulted this morning by two white and two black tramps. She was fearfully maltreated. Her assailants filed her mouth with acid so as to prevent her outcry. During the struggle with her assailants she had her ribs broken. When discovered she was in an unconscious condition, and it feared she may die. Hundreds of men are now searching for the tramps, and if found they will be lynched.

Matters in Omaha.

OMAHA, Neb., April 12.—[Special Telegram to THE HERALD.]—Without any apparent boom in real estate this week the transfers show an increase of upwards of 100 per cent over the corresponding week last year, the total transfers amounting to $4,557. The bank clearings for the week were $1,738,494.83, an increase of 17.1 per cent over the corresponding week last year.

The Town of New Tipperary.

DUBLIN, April 12.—Deputies from all parts of Ireland attended the ceremonies opening the town of New Tipperary this afternoon, but owing to some neglect in notifying the people the attendance was smaller than expected. A procession was formed with visiting mayors in full regalia, and members of municipal corporations in uniform at the head. The scene was one of great enthusiasm. Houses were gaily decorated with the colors of the flag. Parnell, O'Brien and other patriots were everywhere displayed. Upon arriving at the platform opposite the market the procession halted. Addresses were presented to the English visitors from the tenants' association and the tenants' defense committee. Davitt said the first care of the evicted tenants had been to provide for their poorer brethren. That fact would be a monument to the honor of the Irish name and to the advantage of the national cause. O'Brien said the scene they were now witnessing had no parallel in the history of Ireland. In eloquent terms he described the people's triumph in this struggle which had aroused the whole Irish race. When the national fight ended it would be their proudest thought that the men of Tipperary risked their homes and property, liberties and lives for justice and this dear land.

HE WILL NOT LIVE TEN YEARS

Or will Go Insane, Say eminent Medical Authorities—His Foreign Policy—The McKinley Bill in Berlin.

BERLIN, April 12.—(Copyright, 1890, by New York Associated Press.)—Immediately upon his return from Weisbaden, Emperor William will hold a series of prolonged conferences with the heads of the various departments: Chancellor von Capri, Baron von Buelow and Baron von Hollestein successively. It is reported to be the determination of the Emperor to exercise rigid personal scrutiny over every measure. Besides overhauling himself with work he in the meantime threatens to paralyze ministerial work. None of the bills based on the decisions of the labor conference and proposed by Buelow has received the final imperial sanction. The assent of the Bundesrath to the measures is doubtful. The federal government do not share the Emperor's exuberant haste for reforms. The prospect is, therefore, that when the Emperor opens the Reichstag, in the speech from the throne announcing his labor measures, he will speak without the quality of definiteness which characterized the announcements of the Bismarck régime. Beyond the present fact that the Reichstag will be asked to grant a military credit of probably 50,000,000 marks nothing is known of the government's programme. The Progressive party are not in a position to demand change in the tariff policy, a reduction of the duties on cereals, and progressive modifications of the customs so as to shift the tax on alcohol and tobacco into necessities for the people, and that a simultaneous adoption of tariffs so as to develop the industries of the country. The Emperor will be rash enough to entangle himself in the difficulties entailed by a revision of the tariff which would involve complete reform in the whole financial and tax system of the empire. Already the leading federal princes of the empire, incredulous of the Emperor's capacity and methods of governing, are trying to force the Emperor to give up the idea of a complete reform. It is an open secret that the government of Bavaria, Wurtemberg and Saxony will not co-operate in any of the Emperor's measures unless the Emperor consults them more on the general lines of his policy. One of the chief features of the movement is the disunion in the Reichstag of the Progressives, the Conservatives, Imperialists and the right wing of the National Liberals, who are forming a reactionary group against a liberal policy by government. The party will be compelled to close their ranks. The Socialists leaders have a momentary fever over the workman's proposed election May 1. The police have given warning that they will not tolerate any street demonstration. The party announces that the military bills provide for a large increase in the number of troops. The committee agrees with the opinion that the Emperor will abide by a strong foreign policy.

The London Lanet Gives Details of the Atrocities Committed at Kara.

[Special to THE HERALD—Examiner Dispatch.]
LONDON, April 12.—The well-known English medical journal, the Lanet, in this week's number presents at some length such details of the atrocities committed at Kara in eastern Siberia were subjected last November as are of special interest to the medical profession. Most attention is devoted to the famous case of Madame Segida, who died from the effects of fogging. Dr. Guervich, the prison physician, states that the fogging should be discontinued in order of the province, directing that the prison rules should be rigorously enforced in the case of political prisoners, the governor of the prison being directed to be accompanied by a physician. Emperor William's Days are Numbered

[Special to THE HERALD—Examiner Dispatch.]
BERLIN, April 12.—[By Dunlap's cable.]—Leading medical authorities of England and Germany give the German Emperor only ten years of life or sanity at the outside. It is believed that the Emperor is aware of the short span of existence to which he is doomed and hence his stern melancholy and his anxious preparation of the little crown prince for a possible accession. He is believed to have called on the actor of a boy ambassador, which he is likely to be called on to undertake.

A United States Land Court.

WASHINGTON, April 12.—The subject of the adjudication of the numerous land claims in Arizona and New Mexico, over which there has been so much controversy and in which not much doubt exists as to the rightful owners, has engaged the serious attention of the House committee on private land claims during the present session. As a result of the decision of the court, the committee has agreed to a bill to establish a United States land court and provide for the judicial investigation and settlement of these claims in the two territories. The court is to consist of a chief justice and two associate justices, who shall hold terms annually at the capital of Colorado and at the capitals of the two territories and in Washington, D. C., when necessary.

A Double Sorrow.

[Special to THE HERALD—Examiner Dispatch.]
NEWARK, N. J., April 12.—For seven years Mrs. Joseph Mether, of 23 Charlton street, has every Sunday strew flowers on the grave of a stranger, under the impression that it contained the remains of her husband. Now that she has discovered her mistake she is greatly distressed because she has no means of finding out the resting place of the man she once loved to love, honor and obey. Her husband died twenty-five years ago and was buried in Fairmount cemetery. In November, 1883, Elizabeth Barr died, and she was buried in the same grave, as the records show. Mether's bones had been discovered and removed to some other part of the cemetery, and the grave was sold to Mrs. Barr's relatives. Mrs. Mether was surprised last December when she found her husband's bones had been dug up and placed on one side, so it rested on the next grave, in which was buried Captain Kernan.

The Number of Men the Socialists will Mass—Various Opinions Concerning the Outcome of the Matter.

[Special to THE HERALD—Examiner Dispatch.]
PARIS, April 12.—[By cable to the New York Herald.]—The Parisians are beginning to look ahead to the first day of May with some apprehension. On the one hand have arrayed the forces of socialism; men resolute to show by an imposing demonstration that their demands are such as cannot be lightly set aside, and on the other there are centered in M. Constans all the powers of law and order as represented by thousands of police and soldiers. The minister of the interior, it will be remembered, has declared his intention to prevent every demonstration of the kind, and cost what it may. In no wise staggered by this declaration of the government, the Paris Socialists are working with a will to organize their demonstration. Despite M. Constans and all his police and soldiers, they vow they will meet in such numbers every day in Paris as to make the government will pale into insignificance in comparison. This is that timid people are already heard asking if it will be safe to venture forth into the streets to breathe the balmy air of May 1st. The outcome of the matter is therefore a matter of much interest to the medical profession.

A Fact Worth Knowing.

Asigmatism, which is the inability to see lines running in different directions equally distinct, is the principal cause of defective sight, and by far the most annoying, and is only detected and corrected by a specialist thoroughly acquainted and practiced in the application of the scientific tests. In such cases not only must special lenses be provided, but they must also be mounted just the proper way, at the same lenses fitted any other way will be positively hurtful.

Dr. G. W. Tibbitts the oculist and aurist of 16 East First South Street, is very successful in such cases. His office is provided with all the scientific tests, and he is thoroughly competent and practiced in the use of these tests, for full and complete correction. People whose eyes trouble them from optical defect will secure permanent relief by applying to him, and will also save money.
