

THOUGHT COAT SURELY LOST.

Small Boy's Natural Alarm at the Teachers' Information.

A well-known Reading, Pa., merchant was in the habit of paying weekly visits to a farm which he had purchased. To those living along the route he was wont to drive he was at first the object of much speculation, but in due time the cause of his frequent visits became known, as did also the fact that he was a man of considerable influence and wealth.

As he was driving along one Sunday morning last summer he saw plodding ahead of him a small boy of the country thereabout, carefully carrying on his arm a coat, which, on account of the heat, he had removed; and, acting on a charitable impulse, invited the thoroughly abashed lad to ride as far as the "Sunday school," having gleaned that to be his destination. They were soon there, but the boy, in his perturbed state, did not realize until he had taken his place in his class that he had left his coat in the carriage.

The well-known parable of Lazarus and the rich man having been assigned as the lesson for that day, the teacher, addressing the newcomer, inquired: "What became of the rich man?"

"He drove on down the road to his farm," promptly answered the youth, still thinking of the coat.

"For his misdeeds," affirmed the teacher, ignoring the answer, "he went to an awful place of torment, from which he can never return."

"Holy Moses!" broke in the youth. "He's got my coat with him."

TIME TABLES AS GEOGRAPHIES.

New York School Teacher Makes a Valuable Discovery.

"I never realized the value of time tables until I got hold of a class of boys old enough to take an interest in geography," said a New York public school teacher. "So far as the study of maps goes, I can get better results from the use of time tables than from all the geographies in the market. Maps that have been prepared for the purpose of cultivating the youthful mind in the matter of locality are shunned as bugbears by all except the studious few. But just set a dozen boys around a pile of time tables and tell them to locate certain cities, lakes and rivers, and they will work like beavers; and come out letter-perfect every time. For most children time tables and accompanying maps are a source of unfeeling interest both in and out of school hours. It is true that this unorthodox method may give the boys exaggerated ideas as to the importance of certain railroads, but they seem to get enough good out of the investigation to counteract such impressions."

Chinese Army Rolls.

Now that China has Russia for a near neighbor, it remains to be seen how successfully or otherwise the Middle Kingdom will continue to practice its favorite game of bluff. How it has reinforced its army is shown by the Swedish explorer, Hedlin.

The Chinese have a most extraordinary way of enumerating their troops. They are not content with counting the soldiers only, but reckon in also their horses, rifles, shoes, breeches, and so forth, so that the resultant total is a long way above what it ought to be.

They apparently go on the supposition that the rifle is at least as valuable as the man, and by an analogical train of reasoning they argue that a man is of little use if he has to travel on foot, that he cannot go about naked and so on. Hence they count the whole kit, horse, rifle, breeches, and all.

By this peculiar process of arithmetic they fancy they deceive the Russians into believing their garrisons much stronger than they are.

The Transit of Mars.

When Eloise looks up the street, Puts down her work—starts—flushes, And turns away that face so sweet, Least I should note her blushes, I wish that I were young again, But soon she's blithely humming, Forgetting me and all—and then I know the Captain's coming.

When Eloise with downcast eyes, Once more bends o'er her stitching And looks, as her bright needle flies, (If may be) more bewitching, You'd say she wastes no thought on men, But oh, her cheeks are glowing, The red geranium near—and then I know the Captain's passing.

When Eloise looks down the street With eyes wide-set and wistful, Her cheeks as pale as any sheet, Her dear mouth drawn and tristful, I wish that I were young again, For as I lift her sewing She sighs, O such a sigh!—and then I know the Captain's going. —Edward W. Barnard.

Changes of the Earth.

How does one generation of men succeed another? The fathers are not swept away in a body to make room for the children, but, one by one the old drop off and the young come on, till a day is reached when none of those remain that once were here. How does some form of human speech become extinct? About a hundred years ago an old lady named Dolly Dentreath died in Cornwall. She could speak the Cornish language; after her death there was nobody that could. Thus quietly did the living Cornish language become a dead language; and in a like unobtrusive manner have been wrought most of the new beginnings which have changed and are changing the earth.—Harper's.

Name for the Baby.

THE PROOF OF THE PUDDING LIES IN THE EATING.

The doctors are dumbfounded, the druggists astonished, and the people excited and joyful over the wonderful cures and tremendous sales of the great Remedy, St. Jacobs Oil. Every case of Rheumatism—some of many years' standing—has given way to this powerful remedy. Thousands of certificates like the following can be furnished as to its value:—

George Seleyer, Publisher of the Chilton, Wis., "Volksbote," used St. Jacobs Oil for "almost unbearable pains in the back, which had completely prostrated him." A few applications cured him entirely.

Mrs. Fred Eberle, Bellaire, O., was for a long time severely troubled with Rheumatism. St. Jacobs Oil instantly relieved and entirely cured her.

Rev. Dr. B. Pick of Rochester, N. Y., suffered so intensely from Rheumatic pains that he was unable to preach. Several applications from a bottle of St. Jacobs Oil "relieved him."

F. Radder, Cleveland, Ohio, says: "Two applications of St. Jacobs Oil cured me of great and long-continued pain in my foot."

Messrs. C. L. Brundage and Son, Druggists, Muskegon, Mich., write:—"St. Jacobs Oil has a wonderful sale. We sold eight bottles at retail yesterday. This will give you some idea of how well it is liked in this section."

Mr. Louis Hinkel, of East Poesten, Kill, N. Y., says:—"I call St. Jacobs Oil the best liniment I ever used. It cured me of Rheumatism and pain in the back."

Herman Rittner, Manchester, N. H.:—"I have tried St. Jacobs Oil, and found it excellent. All those who have purchased it speak of it as 'simply incomparable.'"

Geo. G. Erffle, Palestine, Ill.:—"I was in bed suffering from a swollen leg. I used St. Jacobs Oil, its effect was wonderful. The following day I attended to my business again."

Dr. Otto Fuhs, Reading, O., writes:—"The sale of St. Jacobs Oil is constantly increasing; it is praised by everybody, and never fails to give entire satisfaction."

Novelist in Poor Health.

Private letters from Sorrento bring the information that F. Marion Crawford's health is giving his family much anxiety. The novelist recently had a serious hemorrhage. It is said, that left him in a weak condition. He recuperated rapidly, however, and since his condition has been more satisfactory.

PAY THE CURRENT PRICE.

Writer in the Cosmopolitan Gives Some Good Advice.

My young friend, Jimmy Banks, was married a little over a year ago. He had previously spent twelve months in the most furious courtship. The girl at first had not cottoned to Jimmy very much, but he moved heaven and earth so vigorously that she at last consented. Now, the other day who appears before me but Jimmy, with a long face and makes a complaint that the baby keeps him awake nights. "Good gracious! Jimmy," I said, "didn't you know that babies always do that? A baby has to have some relaxation. Go home and be thankful that it isn't twins." There is the reverse side to every joy. You can't have the advantages of bachelorhood and married life at the same time. You buy everything with a price—leisure, family, office, learning, wealth, fame, position. Nothing is free. Be sure you want the article, pay the current price and enjoy your possession.—Cosmopolitan.

COULD NOT USE SIDE SADDLE.

Old-Fashioned Woman Turned Down by Livery Keeper.

"It is hard these days," says a popular actress, "to be an old-fashioned woman even with the best intentions. I was resting at a rather fashionable little place not long ago and wanted to get some horseback exercise, of which I am very fond. So I went to a pretentious looking livery stable and applied for a horse. The proprietor inquired how I intended to ride. 'As a woman should ride a horse, with a side saddle, of course,' I answered. 'Then you can have no horse of ours,' was the verdict. 'A side saddle unfits the best of horses for any other use. It's an invention of the devil and as injurious to the woman as it is to the horse.' All my wiles were powerless to overcome the horse owner's objections and I was forced to forego equestrian pleasure."

SISTERS OF CHARITY

Use Pe-ru-na for Coughs, Colds, Grip and Catarrh--A Congressman's Letter.

In every country of the civilized world Sisters of Charity are known. Not only do they minister to the spiritual and intellectual needs of the charges committed to their care, but they also minister to their bodily needs.

With so many children to take care of and to protect from climate and disease, these wise and prudent Sisters have found Peruna a never failing safeguard. Dr. Hartman receives many letters from Catholic Sisters from all over the United States. A recommendation recently received from a Catholic institution in Detroit, Mich., reads as follows: "Dr. S. B. Hartman, Columbus, Ohio: Dear Sir:—'The young girl who used the Peruna was suffering from laryngitis, and loss of voice. The result of the treatment was most satisfactory. She found great relief, and after further use of the medicine we hope to be able to say she is entirely cured.'—Sisters of Charity."

The young girl was under the care of the Sisters of Charity and used Peruna for catarrh of the throat with good results as the above letter testifies. Send to The Peruna Medicine Co., Columbus, Ohio, for a free book written by Dr. Hartman.

The following letter is from Congressman Meekison, of Napoleon, Ohio: The Peruna Medicine Co., Columbus, O. Gentlemen: I have used several bottles of Peruna and feel greatly benefited thereby from my catarrh of the head, and feel encouraged to believe that its continued use will fully eradicate a disease of thirty years' standing."—David Meekison.

Dr. Hartman, one of the best known physicians and surgeons in the United States, was the first man to formulate Peruna. It was through his genius and perseverance that it was introduced to the medical profession of this country. If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis. Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, O.

Many women and doctors do not recognize the real symptoms of derangement of the female organs until too late.

"I had terrible pains along my spinal cord for two years and suffered dreadfully. I was given different medicines, wore plasters; none of these things helped me. Reading of the cures that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has brought about, I somehow felt that it was what I needed and bought a bottle to take. How glad I am that I did so; two bottles brought me immense relief, and after using three bottles more I felt new life and blood surging through my veins. It seemed as though there had been a regular house cleaning through my system, that all the sickness and poison had been taken out and new life given me instead. I have advised dozens of my friends to use Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Good health is indispensable to complete happiness, and Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has secured this to me."

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a running sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.
