THEY HAVE STRUCK A GREAT OBSTACLE.

Compromise Democrats Receive But Little Encouragement.

MR. VOORHEES' POSITION.

Republican Senators Say they Will Fight the Compromise.

The Bellicose Attitude of the Republicans Has Discouraged the Democratic Repealers and Compelled the Compromisers to Halt.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—Leading Democratic senators who have been trying for the last forty-eight hours to arrange terms acceptable to a compromise on the silver question, encountered a very determined obstacle today when they approached the Republican anti-silver men who thus far have been acting with the Democratic repeal forces.

The Republicans simply declare there is no common ground upon which they could act with the Democrats any longer. If unconditional repeal is to be abandoned, when it came to negotiating for terms with silver, they announced their intention of standing by themselves and declared they were ready to fight the compromise to a finish. This bellicose attitude of the Republicans discouraged the Democratic repealers and compelled the compromisers to halt, temporarily at least.

Senator Voorhees is in no way connected with the compromise movement. He said today he had no reason to despair of the passage of the repeal bill in its original form, and thought it quite ridiculous to conclude that in a body of eighty-five a majority of fifteen could secure a vote upon any given proposition. He said he felt convinced that the majority could hold out as long as the minority. "I said, we cannot pass the bill this fall, we can continue an effort during the winter, and if we do not conclude our work in the fall, winter and spring, we can, like Grant, fight it out on that line if it takes all summer." If I could force a vote I should, of course, do so, but there is no rule whereby I can do that. I am satisfied, however, if we hold on with sufficient persistence, we will get it in time."

THE WILL OF THE PEOPLE.

A Proposition that the Silver Question Be Settled by the Ballot Box.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—Representative S. B. Cooper, of Texas, today presented the following resolution, which was referred to the ways and means committee:

"Whereas, In the enactment of all laws, the will of the majority should control, and

"Whereas, There are divided opinions among the congressmen of the United States now assembled in legislative session as to the will of the people upon the question of the coinage of money by the United States, and as to the manner of its regulation;

"Resolved, That the governors of the several states are respectfully requested to request or cause to be held, an election in their respective states on the first Tuesday in November next, for the purpose of ascertaining the will of the people upon the question of the coinage of money by the United States, and as to the manner of its regulation, and that the results of such election be reported to the Congress of the United States by the governors of the several states."

SILVER SENATORS OBJECT.

The Terms of the Proposed Compromise Are not Satisfactory.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—Many silver men are not favorably impressed with the proposition of the enemies of silver for a compromise. They especially object to the proposal to issue $200,000,000 of bonds to build up the gold reserve and this, probably, will have to be modified.

Many also think the proposition to purchase $2,000,000 of silver is too small and are inclined to take chances of defeating the repeal bill rather than submit to it.

It is understood further that efforts will be made to reach a compromise, and many senators speak hopefully of reaching a settlement on some basis.

A VERY GOOD IDEA.

Aspen Mine Owners Make Good Offers to Their Workmen.

DENVER, Sept. 30.—Silver mine-owners at Aspen have made a proposition to their miners looking to a resumption of work in all the idle properties. When silver is less than 80 cents an ounce for a month, they will receive from $2.50 to $4.50 a day, according to the class of work. When silver is 82 cents, 35 cents per day will be added; when silver is 83 1/2 then 50 cents to be added. The acceptance of this proposition will get the work to 700 men. Over 1000 have returned to work in the Leadville mines recently on the same scale.

The President and the Compromise.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—Secretaries Gresham and Carlisle had a conference with the president at the White House tonight. While the subject of the compromise could not be definitely learned, it is understood that regarding the proposed compromise on the silver question.

They Will Not Accept.

ASPER, Colo., Sept. 30.—The miners of Aspen will not accept the silver scale of the managers adopted at yesterday's meeting, and from the present outlook there will be no work to speak of in this camp until such time as the price of silver will justify the employment of the men at the old prices.

The Census Bureau.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—Hon. Carroll D. Wright, commissioner of labor, will be appointed in a few days to take charge of the census bureau, succeeding James H. W. Miller of New York. He will, however, retain his present position as commissioner of labor.

The Detroit Not a Success.

FORT MONROE, Va., Sept. 30.—The United States cruiser Detroit returned this morning from a forty-eight hours'

HARDIN MAKES A CONFESSION.

The Centralia Train Robbery Planned Three Months Ago.

CENTRALIA, Ill., Sept. 30.—Hardin, the last of the Centralia gang of train robbers, who was captured last night in Cincinnati, was taken from Detective Smith at Odessa this afternoon by Sheriff Holm on a state warrant, while being conveyed to St. Louis on the Ohio & Mississippi train. The detective was unwilling to surrender his prisoner, but he had no paper which would hold him and he was conveyed to the Salem jail, where his pals, Jones and O'Dwyer, are confined. While the officers were disputing over the possession of the prisoner, some one reported in the hearing of Hardin that the autopsy of his detection in Odessa had been telegraphed to Centralia and 300 railroad men were en route on a special train to lynch him.

This completely unerved the bandit, and he begged the officers to hurry him off to jail. He then made a full confession of the robbery. "There were three of us implicated, Jones, O'Dwyer and myself," he said. "The robbery was planned at 1313 Chouteau avenue, St. Louis, over three months ago. Jones was too drunk to play his part well. He held up a man on a street to hold him and he was conveyed to the Salem jail, where his pals, Jones and O'Dwyer, are confined. URGENT STRONGLY BY SOUTHERNERS.

The Elections Law Is Hurtful and Oppressive.

PARTIAL SUFFRAGE TALK.

Had Lincoln Lived There Would Have Been Peace and Prosperity.

The Law Was Passed with the Idea That the South Was Merely a Conquered Territory—Very Warm Debate.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—In the House, the Committee on Appropriations presented for immediate consideration, a bill to extend the time for the completion of the eleventh census to June 30, 1894. Passed.

The debate on the bill to repeal the national election laws was resumed.

Patterson, of Tennessee, spoke in favor of the measure. He maintained that President Lincoln went to his grave never dreaming of a universal negro suffrage, and not a soldier who followed the flag of the Union fought its battles dreamed of it during the war or immediately after. He declared that had Lincoln been permitted to live and carry out his policy, there would have been peace and prosperity in the south. Lincoln's assassination made it possible for the ambitious Republican leaders to place their heels on the neck of the south. The reconstruction legislation, which on the theory that the sovereignty of the states was gone, and that the southern states were a conquered territory. Over $200,000,000 were heaped into the debt of the southern states in a few years. Ruin, devastation, lawlessness, frauds, corruption reigned supreme.

IT GROWS WORSE HOURLY.

A Bad State of Affairs in the Argentine Republic.

LONDON, Sept. 30.—A dispatch from Rio de Janeiro says the intervention of the foreign ministers and war vessels in the harbor prevented a further attack on the forts today. It is believed a favorable modification of the situation has taken place.

The same dispatches declare that the Argentine situation grows worse hourly. Buenos Ayres, stating that the only news come from government sources, and it is not much believed.

BOTH CLAIM ADVANTAGES.

There Has Been Continuous Fighting at Rosario.

BUENOS AYRES, Sept. 30.—The latest news received from Rosario is to the effect that there has been continuous fighting through the day, but the rebels claim to have an advantage and the other side of the government forces claim to have triumphed. The only fact certain is that there has been severe fighting between the rebels and government troops. The latest report from Rio de Janeiro is to the effect that the rebel war vessels all sailed from the city and much damage to property resulted.

A Responsible Person's Story.

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—The Herald's Valparaiso dispatch says: A responsible person who has arrived from over the Andes says he has positive information that Catamarca and Calta have joined the provinces of Santa Fe and Tucuman in revolt. My informant believes the national guard will only be called out if the failure of the squadron to revolt is the only draw back to the triumph of the Republics.

Rebel War Ship Captured.

BUENOS AYRES, Sept. 30.—The rebel independent has captured the ironclad war ship Andes, which was seized at Buenos Ayres a few days ago by the rebels. The rebel officer of the Andes managed to escape, but the crew was captured.

It is of Little Importance.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—Secretary Herbert said today there were no new facts to make public in the case of the Andes. He said that the report that the ship was captured by the rebels is of little importance, and says it has no international feature whatever.

DEFECTS IN BRITISH WARSHIPS.

The Victoria Disaster Has Its Effects in Germany.

BERLIN, Sept. 30.—The recognition in England in regard to the defects found in British warships, brought on mainly by the disaster to the Victoria, has found an echo here. It is suggested that the British fleet would be more strengthened by the addition of a large number of fast torpedo boats. In the report, it is stated that the increase in the naval estimate has caused much dissatisfaction among the Radicals and Liberals, who claim that Germany does not need a strong navy or an addition to her army. Ship building experts in Germany have followed closely the criticism made in England upon the British war ship which recently met with disaster, and the German experts insist that the present type of German war ships is especially unsuited to Germany. It is more than likely the government will meet with sound opposition in carrying out Emperor William's project to increase the strength of the German navy.

The King Was Badly Shaken.

IT BEGAN WITH A BIT OF A SHINDY.

How Irish Day Was Celebrated in Chicago.

HER FLAG HAULED DOWN.

After Some Discussion, It Again Floats in the Breeze.

The Natives of the Old Sod and Their Descendants Have a Most Royal Time—Speeches by Dis- tinguished Men.

CHICAGO, Sept. 30.—Irish day at the World's fair began with a bit of a shindy. Chief Justice Barrett, of the department of electricity, is something of an Irishman himself, and caused the Irish flag to be run up on the Electricity building in honor of the occasion.

Frank D. Millet, artist and war correspondent, who has charge of the flag and other color displays, is not an Irishman, and he ordered one of his men to haul the green flag down.

The order was at once obeyed, but the colors were again run up by Barrett's order.

Mayor Harrison and his men appeared and cut the halcyons, causing the flag to fall to the feet of the crowd which had gathered.

Trouble seemed imminent and a company of exposition guards were dispatched to the scene to preserve order.

Barrett says the flag run up out of compliment of the day and the many Irish-Americans on the ground. Millet says he ordered the flag down, because no flag could be hoisted on the staffs of the exposition buildings except those of the nations recognized as such.

The matter was at once referred to President Higginbotham for a decision. For the first time since last May has the city experienced a really rainy day. It rained all last night and has rained all day today. The sky is leaden, the ground is wet, and a steady wind from the southwest. A more disagreeable combination for what was expected to be one of the great days of the fair in points of attendance and general interest could scarcely be imagined.

Nothing could be done in the flag matter, as both President Higginbotham and Director-General Davis were absent. Some time ago the committee on arrangements for Irish day asked the council of administration for permission to run up the flag, and the matter was left in the hands of the director-general.

After consultation with Millet, it was decided inadvisable to violate the standing rule and not fly the flag of any except independent nations.

Savagery, Poland and other nations made similar requests, which were refused on the ground of discourtesy to the countries by which they are ruled.

Later an appeal was made to a meeting of administration and the green flag was restored to the position above the electricity building.

In spite of the rain and the bad weather Irish day was celebrated by a great military and civic parade, starting at the west end of the Midway Plaisance and passing through that thoroughfare and the principal streets of the White City. After the parade, a crowded meeting was held in Festival hall, at which addresses were delivered by Lord Mayor Shanks, of Dublin; Mayor Harrison of Chicago, and John Finerty, of Chicago.

Many churchmen and Irish-American citizens were on hand.

Lord Mayor Shanks received an enthusiastic welcome when he entered the hall. He said, in part, after returning thanks for the greeting and the felicitations of the Irishmen for the position they occupied in the White City. "After today will be historic. You are here to claim your own share in the honor and credit of the great Columbian exposition." It is his knowledge, he said, that the Irish people are a self-governing nation, and I look with confidence to the future in store for them.

Archbishop Ireland said and said in part: "We have assembled here today for two-fold motives—to do honor to a magnificent piece of men's work, and also to give place to the hopes and traditions of the Irish people." The archbishop pointed out at length what the Irish had done for the church and thereby for civilization.

Bishop McQuinn, of Toronto, spoke of the Irish home rule, maintaining that the Irish as a people are capable of self-government. In closing he read a letter from the cardinal premier, replete with some greeting to you, and here it is:

Gladstone's letter, which is dated September 2, in opening, expressed his pleasure at the knowledge that there was to be an Irish day during the fair, and said it could not be a more interesting or a more encouraging occasion after seven years' close and unbroken struggle throughout the country. The hour of common election last year passed, after eighty-two days' debate, the bill conferring upon Ireland self-government was passed by the British parliament, and when at the close of the next week, the bill was rejected by a large majority in the house of commons, it was a more bitter than a dilatory vote. The distance actually traveled over between physical misery and political depression which marked the early years of the century and the victory of the last night was immeasurable. The distance between a recorded victory and the final investment of control over the domestic affairs of a people, measurable but short." Continuing, Gladstone said: "The recent success was brought about by a change of opinion in English, Scotch, Irish and Welsh votes."

In closing, Gladstone said: "Yet the taste of the struggle still remains, and like former struggles, it will be great and will demand the friendly efforts of all those who have lifted the great cause out of the abyss and set it on an eminence from which there remains but a single step into the promised land. I cherish the most sanguine hope that the Irish nation, when those great objects have been attained, will fulfill every reasonable hope cherished by those who have aided, and will convert the present enemies into friends."

Arthur O'Connor, M. P., Hon. John E. Fitzgerald, and Father Ringe, of Dublin, also made addresses.

Total admissions today, 136,835, of which 107,854 paid.

TRIPLE MURDER AT BUTTE.

Three Chinese Literally Riddled with Buckshot.

George Sontag, the Notorious California Bandit, Makes a Full Confession of His Numerous Crimes as a Matter of Revenge.

ORIDEN, Sept. 30.—[Special.]—After being out all night, the jury in the Adams rape case returned this morning, being unable to agree, and was discharged. The case will be retried on Oct. 10. It is said the jury stood four for conviction and eight for acquittal.

The street railway company will hereafter operate its electric cars with but one man each, whose duty it will be to attend the motor and collect fares also. Wages have been put to 15 cents an hour. But eight men will be employed on the cars. The change, which is considered to be dangerous, is likely to raise a storm of public indignation.

Three Chinese Gardeners Killed for Their Money.

BUTTE, Mont., Sept. 30.—[Special.]—Some time during the afternoon three Chinaman gardeners living about two miles east of the city, were murdered by unknown persons, all being shot through the head. One was literally riddled with buckshot. The motive was robbery, an $800 was taken. After committing the crime the house was ransacked by the murderers, boxes and trunks being broken open and their contents thrown about the room.

The murderers evidently went from the city in a motor car, the identity of a bystander. The bodies were discovered by two other Chinamen who lived with the three but who had been to the city.

SONTAG CONFESSES.

His Conscience Didn't Trouble Him, But He Wants Revenge.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Sept. 30.—The Evening Bee this afternoon published the story of a confession by George Sontag, the notorious train robber. Sontag told of all the train robberies in which he and his brother John and Chris Evans were implicated, including the Collins robbery. Sontag was sent to prison for life; his brother John is dead, and the Evans family has not been treated as a mystery. Sontag was a very surly manner, and George doubtless thought nothing was to be gained by silence, but he is shrewd and it is supposed he refused to tell whether this was so or not. The confession of George Sontag will be used against Chris Evans in the trial soon to be held at Fresno.

THE LADIES OF CONNECTICUT.

They Will Vote for the First Time To- morrow.

HARTFORD, Conn., Sept. 30.—[Special.]—Under the new law in this state authorizing woman suffrage in school affairs, the women of Connecticut will vote for the first time at the October town elections on Monday, when the boards of education and high school committees will be elected. The registration throughout the state indicates that a large number of votes in the aggregate will be polled by the promoters of woman suffrage.

The law has not limited the time for registration, and the view is advanced by good legal authority that the women can register even on Monday, the day of election. In this city that view has been adopted, and every woman who desires to vote will be able to register at any time that day. Applications for registration in the cities thus far being generally to the equal rights clubs.

Miss Mary Hall, who was the first woman in Connecticut to be sworn in at the bar, is the leading woman suffragist in this city who has availed herself of the privileges of registration. She is a member of the Connecticut state board of charities and is a practicing lawyer. The new law is only a step in advance of a statute passed in 1887 which made woman eligible to all school offices. They can be nominated for any place on the school boards and high school committees. In the city of Meriden women have already been elected to the high school boards.
