

CORRESPONDENCE

SAHARA

Sahara, Aug. 9, 1920.

Mr. Ernest House has returned from Los Angeles where he has been working for the last few months, we are all glad to have him back with us again.

Miss Valborg Magnussen and her brother Harlow spent Sunday with the Sahara folks.

Mrs. N. L. Meades has purchased a fine jersey heifer of V. M. Carlson.

Messrs Earl Markwith and H. O. Dougherty and Doc Hoxie took a flying trip to Cedar City and Parowan Tuesday.

Well, if the corn and sudan grass contest is on between H. O. Dougherty and V. M. Carlson, we are of the opinion that the spud contest will be between Mrs. J. E. House, Mrs. N. L. Meades and Grandma Phillips, altho Dougherty and Carlson certainly have some nice looking potato fields. We'll see later on.

Miss Tacoma Baker took a horseback ride to Beryl Tuesday to spend a day with Miss Valborg Magnussen.

While the grown ups have been contesting for the best crops, the kiddies have been learning their multiplication tables and will soon be able to determine which of them have worked the hardest during vacation.

We are looking for Mr. Chas. Anderson from Los Angeles the end of this week. He is coming to make final proof on his homestead near here.

Mrs. J. E. House was a caller at Grandma Phillips Monday.

SALE OF ESTRAY ANIMALS

State of Utah, County of Iron, City of Cedar City.

To Whom It May Concern:

I have in my possession the following described estray animal, which if not claimed and taken away, will be sold at public auction to the highest cash bidder at Biederman's corral, in Cedar City, Utah, August 18, 1920, at the hour of 4 p. m., to wit:

One light red, white faced steer, about 20 months old; crop off left, under-hack in right ear; branded LL on left ribs.

Said animal was taken up by Perry Brothers on the 9th day of August, A. D. 1920, for trespassing.

F. S. HAMILTON, Poundkeeper.

DO YOU 'MEMBER?

The old ball games out in the back lot? The time you used to have "choosin' up sides" Skinny Stearns and Fat always wanted to choose up and then the fun would start. Skinny would always claim that he could get those "three fingers" (he could get three fingers where Fat couldn't think of it). "Well, a'right, then, if you guys get yer ins we get the extra man and you can have Forge for right field." Forge was usually dragging up in the rear carrying the bats and the much-coveted mask. Then, after about an hour's arguing over the sides, the old game would finally be on and everything going fine, and Ad Mercer would probably loom up in the background and that meant pull stakes for another field. Somehow, Ad never did like to have the fellas run through the potato field after a fly ball out there in center field. Someone would yell: "Here comes old man Mercer, we better beat it for' he gets here."—Finish ball game.

A feller isn't so awfully particular where he steps when he's after a ball and there were parts of Ad's potato crop that looked as though they wouldn't amount to very much, in fact, it didn't amount to very much. Between the corn silk pulled off the corn and the rails from the old rail fence down by the creek that the fellas used to make bridges with, Ad used to be keut pretty busy watchin' where the bunch was. It was a green life shy—fellas.

U. OF U. OFFICERS TRAINING CORPS MAKES EXCELLENT SHOWING

The University of Utah Reserve Officers Training Corps unit, which represented the state institution at the recent encampment held at Camp Knox, Kentucky, was not surpassed by any other college, according to Major M. G. Randol, in charge of the R. O. T. C. at the university. In the individual ratings a Utah student, Maurice Mayer, won second honor in the entire camp with a score of 98.7 per cent.

For six weeks of the camp the men lived under military discipline and studied the various phases of field artillery. Expenses were paid by the government. Every R. O. T. C. student must attend one such encampment during the four years of the course.

The object of the R. O. T. C. is to train college men that they may serve as officers in time of war. The work is elective, carries college credit and leads to second lieutenant's commission in the reserve corps. Students are provided with army equipment and juniors and seniors are paid. Plans for the year have been received from the chief of field artillery at Washington and will be put into effect with the opening of school, September 27th.

In speaking of the R. O. T. C., Major Randol said: "Results of the encampment and the past year's work show conclusively that the judgment of the war department in planning such work was sound. It has been beneficial to the schools, to the students and to the government."

James Smith is equipping his farm for dairying and has imported a carload of pure-bred Holstein cows. He is now in Saint George buying a herd of Jerseys, and intends to try the dairy business on a large scale. Most of his Holstein herd was bought from the State Industrial School and the balance came from Murray, Utah.

Next Wednesday, the ball team will play at Monroe, and will probably play five other games while they are on the other side of the mountain. Not all the games are assured but the list is pretty certain to include besides Monroe, Salina, Elsinore, Richfield, Marysvale and Panguitch.

APPOINTED HEAD OF ARMY NURSE CORPS

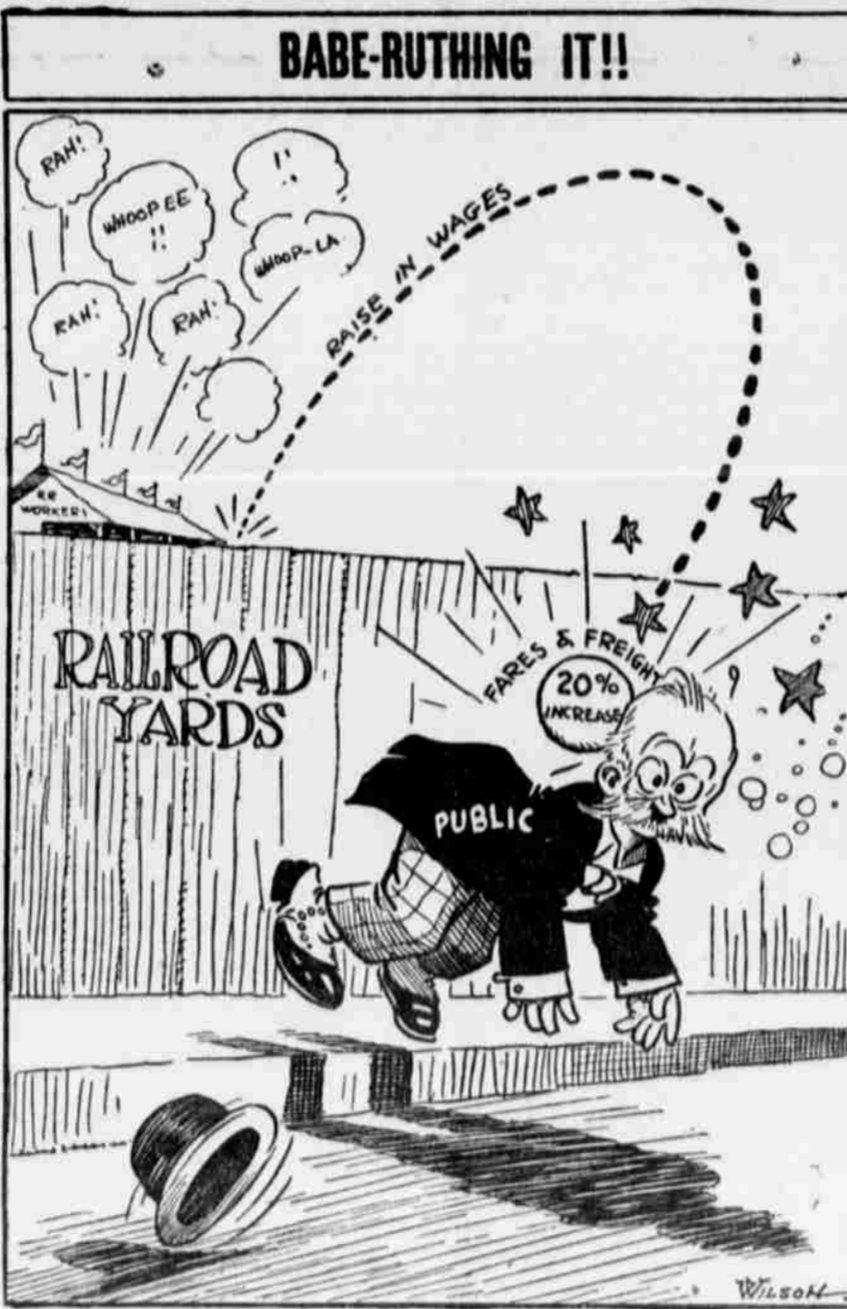

Miss Julia Stimson, who has been made chief of army nurse corps with the rank of major. Miss Stimson has been engaged in army nurse work for many years, serving overseas in the recent war. She has just donned her new military uniform of major, U. S. A.

THE CEDAR CITY CHOIR ENJOYS NOVEL SOCIAL

One of the most unique social functions of the season was given Wednesday evening by the Tabernacle choir in which about fifty persons participated.

The affair was in the form of a progressive supper and the following menu served: Sandwiches and root beer at Henry L. Webster's. Boston baked beans and crackers at Inez Woodbury's. Salad and bread and butter at Mr. Frisby's. Cantaloupes at Mrs. John Urie's and sherbet and wafers at Antone Lunt's.

The spacious lawns, bright lights, music and gay flowers were most inviting and everyone had a jolly good time, singing, dancing and playing games. The leader, Mr. Frisby, with his happy genial spirit, is pronounced by all the members as a splendid fellow and they are all behind him with great enthusiasm for the choir work.
