

PLAYING THE MOTORING GAME

have their day a few months hence, not to say their nights—the starlit nights of Utah spring and summer. Right now the vogue is for the winter models—the cars of class which in a minute's notice can be turned into open machines. These are cars with the removable winter tops. Those with the permanent, enclosed bodies, for folks who can afford them, are the final touch in elegance.

The coming motor show here, scheduled to be a real society event as well as an exposition of automobiles, will bring out all the real beauties in models—the new boat hoods, bright colors, wire wheels. These latter two are more than a passing fad. They promise to be permanent. The gay colors are making a big inroad on the drab grays and indistinctive blacks. As for wire wheels—everybody's doing it.

"Automobile game" is good. It is one of the best of outdoor sports, and why worry over twenty-six-cent gas. You've got to pay to see any good game

"There must be some mistake in my examination marking. I don't think I deserve an absolute zero," complained the student.

"Neither do I," agreed the instructor, "but it's the lowest mark I'm allowed to give."
