"A growing gleam glowing green."

"She stood at the door of Mr. Smith's fish-sauce shop welcoming him in."

"Timothy Titcomb thrust three thousand thistles through the thick of his thumb."—Chicago Saturday Blade.

"Are you a chess player?" a landlord asked a prospective tenant. "I much prefer to have my houses occupied by chess players."

"No, I am not a chess player and I can't account for such a singular preference," replied the would-be tenant.

"It is simple enough," said the landlord. "Chess players move so seldom, and rarely without great deliberation."—Kansas City Star.

A farm hand had worked in the field from dawn till darkness, doing the chores by lantern light. "I'm going to quit," he said to the farmer at the end of the month. "You promised me a steady job."

"Well, haven't you got one?" was the astonished reply.

"No," said the man, "there are three or four hours every night that I don't have a thing to do, and fool my time away sleeping."—National Monthly.

JESS WILLARD FORGETFUL

"I note with some surprise that Jess Willard says in his autobiography running in the Examiner that he never touched liquor in his life."

The speaker was Thomas A. Williams, a salesman of Henry Distson and Company, the saw and tool concern.

"I am surprised at this statement because I remember very well seeing Jess Willard in company with his manager, Tom Jones at Reno on the Fourth of July, 1913. Willard had fought Davis that day. It is possible that Willard has never touched liquor in his life, but it is not probable in view of what I saw of him that day. If Willard had not touched liquor that day, then liquor had most certainly touched Willard, and with no gentle touch either."—San Francisco Town Talk.

Billie Burke has become a movie star at $8,000 a week. The drammer is looking up since the days of Booth, Barrett, Jefferson and others of the old-fashioned sort, who were merely stage stars.—San Francisco News Letter.

Many a sly and crafty foreigner has shielded himself from trouble by affecting not to understand the language spoken to him.

A Chinaman was brought before a magistrate in a court of a Canadian city and received a fine for a slight misdemeanor. The judge had great difficulty in making the Oriental understand, for he pretended not to know a word of English.

"Look here, man," he said, disgustedly, "that is $1. Do you see? Pay it—otherwise, in jail! Understand?" The Chinaman signified that he did not understand, and the magistrate repeated it.

"Let me talk with him, your honor," said the portly officer who had arrested the man. "I'll make him understand."

When the judge had given him leave, the officer approached the Chinaman and shouted in his ear, "Say, you with the teakettle face, can't you hear anything? You've got to pay a $2 fine!"

"You're a liar!" cried the Chinaman, forgetting himself in his rage. "It's only $1!"—Tagliche Rundschau.
