

Saunterings

It would be mean to even suggest that in the possibility of a leave of absence being granted a couple of brother officers, they might take advantage of the vacation to make a visit to Reno, so it is best to say nothing about it.

While on the subject of the divorce colony, at home and abroad, I'd like to make a piker's bet that there is a young man in Los Angeles who is laughing his head off over the telegraphic announcement that Edna Goodrich and Nat Goodwin will probably separate.

Mrs. Goodwin and her mother quietly boarded one of the big Cunarders several weeks ago bound for Europe, and Nathaniel slid into little old New York last week and grabbed the "Deutschland" with the same destination in view, and on all four sides of "Lobster Square" the little birds (in $500 see-skin waists and Lichtenstein hats) are chortling "I told you so."

To a census taker who recently questioned him as to whether he was single, married, or divorced, the fat comedian answered "Yes."

With a sense of humor like a goat, the official immediately got mad, but will somebody please explain what else the giddy old boy could say? Perhaps it is no nice thing to call Nat a giddy old boy. Time was when he could have said to the writer, to the writer's discomfort, "Beat it while the roads are sprinkled—what balm there is in Gilead is bottled, and, boy, you annoy me with these references."

That was but two short years ago, while Nat was looking for Miss Goodrich and her mother in Par's just preceding their dash to America and the subsequent marriage of Edna and Nat. And now there seems to be a possibility of love's young dream—series 4—being shattered. As one of Nat's old cronies remarked, "It is easy for Nat to get them, but he can't seem to hold them."

A near-by bump of business acumen has stood the former Miss Goodrich in good stead, and probably she is better off than any of Nat's previous wives, for in the beginning of their romance, according to what they both have stated, the amount of the income she was to receive was stipulated in writing, and signed by a hand that could be identified from Brown's Chop House to Ocean Park.

If there is any truth in the rumor that they are about to separate it would seem that some significance might be attached to the old saw about changing the name and not the letter—but the summer will tell.

The largest wedding of the week was that of Miss Marjorie Brooks and Levi Jennings Riter, which took place Wednesday evening at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles

P. Brooks, on A street. W. W. Riter, father of the bridegroom, officiated, in the presence of the immediate families. Willard Weihe and J. J. McClellan played several beautiful selections preceding the ceremony, during which the "Berceuse" by Saurat was rendered. An elaborate reception followed the ceremony from 7 to 11, when Mr. and Mrs. Brooks and Mr. and Mrs. Riter received the guests. Mr. and Mrs. Riter will be at home in their new residence on Seventh avenue.

Quite the most elaborate affair of the week was the reception given by Mrs. L. L. Terry at the Terry's beautiful new home on East Brigham street Tuesday afternoon. Society was in more evidence than has been the case at any similar event in weeks, and some ultra smart toilettes graced a number of ladies and the occasion.

One of the largest bridge parties of the month was that given by Mrs. Claude S. Williams and Miss Charlotte Holmes at the apartments of the former Tuesday afternoon. Ten tables were played and the decorations were in pink.

Mrs. Fred Hornung and Mrs. J. M. Davis entertained Tuesday afternoon at bridge followed by tea at Mrs. Hornung's apartments in the Miller.

Mrs. L. H. Farnsworth's bridge tea Monday afternoon was one of the prettiest and most successful parties of the early week. Mrs. Frank B. Stephens, Mrs. Frank Knox, Mrs. E. B. Woodruff, Mrs. O. K. Lewis, Mrs. J. M. Bowman and Miss Edna Farnsworth assisted the hostess.

Sunday Miss Gratia Flanders and Miss Osterberg left for New York, where they will sail today on the "Baltic" for England, to spend the summer on the continent.

For Miss Lula D. Barr, Miss Fannie Bird entertained a number of friends at luncheon at the University club Tuesday afternoon.

A long series of parties and teas will come to an end today when Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Quigley leave for New York, to sail on June 25 on the "Carmania" for England and the continent. The affairs for Mrs. Quigley have been many and varied the past few weeks and Mr. Quigley's bachelor dinner to twenty or more of his friends at the Commercial club last week was one of the most elaborate and successful spreads the club has housed in months. Mr. and Mrs. Quigley will remain abroad during the summer, and Miss Emma Quigley, who has been a guest here for the last year, with the young sons of Mr. and Mrs. Quigley, will accompany the latter as far as Chicago where they will remain until fall.

An automobile accident in Salt Lake according to the stories in daily papers the morning after:—Both cars running slowly, not over five miles an hour at the most, all lamps lighted and the drivers exercising every possible caution. Result, first car thrown twenty feet and tonneau smashed in, radiator and front wheels of second car demolished, everybody thrown out and one or both cars consigned to the junk pile.

HAPPENINGS AND WHEREABOUTS.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Farr left early in the week for a two months' fishing trip in the northern part of Washington.

Edward L. Jones, Jr., is home from New York, where he graduated from Columbia with the degree of A. M.

Dr. and Mrs. J. C. Hanchett have as their guest Mr. Hanchett's brother, Dr. A. P. Hanchett, of Council Bluffs, Ia.

Mr. and Mrs. George T. Odell, Mrs. J. H. Richards, and Dr. and Mrs. H. P. Kirtley returned early in the week from an eastern trip of several weeks. They were accompanied by Miss Marie Odell, the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Odell, who has been attending Briarcliff Manor on the Hudson during the winter.

Mrs. T. D. Lewis and children leave next week for Portland and neighboring resorts to spend the summer. Judge Lewis is to join them later.

Mr. and Mrs. George P. Holman are registered at the Manhattan hotel in New York City, after an extended trip abroad.

Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Critchlow left early in the week for Princeton to attend the graduation of their son, Francis, which will take place June 15. They will remain in the east during the entire month.

Mrs. H. G. Williams, Mrs. J. H. McMillan and Miss Elsie McMillan have returned to Salt Lake after spending several months in Los Angeles and at the beaches.

M. K. Parsons and his daughter, Miss Elsie Parsons, are in Portland for a short stay.

Mr. and Mrs. John Treweek are again at home after spending four months on the coast.

Mr. and Mrs. Karl A. Scheid, who left Salt Lake in February for a trip around the world, are now in London, where they will spend the summer, after which they will go to Oberammergau to see the Passion play.

Goodyear Long Distance Electric Casings

SOLD BY ALL DEALERS
Distributors

The Overland Rubber Co. of Utah

105-107 West Second South.

Have you seen our
Auto Dictionary for Tired People
Sent free upon request.

Suggestions for the June Bride's Friends By Calloway, Hooch & Francis

Libbey Cut Glass.	Mocca Sets.	Coffee Sets.
Chafing Dishes.	Cretonne Trays.	Jewel Boxes.
Percolators.	Coaster Sets.	Hundreds of Artistic,
Brass Craft.	Rock Crystal Glass.	Useful and Ornamental
Baskets.	Rockwood Bric-a-Brac.	Articles that are appropriate
Electric Lamps.	Oriental Emb. Mats.	and inexpensive.

We Loan Silver and China—Ask About It

The Dinnerware House

66 Main Street