

THEY WOULD HAVE THE PROSAC HEN GROW VARIEGATED PLUMAGE

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 7.—Fowl fanciers and experts in the bureau of animal industry are seeking some method of cross breeding whereby the unattractive but useful hen can sprout plumage as variegated as Joseph's coat of many colors. The activity of the experts is inspired by the fact that an ever increasing number of states are passing stringent laws against the destruction of birds for their plumage, while several federal laws prohibiting the traffic in such plumage are already in effect.

The bird division of the national museum also has the matter under consideration, but it is inclined to believe that the evolution of the common hen along the lines desired is scarcely practical.

"It might be accomplished," said one of the scientists, facetiously, "by hatching the eggs in a dye house. It might also be accomplished by feeding the chickabiddies ochre, Prussian blue and other var-colored powders instead of corn or other grain. One, you know, can never tell what might happen in such a truly scientific experiment."

The bureau of animal industry, however, is taking the matter more seriously and is casting about for some solution of the subject.

—Mr. and Mrs. Thomas L. McCarty of Green River spent Sunday at Price with Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Miles and Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Gulletta. They were on their way home from Salt Lake City.

—Mrs. Sarah Jane Warren, affectionately known to all old residents of Price as "Mother" Warren, is now living at Lark, this state, and writes to have her Advocate forwarded to that address.

—George C. Mead came down from Price and transacted business last Monday. He expects to work at the mines in Spring Canyon for a while. The children are in Price.—Green River Dispatch, 5th.

—Dr. A. C. Sorensen returned from Provo yesterday with his daughter, Miss Loretta, who recently underwent an operation there for appendicitis. Miss Sorensen is to remain in Price some time.

—Mrs. A. D. Squire, sister of Mrs. L. A. Lauber, returned to her home at Mantli this morning after a two weeks' visit here. She was accompanied by Clarence Lauber, who will spend the summer at Mantli.

—Mrs. R. W. Crockett and two little sons leave next Saturday to spend the summer months at the old home in Missouri. Mrs. Crockett will visit at Denver, Colo., and at Kansas City going and coming.

—W. D. Halpin of the Utah Railway company was in Vernal during the week on business with the board of equalization and the district court. He says the Utah will not be extended into the reservation this year.—Vernal Express, 7th.

—Fred L. Watrous, editor of My-ton's Record, left Price last Thursday for his home on the reservation after closing up a real estate deal for a big bunch of land between a resident of California and a Colorado gentleman, the deeds being sent to Price for delivery.

—George Webster, special agent of the Prussian National Insurance company, accompanied by Mrs. Webster, spent Saturday and Sunday in Price. Mrs. Webster is a girlhood friend in Missouri of Mrs. J. A. Crockett of Price, and Mr. and Mrs. Webster were the guests of the latter while here.

—R. L. Adams and W. C. Osborn, prominent business men and capitalists of Grand Junction, Colo., spent Sunday and a part of Monday in Price, the guests of Arthur J. Lee, manager of the New York store, and in which each is interested as a stockholder. They are favorably impressed with this city and may become still further interested in several ways here.

—Arthur A. Taylor, state sheep inspector, and Vernon Bliss left today for the desert, where they will look for stray sheep. These that are found, if it is impossible to dip them and get them to a herd, will be killed in order to do away with the possibility of their infecting sheep with scab next fall.—Momb Times, 6th.

—Word comes from Price that Lowry Nelson of Ferron has secured the post of night clerk at the Bayou Hotel for the summer, and the hotel is to be congratulated on its gain. Nelson will resume his school work next fall, he having graduated from the Price high school four year course this spring.—Castle Dale Progress, 7th.

—Dr. J. C. Graham came over from Ferron last Friday to get his automobile that has been here for several days for repairs, the machine having been pretty badly damaged a short time ago in an accident. Times are good with everybody but the doctors over in the Kingdom of Emery, says he, and the prospects are fine for a most prosperous season with everyone.

—Arthur J. Lee, former cashier of the First Bank of Fruita and mayor of that city, expects to resign within a short time, according to an authentic information from the lower valley today. He has become interested in the city of Price in the merchandise business and will probably locate there permanently in a short time. L. A. Stewart of the Valley Commercial company is president of the city council, and it is expected that he will succeed Lee as mayor. Lee has a large circle of friends who will regret his departure from this county.—Grand Junction (Colo.) Sentinel, 6th.

PIONEER OF SANPETE COUNTY PASSES AWAY

MANTI, June 9.—Mrs. Elias Elvira Alfred died at her home here last night, after a lingering illness, from Bright's disease. Mrs. Alfred was born in Spring City in 1853. She was married to Redick H. Alfred forty-four years ago and reared a large family. Mr. and Mrs. Alfred lived at Chester, Holden and Spring City and assisted in settling these places. Three years ago they moved to Mantli.

Mrs. Alfred is survived by her husband and ten children. The children are Mrs. Dorothea Love, Alamo, Nev.; Mrs. Evinda E. Madson and Mrs. Lucina A. Peterson of Ephraim; Mrs. Clara L. Johnson, Delta; Mrs. Della C. Hunter, Holden; Ervin R. and Vern H. Alfred of Current, Nev.; and Viella, Tressa and Bertella of Mantli. The body will be taken to Spring City for burial.

BEST LAXATIVE FOR THE AGED

Old men and women feel the need of a laxative more than young folks, but it must be safe and harmless and one which will not cause pain. Dr. King's New Life Pills are especially good for the aged, for they act promptly and easily. Price twenty-five cents. Recommended by all dealers.—Adv.

NEVER WRONGED HER

Tucker Man Faces Serious Charge at Salt Lake City.

"I never wronged Clara Morgan and would have protected her against wrong," said W. H. Barton, foreman for the Utah Construction company, in the city prison at Salt Lake City last Sunday night. Barton was arrested Friday while in the company of Miss Morgan, who is from Tucker.

Parents of the girl arrived in Salt Lake City later. They declare they will press serious charges against Barton. The latter says he has a wife and child on the way to Salt Lake City from Denver and that he employed Clara Morgan to act as a nurse.

The Morgan girl lately went to Tucker to work from the reservation country, where her parents at present reside.

UTAH IS FORTUNATE ON LOSSES BY FIRE

The average ratio loss by fire in Utah in the last ten years, according to a compiled statement in the Argus, an insurance publication, has been 36.37 per cent. This means that the ratio between the losses paid and the premiums collected by companies has averaged that much. The amount of the premiums collected in the last ten years has been $7,149,484, and the losses paid, $2,606,782.

The Pacific Coast States, which include Utah, have averaged from one-fourth to one-third lower than the states of any other group in fire ratio and consequently the fire insurance rate in Pacific Coast States is comparatively lower.

MINNESOTA COMPANY TO SAW TIMBER AT PROVO

PROVO, June 9.—Forest Supervisor Pack, who with Forest Examiner Seever took J. D. Sutton, a Minnesota timberman, to the forest at the head of the Provo river last week, has returned. He states that Sutton was apparently well satisfied with the quantity and quality of timber the government has for sale there, and Pack believes Sutton will purchase the timber for his company. If he does it is his intention to float the timber down the Provo river and boom it in Utah Lake, where a mill will be erected on the bank for sawing the timber.

Cornelius P. Richmond, aged 66 years, died Tuesday last at a Salt Lake City hospital as the result of a paralytic stroke suffered on Decoration Day. Tuesday was the anniversary of his birth. Richmond was the oldest employe in point of service of the Denver and Rio Grande. He entered the service of the road in 1885 and was at Goshen on his run between Salt Lake City and Eureka when stricken. He gradually lost strength until the end came.

SHEEP DIPPING IN THE STATE ORDERS ISSUED

That it will not be necessary to issue a general blanket dipping order throughout the state, because sheep are practically free from the disease of sheep scabies, was decided Tuesday last at a meeting of the state board of sheep commissioners. It was found, however, that it would be necessary to issue blanket dipping orders to apply to all sheep in Carbon, Grand, Emery and Wasatch counties, as the sheep in these counties are affected with sheep scabies. The sheep will have to be dipped between September 1st and October 1st.
