UINTAH RAILWAY IS FIGURING TO EXTEND

LINE TO VERNAL AND ALSO TO ROOSEVELT.

From Watson to Vernal is Fifty-Five Miles and From the Former to Roosevelt by Way of Fort Duchesne Another Seventy-Three Miles to the Denver and Rio Grande and Others.

Behind the recent application of the Utah Railway company to the state public utilities commission for permission to advance its rates for hauling freight over its wagon freight road from Watson to Vernal and Fort Duchesne and Roosevelt lies the intention of the company to extend its steam railway service to points in the Uintah Basin. The announcement that the road will be extended has been made by W. D. Halpin, assistant secretary and treasurer of the Utah Railway, who appeared recently before the commission seeking the advance in wagon freight rates.

The company proposes to extend its present line from Watson to Vernal, a distance of fifty-five miles, and to Fort Duchesne and Roosevelt, among the most important points in the Uintah Basin, a distance of seventy miles. The wagon road over which the company is now operating its wagon freight line was built by the company at a cost of thirty-seven thousand dollars. It was run over some time ago that either the Union Pacific or the Denver and Rio Grande would build the extension into the Uintah Basin, but this idea has now been dissipated by the definite announcement made by Halpin of the Utah Railway.

But a few days ago the Utah railway filed a new tariff of rates over its wagon freight road, asking that the revised schedule become effective September 1st. The public utilities commission ordered that the new tariff be suspended until October 31st, pending investigation. Halpin asked that the suspension be lifted October 1st, on the ground that the company is now serving the people at the Uintah Basin at a loss. In order to hurry the investigation the board directed Warren Houtstetter, member of the board, to make an investigation at once, and his report will be submitted before October 1st.

It is explained by Halpin that it is the desire of the company to retain the business over its wagon road until the extension may be built, but that it does not feel disposed to do so at a loss.

CONSTITUTION DAY.

The Utah Chapter of the Sons of the American Revolution is making preparations for the observance of Constitution Day, which is next Monday, September 17th. It is the hundred and thirtieth anniversary of the signing of the constitution of the United States. Call for observance of the day by the Sons of the American Revolution in all parts of the United States is made by Elmer Marsh, Wendworth, president of the National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution. He urges that state societies, chapters and individual patriots bring about on September 17th a celebration in keeping with the dignity of the nation and in honor of the men who on Monday, September 17, 1787, signed the complete constitution.

MOTH ON RAMPAGE.

The clothing moth is doing thousands of dollars worth of damage to Utah crops this year, according to John B. Walker, state crop pest inspector. The insidious spraying of trees, he declared, would bring about its extermination.

Mrs. M. P. Raffet has been confined to her room at the Tavern for several days by sickness.

HIGHER PRICES ON FEEDING LAMBS COMING

Saturday told the national live stock conference. Not only would it be inadvisable to institute price fixing in these industries, he declared, but the food administration has been given no such power.

Alfred Montana, a sheepherder west of Colton in Spanish Fork Canyon, accidentally shot himself with a rifle in the right leg one day last week. The ball entered at the ankle and passed out below the knee. He dragged himself to the railroad track about two miles and waited until a train came along, and was then taken to Provo and placed in a hospital.

Thomas Redmond, secretary of the state live stock commission, is back at the state capital from a trip to the United States geological survey. The two officials and stockmen laid plans for the extermination of predatory animals. Poison baits will be set. Stockmen are enthusiastically over the co-operative work of the state and federal government.

The demand for breeding ewes has exhausted the local supply in many sections, the United States department of agriculture finds. Western range ewes are being used to start farm flocks in the cornbelt and in the East. In the cornbelt these ewes have already proved their ability to produce market topping lambs when mated to good rams of mutton breeds and when well cared for during the winter and after lambing.

Out of more than fifteen hundred tons of dairy cattle made in Kansas Valley by F. C. Cooley and H. Frankland, deputy inspectors of the state live stock board, only five revealed tubercular traces. The affected animals were tagged and isolated. They will be appraised and condemned by Dr. H. W. Huggan, state live stock inspector. No two of the diseased cattle were in the same herd.

Farmers' Bulletin No. 274, "Breeds of Sheep For the Farm," will assist the owner of grade ewes in the selection of a purebred ram to head the flock. This bulletin discusses the different breeds, their characteristics and adaptabilities. Advice on the different kinds of equipment to be used on the sheep farm can be obtained from Farmers' Bulletin No. 219, dealing with equipment for farm sheep-raising. These bulletins can be procured free by writing to the department of agriculture, Washington, D. C.

To stimulate quick increases in the meat supply, the United States department of agriculture will extend throughout the country the pig census which have been operated in fifteen states and the poultry census which have been operated in nine states. In addition to the thirty-three specialists in hog production and thirty-nine specialists in poultry production who thus will be placed in the field at once, an additional specialist on hog production will be placed in each of the five principal hog-raising states. Hogs and poultry have been singled out as the live stock on which special efforts will be concentrated in the campaign for increased meat production, because they give the quickest returns.

SHORT STORIES OF THE WEEK

ALFALFA SEED SCARCE.

Alfalfa seed prospects are unfavorable, according to J. Cecil Allen of the Utah weather bureau, and Dr. W. D. Reed, special meteorologist, after an inspection of various sections of the state. The time to sow, however, is less than might seem, they say, because much of the alfalfa had been harvested without allowing it to grow to seed.

LOOKING INTO MATTERS.

Utah's industrial commission is investigating reports that some employers of the state penalize an employee who quits his job by withholding the portion of his pay still due. The practice is said to be covered by a contract to which the employees attach their signature when accepting work. The failure of a number of wildcat mining companies to pay men employed is also being given attention by the commission.

DEFENSE COUNCIL TO ACT.

Utah's council of defense advises the Carbon county organization that the second liberty loan locally is to be in charge of the latter, and that later on instructions as to the work to be done in Carbon county will be outlined. It is intended that subscriptions locally will be based upon the bank deposits of the county. The local defense council will name the committees—men and women—who are to solicit subscriptions to the loan.

TWO MEN PLEAD GUILTY.

O. J. Dennison and P. J. Houston, charged with burglary of a boxcar at Utah Junction, recently, last Friday pleaded guilty to the charge of petit larceny and were given a fine of twenty-five dollars each. They protested their innocence, but preferred this way out of the affair to being in jail until the October term of court at Price. They were arrested by Special Agent Burge of the Denver and Rio Grande. Sheriff Collingham believes them not guilty of the theft alleged.

OIL CLAIMS STAKED.

J. H. Thompson and others of Provo have located four oil claims of a hundred and sixty acres each in Talmage Canyon near Colton. Other localities have been made in Spanish Fork and Military canyons, and it is expected some extensive development work will be done there in the near future. Preparations for prospecting the valley near Utah Lake are also under way. The indications near the lake shore are favorable to the existence of oil, and it is expected the country will be thoroughly tested out.

SCOWROTT'S PLANS HERE.

Plans for the wholesale grocery building of the Scowrots of Ogden to be constructed immediately at Price were received locally yesterday. They call for a structure of brick and concrete fifty-four feet wide by a hundred and thirty feet in depth with full basement and one-story in height. Also, a garage twenty-four by thirty feet for trucks and automobiles of the firm and employees. The building is to face the south and set back from South Ninth street. Bids are now being received for its construction.

PRICE METHODIST CHURCH.

Next Sunday, September 15th, a special collection will be taken in all the churches, to provide equipment for all regular Methodist Episcopal chaplains to minister to our boys at the camps. A hundred and fifty thousand Methodist soldiers are now in the camps who need the goods. Two hundred and fifty thousand dollars will be asked for by our church next Sunday. Every member of the Price church and her friends are kindly asked to bring or send their offering to the church at 11 o'clock. The Sunday school will also take a special offering for the cause. A patriot service at 11 o'clock. Special music and an address on "Our Boys in Khaki." A most hearty welcome. H. T. Zeders, minister.

MOWRYS HAVE FINE GIRL.

Mr. and Mrs. George H. Mowry are receiving congratulations over the arrival of an eight-pound girl, September 7th. All concerned are doing nicely. Mr. and Mrs. Mowry were formerly of Price and are at present located at Salt Lake City.

REMAINS TAKEN EAST.

The remains of Mrs. W. C. Ireland were brought to Price last Monday evening from Moxon and sent from here to Lyons, Neb., her former home for burial. Deceased is survived by a husband and four small children, who accompanied the body east. Mr. and Mrs. George Olson of Moxon came with the family to Price, returning home Tuesday morning.

HENDRICKS FINISHES UP.

Prof. George B. Hendricks, head of the department of economics of the Utah Agricultural college, was in the city last night en route to his home at Logan, says Sunday's Herald-Expositor. Hendricks has been for the past three weeks in the Eastern part of the state appraising land for the federal land bank, located at Berkeley, Calif. He reports that the Price and Huntington associations have just been completed.

SCHOOL SANITATION LAWS.

The laws of the state in regard to school sanitation will be rigidly enforced this year, according to Dr. T. H. Beatty, state health commissioner. Special attention will be given to the disposal of sewage. Reports made by judges in the "clean town" contest suggest that little improvement is shown over last year in the sanitary arrangements of schools. The law holds members of boards of education personally liable under misdemeanor charges for the maintenance of certain conditions about school buildings. The laws in this respect so far as are applicable to Carbon county are being closely looked after by County Superintendent Ryan.

WELFARE ASSOCIATION MEETS.

Some twelve members of Price Welfare association—of commercial club—met last Tuesday evening and elected L. E. Whitmore its president, J. P. McKnight, vice president, and Matt Gilmore, secretary and treasurer. There were no other names suggested for the three offices. They held until the first of the year. A committee was named to wait on the county commissioners and the state road commission to see about better roads in general. Also, a committee to wait on the city council in the matter of cleaning up objectionable corners and the like about the city that have become nuisances. The club's total membership is thirty-eight.

TROP THROUGH UTAH.

A. E. Carlson, principal owner of the Colorado Midland, is out in the Uintah Basin country this week. His mission is to take an inventory, as it were, of the resources of that section of the state with the idea of extending the Colorado Midland through to Salt Lake City connections, probably near Price with the Utah railway. As has been for years said, "the Colorado Midland begins at nowhere and ends at the same place." Work is soon to begin on an extension of the electric line from Grand Junction to Fruita, Colo., which would give the Midland direct traffic connections with the Utah railway. Capt. W. M. Cooley, general manager of the Utah railway, accompanies Carlson.

GOING BY WAY OF PRICE.

The matter of the socially fun into the Uintah district is still under consideration by the chamber of commerce, and it finally arranged for it will be made between the fruit season, when many of the business men and residents of the valley in general could assist themselves for a few days, say last Sunday's Grand Junction (Colo.) News. The trip is now in the hands of J. W. Davis, H. M. Halsey and B. M. Bengt, constituting the committee on relations with other towns, and they will make an announcement as to their findings early this week. They are now seeking to interest automobile owners in the trip, that a goodly party may go.

Moribund Woman Finally Agrees to Go Back Home.

OGDEN, Sept. 13.—Although Mrs. Louise Frank of Moribund had announced that she would not return to her home in that community when she came to Ogden, an interview arranged by Deputy Sheriff Winston between Mrs. Frank and her husband, E. J. Frank, resulted in the announcement this evening that she would again go to Moribund and help her husband in the operation of a boarding house there. Mrs. Frank went first to Price, then to Salt Lake City, and from there came to Ogden. Shortly after her arrival here she was detained by the sheriff at the request of her husband. The husband and wife met this afternoon in the women's ward of the county jail. Later they announced that she had decided to return to her husband, her two children and the boarding house, and that arrangements had been made for a peaceful family relations in the future.
