UTAH RAILWAY IS HURT

Must Make the Best of the Motive Power Situation.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 28.—Congressman James H. May, in conference with Director General W. G. McAdoo in reference to forty-three locomotives held up under railroad order, today was told the director will not release the locomotives in the East, but has agreed to see that a number will be furnished Utah roads from other sources.

By inquiry at different railroad headquarters here it is learned that six new locomotives intended for the Salt Lake Route, and three large Mallet engines ready for shipment west to the Utah railway, have been commandeered by the government and put to hauling coal to the Atlantic seaboard.

At the same time, while these locomotives will not be released immediately, on request, another engine will be furnished to answer current needs so far as possible. Denver and Rio Grand and Union Pacific officials say the commandeering order does not affect them as they have no new engines coming this way.

The Utah railway will be inconvenienced by being deprived of the new motive power, but will make the best of what they have.

CHAMBERLAIN'S TABLETS

These tablets are intended especially for disorders of the stomach, liver and bowels. If you are troubled with heartburn, indigestion or constipation they will do you good.—Advt.

Copies of the annual report of the United States surveyor general in Washington have just been received by I. C. Thomson, United States surveyor general for Utah. The report shows a total area of 34,691,347 acres in Utah, which had been officially surveyed into sections and townships at the end of the fiscal year, June 30, 1917. This leaves 28,382,052 acres of unsurveyed land in the state.

Where Are You Making Your Purchases?

Are you paying cash? If not this is a good time to start. Quite a percentage of the people hereabouts are now paying cash for merchandise, particularly for groceries, and it is needless to say that they are saving a lot of money which would be forever lost to them under the old system of credit.

With prices advancing and war demands coming along with every month it is the patriotic duty of everyone to save. If you are saving food in the home why not go a little further and save some of the money that goes out in the purchase of the articles needed?

You can make a substantial saving on everything you buy at this store. If we can't save you money we don't want your business, but we know that we can. Many are fast being converted to the cash system. Are you one of them? If not it is not too late to make a new resolution regarding the matter.

SAN JUAN COUNTY SANDS TO BE TESTED

cial examination of all shales submitted for test and advising the senders whether or not the samples show sufficient volatile matter to warrant further consideration of their possibilities as commercial shales. In this manner a large number of worthless deposits can be eliminated from consideration and to those who submit samples of apparent value the station sends a list of analysts who are equipped to make a proper analysis of their material.

The Utah station, co-operating with the University of Utah, is now engaged upon research work on a laboratory basis with different processes for extraction of the oil and hydrocarbons from shales. The results of this research work will be published at a later date.

POSSIBILITIES OF CARBON COUNTY'S SHALE BUSINESS

Utah's extensive oil shale deposits are credited by the United States geological department with containing not less than 28,000,000,000 gallons of recoverable oil, while they also hold fixed up for possible distillation hundreds of thousands of tons of rich fertilizers, besides gasoline, paraffin and various other byproducts. This editorial from the Denver Mining Record applies as well to Carbon county and Eastern Utah oil shale conditions as to Colorado. It reads:

"Plans are going forward on a large scale than perhaps the general public realizes for the development of the oil shale beds of Colorado. These deposits, which have lain unexploited for so many years, contain tremendous potentialities not only as regards the production of oil and its byproducts, but also in the possibilities of superlative earnings. As a commercial asset they rank well with the mines of the state, which, for the past half century and more have been annually producing millions of dollars in new wealth.

"Once the development of the oil shale industry gets well under way in Colorado there seems considerable reason to anticipate that the total value of its yearly production will some day exceed that of the mines. This prediction may appear ultra-radical, but statistics so far available give cause for extreme optimism. The oil shale deposits are so extensive they can be profitably worked for a century and probably much longer, and their broad development by adequate capital is assured.

"This spring should witness a substantial beginning in the practical development of the Colorado oil shale industry. New refineries are projected and already financed, and strong companies to operate in the shale fields have been or are being organized. When these various enterprises get on a working basis their practically certain success will attract more capital for investment in the industry and a veritable boom in oil shale mining may reasonably be expected."

WHEN YOU HAVE A COLD.

It is when you have a severe cold that you appreciate the good qualities of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Mrs. Frank Crocker, Pough, Ill., writes: "Our 5-year-old son Paul caught a severe cold last winter that settled on his lungs and he had terrible coughing spells. We were greatly worried about him as the medicine we gave him did not help him in the least. A neighbor spoke as highly of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy that I got a bottle of it. The first dose benefited him so much that I continued giving it to him until he was cured."—Advt.

There's a lot of satisfaction in being up-to-date as to things general, and the shortest route and least troublesome is to keep an ear open for the late records. You get everything on the Columbia list—and you get it first.—Advt.

SCABIES IN BOX ELDER AND ALSO IN THE UTAH BASIN

An epidemic of scabies among the sheep in the vicinity of Kelton in Box Elder county and in the Utah basin is feared, and the most rigid system of quarantine is being put into effect. The scabies is believed to have been introduced among the flocks of the infected districts by an importation of ten thousand sheep from Texas a short time ago. The report came to Dr. Murray Tuesday last from H. W. McClinton, deputy inspector, located at Kelton.

On orders from Dr. Murray, the infected sheep are being isolated and all of the sheep in the Kelton and Utah basins are to be dipped in troughs hastily constructed and which were ready for use last Wednesday. The disease is extremely contagious, according to Dr. Murray, and unless the greatest care is exercised and the most rigid quarantine observed it may spread indefinitely.

The greatest loss is to the woolman, nearly every animal infected losing at least 25 per cent.

STOCK SHOW IN DENVER, ONE TO BE HELD HERE

E. C. Parsons, the well known stockman, has returned to Utah from the Denver, Colo., fat stock show, for which that city subscribed twenty thousand dollars, and at which there were a hundred and eight thousand paid admissions. He says nothing of the growth that visited the free sections of the show. Visitors were there from all over the United States, and Parsons believes the coming fat stock show at Salt Lake City April 4th to 8th will be a hummer. In fact he does not see what will prevent the Salt Lake City event from surpassing Denver in the next five years, if the local public will only back the scheme up. Entries close March 20th and liberal cash prizes will be offered.

No Shortage of Meat.

There is no shortage in meat, says R. W. McClure, secretary of the National Woolgrowers' association. "The figures show that during 1916 the per capita production of meat in the United States was 228.7 pounds, as compared with two hundred and ten pounds for the previous year and 191.5 pounds for 1914," says he.

Hog Feeding Tests.

The Utah Agricultural college hog feeding test, under way at the Salt Lake Union stockyards, is attracting considerable attention, and farmers from many sections of the state, as well as from Idaho, are going there daily to secure further data and information. F. B. Barlow of the agricultural college, who is in charge, is keeping a close check of the amount of feed consumed by the different lots.

As soon as the tests are completed the detailed statements of the average gain, as well as the food consumed per pound of gain, cost and so forth, will be worked out and distributed by the college authorities, as well as by the Salt Lake Union stockyards.

Many Filing On Trails.

C. H. Stewart, secretary of the Utah Woolgrowers' association, reports that most of the sheepmen of the state are responding promptly in the matter of filing claims across land designated under the six hundred and forty acre homestead act, and urges all others to make their filings as soon as possible because the government is now preparing to make surveys of the land set and after the surveys are made it will be too late for the sheepmen to come forward with their claims.

Memorial to President.

The memorial drafted by the American National Live Stock association at the recent convention held in Salt Lake City will be presented to President Wilson by a delegation consisting of T. T. Pryor of San Antonio, Tex., president of the association, T. W. Tomlinson, Denver, Colo., secretary; Dwight B. Heard, Phoenix, Ariz., and E. L. Burke, Omaha, Neb., members of the executive committee. The resolution, the text of which has not been given out, will be presented about February 15th.

Hereford Price Record.

DENVER, Colo., Jan. 25.—The grand champion yearling of Hereford yearling steers at the Denver stock show was sold yesterday by Alex McGregor of Washington, Kan., for fifteen cents a pound, said to be a world's record price for feeding cattle. The animals were bred by Russell Bros. of La Jara, Colo., and brought $221.15. The previous record was said to have been fourteen and a half cents.

Danger of Starving.

LONDON, Jan. 28.—It is estimated that the quantity of fodder stuff in Great Britain is insufficient to maintain the existing stocks of animals and poultry until the present season's crop is available in September.

The secretary of the board of agriculture announced that plans were being considered for the rationing of all classes of live stock, of which milk cows and work horses would receive the major portion of the available supply.

The quantity of feed which is to be given over to poultry will be sufficient to maintain only one-twentieth of the normal stock.

Damages For Trespass.

The supreme court of Utah, in a decision handed down Tuesday, affirmed the judgment of the district court which awarded W. S. and George Naylor of Tropic county $178.82 as damages against Nicholas Fluor, who permitted his sheep to trespass on the plaintiff's grain fields.

Fluor contended that the evidence given before the district court was insufficient to sustain a verdict for more than nominal damages and that the court erred in its instructions to the jury in regard to the measure of damages.

WITH THE LIVE STOCKMEN OF THIS SECTION OF UTAH

Cattlemen and sheepmen who have interests around Black Rock are alarmed over the situation. The late snows have not relieved the shortage of moisture and the big problem of providing water now confronts herders.

That there is grave danger of an epidemic of rabies among live stock in the district surrounding Kelton in Box Elder county is the statement made by Dr. C. M. Ives, deputy state veterinarian, at Ogden. Farmers and stockmen of the district affected are unable to account for the presence of the rabidly.

Farmers of the state are urged to raise all the hogs they possibly can produce in a bulletin which was issued last Saturday by the Utah food administration. It is argued in the bulletin that upon the pork production in the United States will depend largely the fighting efficiency of the American army at the front.

Earl McClelland of Memphis, Tenn., has arrived at Ogden for the purpose of buying eight thousand horses. What he cannot get there he will try to secure in Idaho. He says the animals are not wanted for the government, but will be shipped to the south middle west where the supply has become very meager.

Last week's snow storm was worth many thousands of dollars to the stockmen of the San Juan country in saving of cattle and sheep. It insured water over great stretches of country, where the stock can find good grazing, but which was inaccessible before it fell and stockmen have commenced to drift their herds to the new ranges.

Desert vegetation is to be turned intoilage and used as forage for live stock in the states of the Southwest in the present drought emergency, pursuant to a recommendation made by the League of the Southwest at its recent meeting in Tucson, Ariz., from which State Engineer George F. Mc-
