CITIZENS OF HELPER, WELLINGTON AND PRICE

Citizens of Price will have a good friend, as will every town and community in the county, if J. E. Holmes is next November 5th chosen to represent this people in the state legislature. He is pledged to work for such a law or laws as will permit those who want better water to acquire the same by bonding if they see fit by their votes to do. Here is what the democratic platform has to say on this all important subject to residents of Helper and Price:

"The municipalities within this (Carbon) county are greatly in need of better water for domestic purposes, and in order to procure it, expenditures will have to be made of moneys in excess of the maximum amount that can now be lawfully raised by reason of the existing legal limitation.

"We, therefore, favor legislative changes in the existing laws providing for greater latitude in voting bonds for raising funds for obtaining desirable water for municipal purposes, and to this end we pledge the efforts of our nominee for representative to the legislature."—Advertisement.

PRICE AND NEARBY

Miners continue to be scarce in all the camps and more wanted almost everywhere.

J. P. McNaught, independent county chairman, is confined to his home with an attack of the influenza.

Scout and coal company is working these days at full capacity. Most of the output goes to the railroads.

Every camp in Carbon county is quarantined against influenza. No chances are being taken with the plague.

L. P. Kaines, president and manager of Carbon Fuel company, has lately been in California on business for his company.

Potatoes are at this time selling on the Price market at two dollars a hundred. They are going at twenty-one and higher the ton.

Notwithstanding the influenza epidemic, Price hotels are all having a good run of business. Very few commercial ones are off the road.

Miss Genevieve Kynes has taken a position as bookkeeper and clerk at the Rexes Hotel at Price. She comes from the Kenyon at Salt Lake City.

There are more freighters on the Price to Myton road than for many months. There are loads at this end of the line for many more teams, if they were to be had.

Nothing more has been heard lately of the alleged deportation of miners from Carbon county camps. There was nothing to the story in the beginning.

Lars Frandsen still delivers the Knight coal to Price customers by wagon. The roads are still good, but may be worse any time with change in weather conditions.

Advices from government authorities to the state road commission this week tell of an increase of 10 per cent allowed in the price of cement. This raised the quotation for the Utah product from $1.70 to $1.85.

If farmers who desire help with their debts of cash and have who wish to work in the best fields will make their desires known to County Agent Price or to Prof. Orson Ryan these gentlemen will act as a free bureau to bring such parties together.

Application of the Utah Railway company for permission to inaugurate switching charges for setting out cars for the United States Fuel company's lines along its lines in the Carbon and Emery county coal fields was heard last Monday before the public utilities commission of Utah. There was no protest and the matter was taken under advisement by the commission.

Shortage of coal miners caused by the influenza has caused the United States fuel administration to suggest that all miners in the West work all day next Sunday. By this method it is hoped to overcome the shortage to coal output. It is estimated by the fuel administration a daily average of more than two million tons must be mined for four months to meet the nation's needs.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Japton of Price were called upon last Saturday evening to part with their little girl, Gertrude Evelyn, aged about 3 years. The little one was a remarkably bright and lovable child and was sick but a few days of membranous croup. Funeral services were conducted by Rev. Ralph C. Jones of the Methodist church at Price and Minister Mrs. Jesse Ranford sang. Interment was in the local cemetery.

If the terms of a mandatory order issued last Monday by P. J. Moran, director of the Utah Bureau of the United States employment service, are fully complied with every non-essential industry in the entire state of Utah will be thoroughly combed for men, the services of which will be diverted to what the government has termed essential occupations. Moran's order was directed to the state community boards with instructions to make a "cleaning" of all institutions not employed in essential war industry in every section.

SLEEP AND REST

One of the most common causes of insomnia and restlessness is indigestion. Take one of Chamberlain's Tablets immediately after supper and see if you do not rest better and sleep better. They only cost a quarter.—Adv.

COMING AND GOING

O. W. Wilson was in Zion this week on business.

C. P. Hird and Lave Evans were here Friday from Wattle and registered at the Boney during their stay.

C. P. Crawford of the Zion office of Utah Fuel company was here this week on matters before the county draft board.

Miss Thelma Sutton is back home from Provo, where she recently accompanied her grandmother, Mrs. Inador Clark. The latter is to make her home in the Garden City.

Mrs. J. M. Graham of Cleveland, O., was in Price and Castle Dale this week and last on business matters for her husband, Dr. Graham has been in France for a considerable time.

Mrs. C. E. Larsen is moving to Hawaia from Price this week, where her husband recently went to work for Carbon and Emery Stores company after resigning a position with Scofield's.

Dr. A. A. Wheeler of Price is looking after the practice of Dr. A. W. Dowd at Sunnyside. Besides losing his little girl from influenza Dr. Dowd has a sister very low of the plague at Salt Lake City.

Neil M. Malson, county chairman, J. E. Holmes, H. C. Smith and O. K. Clay, nominees on the democratic ticket, visited Wellington last Sunday. They met with much encouragement from voters there.

Judge George Christensen and Court Reporter Adler left Price Friday last for their homes in Sanpete county. There will be no court anywhere in this district until the influenza epidemic has passed over.

Will Dugmore is very ill at Price with what is supposed to be influenza and congestion of the lungs. His father, Bishop Samuel Dugmore of Sunnyside, and Mr. and Mrs. O. Stinson, Jr., of Castle Dale are in attendance on the sick man.

Leland Robert Wade, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wade, arrived home last night from Fort Porter, near Buffalo, N. Y., where he has been in a hospital since being shell-shocked in a battle on the western front. He was with the marines. His sister, Mrs. M. V. Maloney of Salt Lake City, met him at Ogden, but did not come on to Price.

J. B. Hedden, local secretary of the civil service commission, who conducted an examination at Price, Saturday, for postmaster at Orangeville, reports that Sunnyside has no influenza and is quarantined against the disease, and Castle Gate, where there are a great number of cases, is quarantined to prevent the disease from spreading from there.—Provo Herald, 28th.

W. W. Clyde, present chief engineer at Price, and who has been named as candidate for long-term commissioner of Carbon county on the democratic ticket, is an old grade school classmate of the editor, who knows Clyde for a young man of strict integrity and exceptional sound judgment. He should be unusually well qualified to fill the position of commissioner if elected.—Castle Gate Progress, 26th.

H. G. Clark was here this week going to and returning from the Utah State country. He had been out there to try and buy in several thousand head of turkeys for the Rio Thanksgiving market and was fairly successful. He states that all of the former reservation country is being sold since leaving Myton a few months ago he has worked for Wattle Store company at Winter Quarters, but figures to later go into business for himself at the state capital.

Price Salvenger company, all kinds of garbage hauled and toilet and cesspool cleaned. We aim to please. All work guaranteed. Services available any hour and will go anywhere. W. D. Reeves, Manager. Postoffice Box 244. Phone 21M3. Price, Utah.—Adv.

Abert, George Collingham and his family, evening and hotel M. Kinzadonia before Justice Hammond the following day. He was fined two hundred and fifty dollars for selling and having whisky in his possession. The price charged customers, according to the officer, was thirty cents a "shot." About a case was confiscated by the sheriff.

Secretary McAdoo's Warning to Liberty Bond Investors

Secretary McAdoo: "I warn investors in liberty loan bonds against exchange of these evidences of their patriotism for any securities or so-called securities. While some of the securities, or so-called securities, offered in exchange for government bonds are of sound value, there is no doubt that a large percentage of them are worthless.

"I believe it is for the best interests of the people at large, as well as for their actual protection, that they disregard all such offers and hold fast to the best investment in the world—that is, bonds of their own government.

"It is my earnest hope that every purchaser of a liberty bond will realize that the only genuine help he gives his government is by keeping his bond as an investment as long as it is possible for him to do so. Where, because of misfortune or imperative necessity, the holder of a liberty bond is forced to sell, there can, of course, be no objection."

H. C. Smith is the type of man for the county clerkship. Honest, fair, square and obliging. Always courteous and ever ready to treat all alike. Prompt and accurate in his work, no man hereabouts is better qualified for the position to which the democrats of Carbon county have nominated him. He is willing to assume the duties of the draft board with a smile if the other fellow is tired of serving his country—except for big pay. H. C. Smith has filled the office one term to the entire satisfaction of the people. He has a son fighting for our common country on the western front, while his opponent shines about the extra work that has been imposed upon him in connection with draft duties.—Advertisement.

WON HIS WAY BY HARD WORK AND PROUD OF FACT

service of Ogden, of which organization he was president for three consecutive terms. The Big Lost River irrigation project in Idaho is typical of his foresight and persistence and his ability as a developer. This enterprise had been attempted by many capitalists and engineers and several failures and was finally bought in at receiver's sale by the gentleman and his associates. The same of the project had become a byword throughout the country as standing for a colossal attempt at the impossible. He took hold of it and rather astounded the province and the state land board of Idaho by offering to reconstruct the enterprise without asking for any money whatever from the state or the settlers and water should be delivered to the farmers. The contract was signed on this basis and recently, after most rigid inspection, the state engineer and the state land board pronounced the plan a success. This achievement will permit the reclaiming of many thousands of acres of valuable land in the Gem State and rebound in lasting benefit to the people of that section.

"In his various enterprises, Wattle has been a large employer of labor and it is significant that he has been singularly free from labor troubles. Those who work for him, those who work with him and those for whom he has worked esteem him for his generous, fair and square methods. He inspires the confidence of men and has clearly demonstrated his ability and efficiency as a leader. He possesses an extraordinary amount of tact and is a consummate diplomat in his dealings with men. He is affable, kindly in disposition and is in every essential a thorough gentleman, and although he has achieved what in some may seem an unusual success in a business way, he is just a plain democratic citizen, without taint of any kind.

In politics, since attaining his majority, he has been a republican, but he has never sought public office. The nomination for congress was tendered him by the republican convention by the unanimous action of the delegates and over his protest. When he saw the insistence of the demand, he yielded to the will of his party and is making a vigorous campaign for election. If elected, he will so arrange his affairs as to give his entire service to the duties of the office. He will bring to bear as congressman in the affairs of state the same energy, vigor, foresight and good sound judgment that he has used in the conduct of his business enterprises.

He has loyally supported the government in this crisis, and, immediately following upon the declaration of war with Germany, as president of the Utah Construction company, and with the full approval of his associates, he tendered to the United States government, on any basis which it might desire and on its own terms, for war purposes, all the property of his organization, including its camp and construction equipment, as well as its horses, cattle and sheep. Two members of his family are in active military service and he has been prompt and prominent in all war activities and is a member of the state liberty loan committee.

"Coming from old pioneer stock, throughout his career his sympathies and interests have been bound up with the welfare of the people of Utah and he has always, by word and deed, defended and worked for the benefit of this state and her citizens and he is eminently worthy of the high trust and honor for which he has been nominated by the republican party."

When party control of the legislative branch changes, the government falls. However at the polls of the party in control of the government is interpreted as popular disapproval of the party's policies and the government is speedily changed that it may be in harmony with the lawmaking power. TO THE VOTERS OF CARBON COUNTY:

The liberty party hereby endorses the Hon. William H. Wattle for nomination for congress and requests all members of the party to support him in the coming election. (Signed) LARB GUNDERSON, Chairman of Liberty Party, Dated, Price, Utah, October 26, 1918.

It is just as well to be aggressive. Any man would rather stand up for himself than take a back seat.

STEADY ADVANCE IN HOGS SEEN AT SALT LAKE CITY

Price dispatches from the East claim that arrangements had been made between the United States bureau of markets, the food administration and the packers to maintain a uniform price of $17.50 for choice fat hogs during November. Encouraging news to the farmers and distributors in all this intermediate country. According to officials of the Salt Lake Union stockyards, this news from Chicago assures hogholders a steady and advancing market in Utah with $17.50 per hundredweight at the top price for choice fat hogs during the period this minimum is in effect at Chicago. Barter and other prices being lower than they have been any time in the last year is also an added encouragement to increase holdings rather than cut them down. While the hog run has been somewhat heavier than for weeks previous, the market is by no means overstocked and packers are buying all choice fat stock offered shortly after arrival. The last week the local market at North Salt Lake has been very active, having handled twenty-one thousand five hundred sheep, one hundred and ninety-five cattle and eight hundred and eighty-one hogs. While some of this was transit stock, especially sheep, the others were sold there. During the last week one thousand of hogs from Utah finished at Price arrived and were sold.

The demand on the market at present is strong for choice fat hogs and for fat steers and cows. The sheep market is somewhat stronger, although the demand is slow.

Inland Coal company, up Hardwick, is exporting about two cars a day. It goes to Salt Lake City.

T. F. (Tom) Ketter did not seek the democratic nomination for sheriff, but his previous record in the office made him the logical candidate when the democrats a few weeks ago began to cast about for someone to accept this most responsible position. At the solicitation of friends, he consented to run. These being numbered by the hundreds, he is going to be Carbon county's sheriff after the first of the year. Evidently dread him, while all those who have had business with the office when he was an incumbent know that he has the brains and the desire to do what is expected of him. His record personally and as an officer is above criticism. At present he is employed by Utah Fuel company at Winter Quarters. He is held in high esteem for his true worth.—Advertisement.

It is getting to be mildly to say that Boston Randolph is absolutely the very best assessor Carbon county ever had. He was elected two years ago without any effort whatever on his part and next Tuesday will be chosen by a handsome majority to succeed himself. Everyone knowing him is aware of the fact that he would rather endure an injustice against himself than to wrongfully assess another. His judgment as to values is good, and if mistakes have been made by himself or deputies they are errors of the head and not the heart. During his two years incumbency of the office he has unearthed much property subject to taxation that had before been overlooked. This amounts to many thousands of dollars.—Advertisement.
